HIRAM OPENS FIRE IN OHIO

JAIL OR WATER CART FOR WETS, UPSHAW'S PLAN

Dixie Statesman Hits at Every Foe.

(By a Staff Correspondent.)

Washington, D. C., Jan. 3.—[Special.]—John Barleycorn's Yuletide activities caused a dry outburst in the house today and brought about the proposal of a prohibition enforcement program far more radical than anything yet suggested.

Representative Upshaw [Dem., Ga.], one of the dry spokesmen, outlined the program to the house. He would jail people who buy liquor, fire all government officials who refuse to go on the water wagon, ostracize congressmen who ignore the Volstead act, use the army and navy to fight rum running, and bar all foreigners who will not take the pledge.

These provisions constitute a "rum proof, booze tight, clean up program," for which Mr. Upshaw will fight, "God helping me, till I fall in my tracks."

Blanton in the Record.

Representative Blanton [Dem., Tex.], who recently escaped expulsion from the house by a narrow margin for publishing obscene remarks in the record, offered a resolution for an investigation of reports of widespread prohibition violations in Washington.

His resolution refers particularly to reports of $50,000 worth of liquor stored in one place by a foreign diplomat and to the much discussed "booze who" containing the names of 1,400 patrons of a bootlegging syndicate in Washington. This list is reported to contain the names of many high officials and Mr. Blanton says "it concerns the whole people to know the real facts."

Representative Hill [Rep., Md.], found the occasion appropriate to deplore the bootlegging and rum running carried on in Mr. Upshaw's own state of Georgia. He said it was reported that there was a plot on foot in Georgia to flood Washington with illicit liquor and he urged Mr. Upshaw to use his influence to protect statesmen in the national capital against the threatened deluge.

Denounces Chicago Tribune.

Mr. Upshaw devoted a large part of his speech to denunciation of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE which editorially has been annoying him and other southern dry statesmen with inquiries as to why their zeal for enforcement of the eighteenth amendment is so much greater than their enthusiasm for the fourteenth and fifteenth amendments. His hot southern blood fairly boiled over in indignation at the editors of THE TRIBUNE for suggesting that the south dodges the fourteenth and fifteenth amendments.

Before starting to speak, Mr. Upshaw sent to the press gallery prepared "advance" copy of his speech, in which it was set forth:

"Congressman Upshaw delivered his speech while seated in a chair on the floor of the house. Crippled since early youth, and required to walk always with the aid of crutches, he recently suffered an injury in a Pullman car and subsequently his physician, Admiral Cary T. Grayson, found that Mr Upshaw was suffering from a fractured rib.

Throws Boquets—at Himself.

"But fired with the enthusiasm of his message days before it was to be delivered the Georgian declared: 'If I knew that my speech which I am to deliver in congress on Thursday, the opening day after the holidays, was to be my last utterance on this earth, and that God would call me home at sundown after its delivery, I would still make the speech in the exact form in which I have prepared it.' That will illustrate the courage and the deep conviction of the man."

In paying his respects to THE TRIBUNE, Mr. Upshaw said:

"The gentleman from Maryland and those blindly ignorant northern editors are welcome to all the glory they may get from using the 'bloody shirt' argument to protect the liquor they love, in this great day of national fellowship, when the sons of the gray from the sun kissed south sleep side by side with the sons of the blue from the wind swept north yonder on the fields of France.

"No Patriotism in Liquor."

"But it is liquor that raises this issue—and liquor has no patriotism! It is a Chicago paper that preaches nullification of one part of the constitution because it cannot defend the [illegible] that has been outlawed by that constituted amendment.

"If the gentleman from Maryland had been the only one making this sort of southern intimidation—I say without intending offense to him—I would have let it pass by, but as THE TRIBUNE—the World's Great-

DEATH TOLL 36 IN PEKIN BLAST; MANY IN RUINS

Flames and Ice Peril Workers in Debris.

BY JAMES DOHERTY.

Pekin, Ill., Jan. 3.—[Special.]—Fire and ice, steel, concrete, and brick made of the wrecked plant of the Corn Products here the tomb of thirty bodies tonight. The explosion occurred at 3 o'clock this morning. It trapped the thirty employés in the débris, and there they remain. Rescuers, working under glaring searchlights, worked all night in an effort to reach the bodies. They were handicapped by the bitter cold.

Of those taken out, blown out, or leaping out, alive, the death toll is mounting hourly. Six are reported dead in hospitals here and at Peoria, making the estimated total of dead thirty-six, with no blame yet fixed, and the only explanation being "dust exploded".

Only Five Identified.

A list given out here tonight of identified dead included the following names:

Jim Holton, Otto Weiberg, George Leiber, Manuel Hicks, Lee Harding. A body seen in wreckage has not been recovered. It is believed to be that of George Harms.

A further check is being made to identify the men missing from their homes.

The injured are counted at thirty at the hospitals, and it is said that many of these will be helpless cripples if they survive.

The families of dead and injured are being cared for, but it is the relatives of those still in the smoldering funeral pyre who are the principal cause of company and official anxiety.

Bodies May Be Destroyed.

The only proof that could be accorded them cannot yet be reached and may never be theirs. The belief has been expressed that most of the bodies will be unrecognizable.

State Fire Marshal John G. Gamber said the catastrophe was due to an explosion of dust, similar to disasters that have occurred in other starch factories, grain elevators, flour mills, and like plants, where dust is created and let accumulate. He cited a recent explosion in a plant of the same company at Argo, another at Des Moines, Ia.

Supt. H. W. Lawton said that every precaution has been taken. Men were constantly employed to sweep up and clean out the dust, he said, but there were no mechanical aids such as fan belts, suction, or ventilating systems to withdraw the dust from the workshops.

Inspected; Called Safe.

Office Manager Berry said that the plant was inspected by the state factory inspector six weeks ago and pronounced safe. The underwriters, the liability insurance company which had insured every employé for both life and accident, as well as the state authorities made frequent inspections, Berry said, and none had ever found fault.

One building has collapsed completely, two adjoining plants were swept with fire and partially wrecked by explosion. The demolished one was where bulk starch was put in bags, officials said, the others were those in which the corn was crushed, the wet starch extracted, dried in kilns, and sent by conveyor to the packing room. As it was only bag work, the package work being done at Argo, no women were employed here, except in the office.

Occurred in Packing Plant.

The explosion is presumed by Marshal Gamber and others to have occurred in the packing plant. Mr. Lawton said the conveyors were airtight, that dust only escaped during the bagging process.

It was in this building that thirty-five men were working and it is for their bodies that Trojan efforts are now being made.

Supt. Lawton said that this was a brick and concrete building with steel girders, but still had two wooden floors. The building was equipped with a sprinkler system, and piping and fire extinguishers were on hand, he said. There also were signs warning of fire danger and the employés were under an honor system not to bring matches into the plant.

Plant Crumbles in Blast.

Yet, the explosion caught the men unawares, all conceded. The packing plant lasted a minute, then crumbled to pieces. The building was said to have been so constructed that it was expected to stand in the event of an explosion, but today's blast was too terrific, the marshal said. Eight freight cars were on a track being unloaded by men under the direction of Foreman George Harms. These cars were blown over and buried beneath tons of falling

Venizelos in Athens; Idol of His Nation

BY RAYMOND FENDRICK.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

[Copyright: 1924: By The Chicago Tribune.]

ATHENS, Jan. 4 (12:20 a. m.)—M. Venizelos intimated to friends upon his arrival here secretly yesterday morning that he would propose the Duke of Connaught or some prince from the Roumanian or Belgian royal families for king of Greece, if the country voted for a monarchy.

Venizelos as first citizen of Greece came home triumphantly from the bitter exile which former King Constantine's ephemeral victory imposed upon him three years ago.

About 100 miles at sea Col. Plastiras, retiring chief of the revolution, was landed on the liner Andros from a Greek destroyer, embraced the great Greek patriot, and welcomed him back on his native soil. The destroyer Tenedos gave a salute of twenty-one guns, a marine band played the Greek national hymn, and the liner rang with cheers.

"It is good to be home again," M. Venizelos told THE TRIBUNE correspondent.

At 2 o'clock in the morning the Andros made a special landing at the port of Keratsini for M. Venizelos, and under military escort he motored thirty minutes to Athens.

"I think the people should decide by a plebiscite whether they wish a republic or a monarchy, and I hope all parties will agree to this arrangement," was the only political statement M. Venizelos would make.

At noon today M. Venizelos will begin consulting the assembly leaders and choosing a cabinet. This cabinet must immediately tackle the problem of the future form of government and then of caring for 1,300,000 refugees, only half of whom have received any assistance.

WOMAN 'DEAD OF FRIGHT' RESTORED WITH ADRENALIN

Frightened to death at the thought of undergoing a major operation, Mrs. Emma Wolf of Ontario, Ill., was brought back to life yesterday after she had been apparently dead for ten minutes.

The operation was to be performed in Grant hospital by Dr. Arthur G. Frey of 651 Kenesaw terrace. Preparations were being made to administer the anesthetic. Then the patient's heart stopped.

"It was apparently a case of death due to fright," explained Dr. Frey last night, when questioned by THE TRIBUNE. "After a delay of ten minutes I injected adrenalin chloride into the heart with a hypodermic needle. With in about thirty seconds the patient's heart resumed beating, and she had regained consciousness in half an hour."

"CENTURY" HITS AUTO ON TRACKS; ENGINE DERAILED

Buffalo, N. Y., Jan. 4.—[By the Associated Press.]—The second section of the Twentieth Century flyer of the New York Central railroad ran into a stalled automobile at a grade crossing at Forks, five miles west of Buffalo, early this morning, and the pony wheels of the engine were derailed.

The occupants of the automobile, which had crashed through the crossing gates, got out of the machine before the crash occurred.

The train was running at about forty miles an hour. The automobile, squarely across No. 2 track, was tossed forward and then ground under the wheels.

The passengers were shaken up, but none was injured.

A wrecking train was rushed out from Buffalo and the engine wheels were jacked back upon the rails about an hour after the accident happened. The engine was undamaged, railroad officials said, and proceeded west with the train.

On Dec. 9, less than a month ago, the Twentieth Century had a wreck near Erie, Pa., in which nine persons were killed. An automobile on a track crossing was in that case also responsible for the crash, one section of the Century having stopped after smashing the auto, and a following section plowing into the first. Five of the nine victims were from Chicago and Springfield.

Mother Jails Then Frees Eloping Pair

The honeymoon journey of 16 year old Elma May Lowe and her young Lochinvar led yesterday to the county jail in Marshall, Mich. There the couple remained while the girl's mother, in Chicago, was forgetting her vexation sufficiently to forgive. The result was summarized in a telegram sent to Sheriff Colby last night by Chief Collins:

"Mrs. Lowe has relented. Release the couple."

The elopement got under way early Wednesday morning, when Allen D. Knapp, 22 year old salesman for a furnace company, appeared at 1971 Trumbull avenue with a taxi and a suitcase. The latter was filled with Elma May's lares and penates, including a comb for her blonde bobbed hair, and then the couple proceeded to Waukegan.

"Dad, Meet My Wife."

There they were married by Justice Charles Mason, after which they started for Marshall, where the sales managers of the furnace company were holding their annual meeting. Knapp's father, also connected with the firm, encountered the newlyweds when they descended to the lobby of the Royal hotel at noon yesterday.

"Good morning, dad," said the young bridegroom. "Allow me to introduce my wife."

"Your huh?"

"Bride, dad. Give her a nice kiss."

"Glad to," responded the elder Knapp. "Pleased to meet you, Mrs. —er—Knapp. You are a nice looking little lady."

A few minutes later a deputy sheriff, bearing a telegram from the Chicago police, took the couple in custody. The request for the arrest had been made by Elma May's mother, Mrs. Isabelle Lowe.

Mother Tells of Romance.

Last night, soon after she had decided to forgive, Mrs. Lowe told a reporter how young Knapp had come to room in her home three years ago, when Elma May was only 13.

"I saw he was falling in love with her, and so I ordered him to move after he had been with us for about six months," she said. "Why, she's not quite 16 now.

"I've decided, however, that if they will come back to Chicago and stay with me I'll have them remarried and be a good mother to them. Otherwise I'm going to take steps to have the wedding in Waukegan annulled.

"I'd like to give Allen a darned good licking," she concluded, trying to look severe. "He didn't have any right to take my little girl right out from under my nose that way."

Miss Normand Operated on; Dines Better

BY EDWARD DOHERTY.

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 3.—[Special.]—Mabel Normand was operated on today for appendicitis at the Good Samaritan hospital. The doctors say it was a chronic case. They removed the appendix and say Mabel should be well in a few weeks.

Courtland S. Dines, rich oil man who was shot by Horace A. Greer, Mabel's chauffeur, and who is in the same hospital, has developed pneumonia. Physicians declare Greer's bullet drilled one of the patient's lungs. It was reported at first that the lungs had not been pierced. However, in spite of the pneumonia complication the medical men expect Dines to "pull through."

Chauffeur "Can't Understand."

"When Mabel is herself again," says Greer, whose gun set tongues to talking all over the country, "she'll tell you I've told the truth."

Greer is positive that Mabel will corroborate his every word. He doesn't know why the police doubt his story—the story that he went to rescue Mabel from Dines; and that he shot the oil man only when threatened with a bottle, a bottle that was a potential weapon and not an invitation.

He doesn't know why Mabel denies she was in the room at the time of the shooting, or why she doesn't take his part. He can't understand how she could kiss the man and call him "Sweetie" and "Sweetie dear." He insists he is not in love with the movie star, but he cries when he talks of her.

Edna Isn't Engaged.

Edna Purviance, who was present in the Dines home when the chauffeur fired, has changed her mind again. New Year's night she refused to say whether she was engaged to Dines or not. Yesterday Edna admitted she was going to marry "Court," a little pet name, but that neither had ever put it into so many words. Today she declares they never were engaged.

"We were just playmates," she said.

Greer Escutcheon Stained.

New York, Jan. 3.—[Special.]—Mable Normand's chauffeur, Horace A. Greer, migrated to the west coast and assumed the alias of Joe Kelly because he had reasons.

The name Greer appears on the police records of various towns and cities in the east. Charles (Chink) Greer, a murderer, who escaped from Sing Sing in 1922, was captured and transferred to Dannemora prison and there died a few months later, was a brother.

Another brother, John Greer, is now serving a twenty year sentence in a Connecticut jail for robbing a bank.

Kansas May Bar Films.

Topeka, Kas., Jan. 3.—[Special.]—Charles B. Griffith, attorney general, is planning to ask the Kansas moving picture censor board to bar all moving pictures in which Mabel Normand and Edna Purviance appear.

Bar Normand Films Forever.

Memphis, Tenn., Jan. 3.—John M. Dean, chairman of the local board of motion picture censors, stated tonight that films in which Mabel Normand appears will be barred permanently from local screens. The ban, Mr. Dean said, will be ordered at the next regular meeting of the board.

Exhibition of films in which Edna Purviance appears will be suspended until the Dines case is "cleared up," Mr. Dean stated.

HAYS SILENT ON SCANDAL.

Will H Hays, who was at the Congress hotel yesterday, had nothing to say last night about the recent excitement in Hollywood except that it was not the reason for his hurried trip to the coast.

"I have nothing to say about the affair—now," said Mr. Hays, and the emphasis on the last word implied that he might have a great deal to say later. He added:

"The movies are a man's job and they keep me moving. I am leaving for the coast in a few minutes."

THE HOT darkness was a welter of dreadful noise. The high, ear shattering scream of panicstricken elephants, than which there be few more terrible sounds, had mingled with the strident chorus of frenzied lions and of terrified gazelle which bleated in their maddened myriads; the whole frightful din ringing up to the quiet star pierced skies.

RAPS COOLIDGE ON TAX, BONUS, WORLD COURT

Cleveland Audience Cheers Him.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

Cleveland, O., Jan. 3.—[Special.]—In a speech raking the Coolidge administration fore and aft and blistering the Republican national committee and the interests and individuals supporting Mr. Coolidge politically, Senator Hiram Johnson [Rep., Cal.] opened his campaign here tonight for the Republican nomination for President.

The meeting was presided over by State Senator George H. Bender, Johnson manager in Ohio, and Senator Johnson, who was accompanied by Frank H. Hitchcock, his national campaign manager, was introduced by John D. Fackler, a prominent Bull Mooser in 1912.

With President Coolidge, on the major policies the latter enunciated in his message to congress, Senator Johnson takes sharp issue and bids Republican voters choose between him and his opponent in the presidential primaries on the basis of these divergent views.

Summary of His Policies.

Senator Johnson's position on the principal issues of the hour, as set forth in his keynote address, may be summarized thus.

TAXES—Reduction of taxes on small incomes should be made to the full extent proposed by Secretary of the Treasury Mellon, but the reduction applying to large incomes should be less than proposed.

BONUS—Soldiers of the world war should be granted adjusted compensation just as business was granted a $3,000,000,000 adjusted compensation on war contracts, and the expense of the soldier bonus should be met by a smaller reduction of the tax on large incomes than Mr. Mellon proposes.

AGRICULTURE—Farmers must be given lower freight rates and aid by the government, instead of being told to help themselves, as "in the recent presidential message."

"Rotten Boroughs" Denounced.

NOMINATION—The increase of southern "rotton borough" representation in the Republican national convention by the Coolidge partisans in control of the national committee, in defiance of the mandate of the last convention, to equalize representation represents an attempt to poison at the source the process of selecting the candidate for President.

MEXICO—The sale of arms by the Coolidge administration to President Obregon is "immoral, if not illegal," and constitutes a promotion of war in Mexico by those who pretend to be ardently desirous of suppressing all war forever.

WORLD COURT—The permanent court of international justice is conceded in the Coolidge message to be a futile agency for settlement of international disputes, and the movement for American adhesion is merely a scheme to get us into the league of nations through the back door.

In Great Oratorical Form.

Senator Johnson spoke in an auditorium of 5,000 capacity which was packed to the doors. He was in perfect oratorical form, his whole figure vibrant with expression; eyes flashing; gray locks quivering on either side their middle parting; arms now spread wide, now held aloft, while in the onrush of eloquence sentences snapped and crackled like a display of chain lightning.

Wave after wave of applause swept the audience in approval of his denunciation of the manipulation of southern representation in the national convention, of his lampooning of big business for exacting a $3,000,000,000 adjustment of compensation on war contracts while fighting adjusted compensation for soldiers as "commercialized patriotism," of his plea to aid starving Germans, of his condemnation of the sale of arms to Obregon, and of his ridicule of the world court.

The greatest outburst followed his declaration that he would refuse to follow any President who tries to take us into Europe.

People Overtaxed Last Year.

The administration's exploitation of the Mellon tax reduction plan Mr. Johnson portrayed as a device of modern sovereigns for diverting the attention of the populace from the causes of discontent and from the lack of a foreign policy. Everybody naturally is for tax reduction, the senator observed, but the volume of propaganda for the Mellon plan emanates from the big, not the little taxpayers, in his opinion.

"Our government overtaxed its people in the last year, and we find a surplus on hand of $250,000,000," said Senator Johnson. "It is perfectly obvious that no government has the right to overtax its people, and it is equally plain that with a surplus of $350,000,000 we should meet our just obligations, and we should reduce taxation just as much as it can be reduced. We must correct the condition of affairs by which we collected more than we should have collected in taxation, and we can only correct this condition of affairs by reduction of taxation.

Gives Income Statistics.

"There are 13,000,000 people in this country who pay taxes on incomes less than $10,000; there are only 230,000 who pay taxes on incomes over $10,000. The man who pays on an income of $250,000 will save under the so called 'Mellon plan' $40,000 a year. He who pays on $300,000 will save $62,000 a year; those who have incomes of $500,000 will be required to pay $117,000 less.

"The fortunate ones who have an income of $1,000,000 will save by the Mellon plan $252,000 a year; and the few who pay on an income of $5,000,000 will save $1,330,000 a year.

"Who is indulging in this propaganda that is sweeping the country today, filling every newspaper and at the head of which are our bankers and the United States Chamber of Commerce? Do you imagine it is the man who by a reduction of taxes will save $10 or $30 or $50 or $100, or do you think it is the individual who will save $30,000, $50,000, $100,000, $200,000, or $300,000?

For Keeping Promises.

"The concern of this tax scheme is not for the man of small income who can least bear the burden, but the concern is for those of large incomes who can best bear the burden. And they would have us forget our plighted faith and violate our promise in order that the full reduction sought might be accorded them.

"I would not have you misunderstand me at all. I would reduce the taxes of all of the people whenever it is possible to do so and keep our faith at the same time. In the matter of taxation, as in all other matters, I would be scrupulously just to men of large incomes and of big business; but I recognize men of great riches and big business have a happy faculty of looking out for themselves.

"Those of small incomes and small business must rely upon their representatives. We would not be unjust to any, but we would begin tax reduction with the people who are least able to pay taxes."

G. O. P. Pledged to Bonus.

A part of this propaganda by big business is being directed against the proposed soldier bonus legislation, the senator said, the bonus question having passed beyond the stage of debate, such legislation having been pledged by President Harding at Cincinnati in 1920, by the chairman of the senate finance committee and by Senator Watson [Rep., Ind.] on behalf of the administration, by Senator Lodge [Rep., Mass.], Republican leader, and by Senator Curtis [Rep., Kas.], Republican whip.

"The Republican party has its faith avowed," thundered the senator. "And I would rather make no reduction in taxes upon large incomes than that our plighted faith should be violated. But we can pay the sums due under the adjusted compensation bill and reduce taxes too.

"We have a surplus of $350,000,000. During the debate upon this adjusted compensation bill the estimate of the secretary was that the first year the amounts to be paid under the adjusted compensation bill would be less than one hundred millions of dollars.

"We Can Do Both."

"We can reduce all of the taxes now existing on incomes under $10,000 exactly as in the plan presented and we can reduce other taxes in some degree, and we can also keep our promise to pay the soldiers their due.

"The matter becomes first a matter of good faith and one of keeping a definite pledge. Before this extraordinary propaganda it was not difficult to argue for the adjusted compensation bill, but now, against our plighted word, is the saving suggested in a reduction of taxes upon incomes which do not necessarily require reduction.

"Do not forget that the principle of adjusted compensation is a principle our government has already firmly established. We adopted that principle in regard to the business of the country. Congress passed a bill by which the compensation of those who were engaged in war contracts with the government which ceased with the termination of the war was adjusted.

Bonus Not a New Principle.

"We adopted the principle of adjusted compensation for the railroads of the land. The mining interests were taken care of by the war minerals act, and every business engaged with the government during the war was compensated by the government. Upon this principle of adjusted compensation we have paid out something near $3,000,000,000. Business insisted upon the principle of adjusted compensation and business received the benefit of adjusted compensation.

"Business would now deny the same principle to the man who bared his body to shot and shell across the sea. When business sought to have its losses made good, and when the government of the United States responded to its appeal, there was no cry about commercialized patriotism, no self-righteous stuff about fighting for the country's cause and seeking no other reward. There was the insistent demand by those dealing with the government for compensation for money recompense for injury or loss or damage, although business during the war, you and I know, in many instances, profited far more than in any other period in its history.

Not Compensation, but Recognition.

"This is not a question now of commercialized patriotism of the men who fought the war. This is a question of deserved distinction, in small degree, and that recognition is payment by the government of an adjusted compensation. Contrast the $30 per month received by the soldier during the war with what those at home made during that period.

"O, ye business men, who protest against recognition of the soldier now, remember your attitude then! And remember you might not have had any business demanding that it receive its adjusted compensation from the government but for the lad who was fighting in your behalf for $30 per month. Out of the $30 per month from many of them $15 was taken as an allotment for relatives and $6 per month to pay insuranace, so that out of $30 per month the soldier had left in many, many instances an average of $9 per month, or 30 cents per day."

Farmer Needs Aid.

Senator Johnson pronounced the United States "the most prosperous nation on the face of the globe" and predicted increase of that prosperity. "There is only one section in distress which we feel the more and would the more readily relieve because of the general prosperity elsewhere. The farmer today suffers not only from low prices, but from the high cost of production," the senator continued.

"What he sells is low and what he buys is high. His dollar is below par. This is especially true of the farmer in the interior, where the greatly increased freight rates stand between him and his market. The wheat farmer suffers most. During the war, the government held down the price to a lower level than other commodities. It insisted on greatly increased acreage. The resulting overproduction has added much to the farmer's difficulties.

"In the recent presidential message he is told to help himself. The government apparently is cold toward him and turns from directions where he may be benefited. Coöperation of course would aid him but coöperation of millions is a difficult thing after all. The innumerable agents and experts of the government should aid the farmers in effecting coöperation among themselves, but there should also be effective coöperatoin of the government with the farmer."

"We Have No Foreign Policy."

Senator Johnson said he long had advocated a definite foreign policy, far removed from secret diplomacy, but he finds nothing to encourage him in the handling of foreign affairs by President Coolidge and Secretary of State Hughes.

"The belief seems prevalent that we cannot have a policy unless it shall first be promulgated by some confederation, association, or league of foreign countries. We timidly advance a thought one day, and apparently do something diametrically contrary another. And only in the last few days this kaleidiscopic foreign policy has taken another and a startling turn. The United States is furnishing arms and munitions to Obregon in Mexico to fight revolution there.

"The merits of the contest raging in Mexico, I don't know, and they are immaterial in this discussion, but whatever the merits of the revolt in Mexico, I have no hesitation in saying our action is immoral if not illegal. What a departure from the policy America has ever pursued! What an anomalous and paradoxical position is ours today—we, who were born in revolution!"

"It Is Not a World Court."

Mr. Johnson next took up the world court. "It is not a world court we are asked to enter," he contended. "It is the league of nations' court. It is a misnomer to call it a court at all. What a naive thing to say that it is a convenient instrument to which we could go, but to which we could not be brought, for it is an equally convenient instrument to which other nations may go, but to which they could not be brought—the confession that it can do nothing except by consent.

"In the present state of the world no one of the powreful exploiting nations will consent to have its wrong passed upon by the league court. Remember, we already have arbitration treaties with nearly every important country on earth, and by contract under these arbitration treaties questions of controversy are to be submitted to arbitration. There is just one reason for our entry into the league court, and that is our entry will finally take us into the league."

PINCHOT CLOGS UP G. O. P. PLANS IN PENNSYLVANIA

Governor Announces He Will Enter Primaries.

BY GRAFTON WILCOX.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 3.—[Special.]—Republican party leaders learned today that Gov. Gifford Pinchot has finally determined to enter the primaries in Pennsylvania as a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination.

The governor's decision, it is known, was made in the face of opposition from the regular party leaders in Pennsylvania, who had planned, as usual, to send to the national convention a state delegation uninstructed for President, provided Gov. Pinchot did not enter the primary.

Now, it is declared, the Pennsylvania leaders, headed by Senators George Wharton Pepper and David A. Reed, will make an active fight against Pinchot and come out actively for President Coolidge with a view to sending a solid Coolidge delegation to Cleveland next June.

See Defeat for Governor.

The Coolidge political managers are well satisfied with this development, confident that Gov. Pinchot will not be able to overthrow the leadership of the Pennsylvania senators and other regulars who all along are known to have been for Coolidge but desirous of avoiding an open break with Gov. Pinchot if possible. Gov. Pinchot's decision is also pleasing to the Coolidgeists for the reason that it will complicate matters for Senator Hiram Johnson if he seeks to enter the Pennsylvania primary.

Former Congressman James W. Good, western manager of the Coolidge campaign forces, arrived here today from Chicago full of Coolidge enthusiasm. He conferred at the White House with Frank W. Stearns of Boston, the President's confidential friend, and with other Republican leaders.

Says Message Won Praise.

"The Coolidge outlook is particularly bright everywhere," said Mr. Good, "particularly in the middle west. I have never known an executive state paper to have received such unanimous approval among the people as did President Coolidge's December message to congress."

Administration leaders in congress, returning today from their homes, brought glowing Coolidge reports, several of them venturing the prediction that the President would be nominated at Cleveland on the first ballot.

The President within the next few days will make his big bid for the Montana delegation. The President's lot will be cast according to the direction in which he throws the additional judgeship which has precipitated a bitter factional fight within the state.

$400,000,000 CUT FROM NATIONAL DEBT LAST YEAR

Washington, D. C., Jan. 3.—The treasury accomplished a net reduction of almost $400,000,000 in the public debt in 1923, according to official figures made public today. Outstanding obligations of the nation totaled $21,589,160,346 when the books were closed Monday night.

Treasury officials expressed satisfaction that the mass of obligations, the bulk of which were incurred during the world war now were in "manageable shape," and said the refunding operations of the last two years had left the treasury in a position to take care for all maturities of the future without impairment of the program for gradual retirement of the debt. Success of the program, they added, depended upon a continuation of the policy of economy.

COOLIDGE BUTTON OUT; DEPICTS NEW ENGLAND SCENE

Washington, D. C., Jan. 3.—[Special.]—A new campaign button has made its appearance in connection with the Coolidge campaign for the Republican nomination for the presidency. Frank W. Stearns, the "official Coolidge friend," is the wearer. A New York woman is the designer.

The button typifies the sturdy New England "country boy" atmosphere from which President Coolidge rose. A neat enameled emblem edged in gold. It bears merely the picture of a New England snow scene, with one pine tree in the background and, in the foreground, a little red schoolhouse over which flies the American flag. There is neither name nor picture of Coolidge on the button.

HOBOS, WARNED HOME IS PERILED, CHASE REITMAN

He's Diplomatic, but They Rush Him.

Dr. Ben L. Reitman, professor of eugenics in the medical school of the Hobo college, lectured on meteorological conditions and fire prevention last night and barely escaped the wrath of 140 unappreciative students.

Dr. Reitman declared that it had been so warm the hoboes couldn't work, that it had turned so cold he was afraid they'd freeze to death, and that he feared they would all be burned to death if they occupied the hard but warm floors in the rickety four story structure at 913 Washington boulevard for another night. He announced they must all move on the morrow to the municipal lodging house which he hopes the mayor will reopen at 162 North Union street.

The Bridewell Blues.

The doctor's reasoning was puzzling to the floppers, who gazed fascinatedly upon the huge piles of kindling in the building. They decided that what Dr. Reitman really was trying to do was "to ease them into the Bridewell" by slow stages. They made a rush for the speaker, but he slipped out before they could grab him. Then they painted a huge poster and plastered it on the wall in the college auditorium.

"Upon your misery Dr. Reitman builds his political fortune," it read.

"It has been extremely unseasonable weather for the hoboes," explained Dr. Reitman. "We must open the municipal lodging house again. The hobo college has been declared unsafe by the fire department. We're afraid it'll catch fire."

Old Stuff, Cry Hoboes.

"That's no news to us!" chorused the angry 'bos. "It was condemned years ago."

William Bowersfield, one of the trustees of the college, point to the huge stack of kindling.

"There's something fishy about all this," he said. "Dr. Reitman gave us $5 for coal last night. The rent on this building has been paid by James Eads Howe, the millionaire hobo. Reitman just wants to open the lodging house with a big bang and get a lot of political publicity. We won't go."

HIGH SCHOOL GIRL, MISSING EIGHT DAYS, BELIEVED KIDNAPED

After ten days of investigation, relatives of 15 year old Marcella B. Loeffler, who disappeared on Christmas night, came to the conclusion last night that the girl was kidnaped. Every move of the girl has been checked up until 10:30 on Christmas night, when she left the home of a family named Ferris on 40th street to board a street car for her parents' home at 7400 Kenwood avenue.

MARCELLA B. LOEFFLER.

Until a few months ago the girl was a student in St. James' High school. Although only 15 years old, she appears to be 18. She is 5 feet 8 or 9 inches tall, weighs about 130 pounds, and has light brown bobbed hair, brown eyes, and a fair complexion. She has a small scar under her right eye.

SON-IN-LAW OF MORGAN AGAIN WEDS; DELAYED

New York, Jan. 3.—[Special.]—Confirmation of rumors of more than a year's standing that William Pierson Hamilton, son-in-law of the late J. Pierpont Morgan, had been estranged from his wife, Julia Morgan Hamilton, followed receipt of news here today that Mr. Hamilton had married, on Wednesday, Mrs. Theodesia S. Carlin of Montecito, Cal.

The Hamiltons were divorced in Nevada. The story came to light when a San Francisco dispatch said that a legal technicality might hold up the new Hamilton honeymoon until a certified copy of his marriage license is secured. His bride of a day was to leave San Francisco with him on a tour of the orient.

Local passport officials said that due to an error in the office of the county clerk at Santa Barbara the date of Hamilton's marriage failed to appear in the passport application. Under the Cable law, each passport must fully record a marriage to insure the wife's individual status.

RELIABILITY

ANY business, whether it be large or small, cannot be created in a day. It takes time if the work is to be well done; if it is to be permanent; if it is to be reliable and worth the confidence of the public it has chosen to serve.

IT has taken George Bernards 15 years to grow from a mere store to an institution.

A LARGE business, like a large building, must be built upon a foundation that will stand the test of time. Reliability, efficiency, service, quality, truth and courtesy are some of the important pillars in the foundation of this institution.

THE public's confidence in our reliability has made it necessary for us to increase our facilities and capacity from time to time until now we have one of the largest stores of its kind in Chicago.

BUT size alone does not make for success. Comprehensive stocks embracing the modes of the moment; lowest prices consistent with quality; efficient service; courtesy; confidence and RELIABILITY. All these things, and many others, must be adapted and prominently employed to make any business really great and an asset to the community it serves.

IT is an old Bernard principle that every aim, every ideal; every rule must, in its purpose, serve to establish reliability.

Sincerely,
George Bernards

COLLINS OUSTS SIX POLICEMEN IN WAR ON RUM

Chief Holds Girl's Slayer, Whom Inquest Freed.

Chief of Police Morgan A. Collins launched his threatened drive to divorce the police department and liquor by suspending six policemen yesterday.

The suspensions presage a city-wide police shakeup which will not cease, according to the chief's announced intention, until he has fired every officer found to be implicated in any way in bootlegging activities, to be violating the prohibition laws, or to be imbibing intoxicants while on duty.

Mulcahy Cleared; Accused.

Although a coroner's jury exonerated Policeman John P. Mulcahy of the Woodlawn station of all blame in connection with the fatal shooting of Miss Jennie Plarr, cabaret girl, Chief Collins not only directed that charges be filed against him before the trial board but issued a special order holding him under arrest on a charge of manslaughter.

At the same time he ordered Policeman James L. Kelly of the Woodlawn flivver squad, who switched revolvers with Mulcahy in an effort to "cover up" on the shooting, held as an accessory to manslaughter and charged him with neglect of duty and conduct unbecoming an officer.

Mulcahy and Kelly were released last night on bonds. Mulcahy got a bond signed by John Campbell, 2453 East 74th street. Kelly was released on a $10,000 bond signed by John Korthise, 7306 Aberdeen street.

Wants to "Fire" Both.

"We want to get rid of these two men as fast as possible," the chief said. "They are not fit to be in the police department."

Mulcahy will be tried on charges of intoxication, conduct unbecoming an officer, unlawful use of a weapon, and neglect of duty in that he did not close Gilligan & Burke's cigar store, in which the shooting occurred, instead of sitting down with the other habitues and drinking liquor.

"Mulcahy knew that store was a gathering place for bootleggers, beer runners, and poolroom toughs," the chief declared. "He knew liquor was being sold there. In fact, he so stated at first and then changed his testimony.

"I'm not going to have a man on my force who is in any way connected with liquor, either through the sale of it or through the consumption of it."

Chief Swings Official Ax.

Following out this theory, the chief also suspended Sergt. Edward Smale Jr. of the Kensington station, Policeman Edward J. Mitchell of the Cottage Grove avenue station, Sergt. Thomas Carlisle of the Englewood station, and Policeman Hugo A. Marker of the Deering street station, who were placed on trial before Federal Judge Adam C. Cliffe yesterday for violation of the prohibition laws.

The men were accused of planning a whisky holdup and with making off with a truckload of whisky. Chief Collins said these men will be restored to duty if acquitted in the federal court.

Aims at Several Captains.

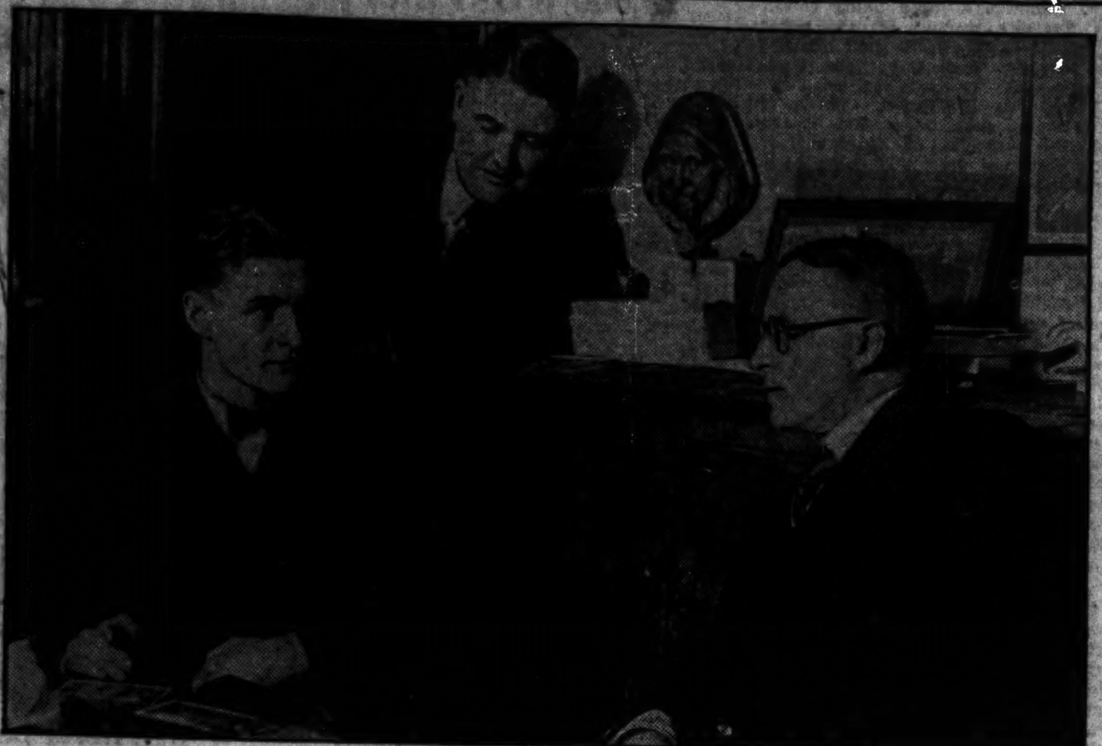
Next the chief last night ordered Capts. John Martin of the Hudson avenue station and Joseph Smith of the Woodlawn station to appear before the civil service medical examining board looking toward their retirement. They are among several commanding officers slated for immediate retirement, either through physical disability or on charges of inefficiency. Others who must face the examiners this week, it is said, are Capts. Michael and Patrick Gallery, brothers, commanding the Cragin and East Chicago avenue stations respectively, and James C. Mullen of the Warren avenue station.

No general shakeup order will be issued until the medical findings have been forwarded to the chief, but he has prepared one which he submitted to Mayor Dever for approval.

Rows with Wife; Tries Suicide; She Saves Him

Following a domestic quarrel, Oscar Eigler, 38 years old, went into the basement of his home at 1653 Byron street and started to hang himself. His wife, becoming worried at his absence, found Eigler and cut him down before he lost consciousness.

COLOSIMO'S CONFESSED SLAYER



[TRIBUNE Photo.]

James F. Mulcrone, who has confessed that he slew James ("Big Jim") Colosimo in May, 1920, is brought back to Chicago. He is questioned by Chief of Detectives Michael Hughes (at the right) and Sergt. Thomas Burke. Mulcrone (at the left) today will be asked to re-enact the killing.

PUBLIC GETTING MILK DESPITE FARMER STRIKE

Reduction of Supply Scarcely Felt.

Chicago's milk consumers yesterday found themselves little more than spectators of the battle between the milk producers and the distributors, despite the fact that the normal supply was cut, producers said, by almost half.

Emergency supplies from places not ordinarily selling to the Chicago market prevented the public from feeling a sharp reduction in its milk for beverage purposes, the feeding of infants and invalids, and for preparation of other foods.

Combatants Standing Pat.

The farmers stood pat on their demand for maintenance of a wholesale price of $2.75, against the reduction of 5 to 15 cents a hundred pounds (about eight gallons) sought by distributors.

Normally, the city uses about 1,200,000 quarts. Yesterday the receipts from the regular sources were about 750,000 quarts, almost 314,000 short, the distributors said, but actually the shortage, which the producers estimated at 650,000 gallons, scarcely was felt.

Dairy farmers in the territory tributary to Detroit, Mich., Cleveland, O., Dubuque, Ia., Milwaukee, Wis., Indianapolis, Ind., and Akron, O., sold milk that was shipped to Chicago.

These shipments reached an estimated total of 130,000 quarts to replace those fed to the hogs or otherwise diverted by the Illinois and Wisconsin dairy farmers, who in ordinary conditions supply the Chicago market.

Provides Against Trouble.

Threats of disturbances caused Sheriff Edwin Ahlstrom of Lake county and several deputies to be called to Wauconda to prevent trouble.

Producers from Cary and Crystal Lake yesterday picketed the plants of the Bowman Dairy company at Wauconda, Gilmer, and Barrington, according to company officials.

Dairymen are said to have been stopped on the roads and asked not to deliver milk. In some instances, when they refused, their milk is said to have been dumped on the highways by pickets.

CINCINNATI RAIL STATION VACATED AS RIVER RISES

Cincinnati, O., Jan. 3.—Officials of railroads entering the Cincinnati Central Union station tonight began preparations to vacate the station following announcement by W. C. Devereaux, United States forecaster, that the Ohio river might reach a crest stage of 54 feet by Saturday. This stage would flood the entrance "ditch" to the station to a depth that would make operation impossible, it was said.

The river passed the 50 foot stage early tonight and continued to rise at three-tenths of a foot an hour.

Killed "Big Jim"?

The murder of "Big Jim" Colosimo will be reënacted today in the restaurant he founded at 2126 South Wabash avenue and in which his body was found nearly four years ago.

The rôle of the murderer will be played by James F. Mulcrone, roustabout and jack-of-all-trades, who claims he fired the shots which killed "Big Jim."

Mulcrone was brought back from St. Louis last night by Sergt. Thomas Burke and repeated his confession to Chief of Detectives Hughes, who said he was inclined to believe the man's story.

Mulcrone, who is the son of a former West Madison street merchant, now living in California, says he killed the café owner in a drunken rage because the latter had ejected him from the restaurant.

Detective Sergeant William O'Connor was sent out to find old employés, waiters, bouncers, and hangers-on of the restaurant at the time of the murder.

WRITER REFUSES TO DISCUSS HER DIVORCE MUDDLE

Del Ray, Fla., Jan. 3.—Asserting, through her secretary, that "her attorney would take care of the matter," Mrs. Nina Wilcox Putnam Sanderson, at her home here today, refused to discuss the vacating of her divorce, granted by a Providence, R. I., court.

R. E. Bassett, Mrs. Sanderson's personal representative and business manager, declared Mrs. Sanderson is confined to her bed. She arrived here Christmas eve.

Judge Wants Her in Court.

Providence, R. I., Jan. 3.—[Special.]—An order, vacating the divorce granted yesterday to Nina Wilcox Putnam Sanderson from Robert J. Sanderson, was entered today by Judge Chester W. Barrows of the Superior court. The order vacates the divorce "until such time as she shall appear in person and satisfy the court that she has been a resident of this state for more than two years prior to Oct. 16, 1923."

Judge Barrows also sent a letter to P. Francis Cassidy of Woonsocket, attorney for Mrs. Sanderson, stating that if the court does not hear from his client within a reasonable time it will feel a duty to lay the facts before the attorney general for action.

COURT REOPENS MANY "PARLORS" COLLINS CLOSED

City to Fight Soft Drink Order Monday.

Seventeen soft drink parlors, closed recently when Mayor Dever revoked their retail beverage licenses for alleged liquor law violations, won permission to reopen yesterday. They may possibly remain open until city attorneys have established the validity of the beverage license law. This condition was created by appeal of the proprietors to Judge Hugo M. Friend.

Judge Friend's order, which protects the places from police interference until hearings are resumed on Monday, paves the way, Chief Collins declared last night, for at least temporary resumption of business by all of the 2,100 or more shops whose permits were rescinded during the mayor's beer and booze cleanup.

Lawyer's View Different.

His fears are unfounded, however, according to Assistant Corporation Counsel Leonard Grossman, who protested against the entry of the order by Judge Friend and who asserted that its protection could be claimed only by proprietors who filed intervening petitions with the court before Monday.

"Judge Friend is opening up these places when they have been closed for violation of the liquor law," the chief complained last night.

The Supreme court may rule on the validity of the retail beverage license law. Until such a ruling was forthcoming, police interference with the soft drink parlors probably would be enjoined.

Those Aided by Ruling.

The soft drink parlor and cabaret proprietors who joined in the bill filed by Attorneys M. L. Carmody and E. R. Parnass, are: Jep Lauesen, 3140 North Richmond avenue; Julius Petran, 1970 Diversey parkway; Tom Valkan, 400 East 63d street; Charles Horton, 4928 Milwaukee avenue; William Bieber, 909 Center street; Vincent Biondi, 1400 North Wells street; Charles Rudziewicz, 1700 Carroll avenue; John Witscher, 1615 Burling street; Albert Maconi, 3227 East 92d street; John F. Butcher, 1142 Cherry avenue; John Hiegel, 5159 South Laflin street; M. Oswald, 5301 Justine street; Alice Shepard, 9185 South Chicago avenue; Hans P. Peterson, 3334 Milwaukee avenue; Cyril J. Maher, 1156 South Western avenue; William Velten and Frank Kandlik, 6423 Irving Park boulevard.

JURORS INDICT BEAK, WATHIER, J. J. MILLER, TOO

"Rich Little Poor Girl's" Story Does It.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

Charges of "duplicate mortgages" and of million dollar irregularities in the affairs of K. R. Beak & Co. appear to have simmered down, in criminal prosecution at least, to the one case in which Rosa Laub, a waitress, 982 Garfield avenue, found her name had been signed to a paper, meaningless to her, but which became "bank collateral" to Beak & Co.

Rosa appeared before the grand jury yesterday and told her story, with the aid of an interpreter. The point was that she had not signed the mortgage for $75,000 on the Sheridan Shore hotel. The grand jury traced the transaction through a $50,000 loan from the Reliance State bank, and promptly voted true bills against K. R. Beak, Charles H. Walthier, former president of the bank, and Joseph J. Miller, vice president of Beak & Co., who is alleged to have signed Rosa's name without the formality of journeying to her humble apartment for her actual signature.

Miller Puts Blame on Beak.

Indictments are expected to be returned in court today or tomorrow. Then Beak, who has been in custody at the Briggs house, will be released on bonds. He said yesterday that he assumed that Rosa Laub's signature was genuine, and that the property was well able to stand the loan. Miller's story has been that Beak told him to sign Rosa's name.

Two bills are said to have been voted, the first against Beak and Wathier on the charge of obtaining money under false pretenses from the bank and the second against Beak and Miller, charging forgery.

The first bill is said to have been based on the testimony of William R. Wells and A. L. Fell, president and secretary, respectively, of the City Distributing company. According to this story, Wathier showed them the Laub mortgage and said if they would sign a note for $50,000 they would be paid $5,000 commission.

Beak's Share Cut Down.

Beak was supposed to get $45,000 of this, although it is said he only got $35,000. Before the note came due, however, they were given $25,000 in cash and $25,000 in securities by Wathier. They did not deal with Beak at all. They did not lose anything. The Laub mortgage was signed in September, and it was Dec. 15 before Miller obtained power of attorney from the girl.

With the exception of investigation of a mortgage deal in which Dr. Charles A. Moore is the complainant, and investigation of alleged graft in supplies at the Argyle Arms apartment, Mr. Gorman said his investigation is all over.

PARKS PREPARE FOR SKATERS AS COLD SNAP STAYS

With park officials announcing that only one more day of really cold weather is needed to make the ponds and lagoons safe for skaters, the government forecaster proceeded to oblige last night. "Abnormally cold weather will prevail throughout the Chicago forecast district during the next forty-eight hours," he predicted. "It will be generally fair and continued cold Friday and Saturday in the city itself."

One phase of the cold weather was the filing of more than fifty complaints by tenants of cold apartments.

'Bilious Travesty of Gospel Too Much,' Van Dyke Quits Church

Princeton, N. J., Jan. 3.—Disapproving of reiterating from the pulpit of the controversy between fundamentalists and modernists, and critical of the bitter "schismatic and unscriptural" preaching at the Old First church at Princeton, Dr. Henry Van Dyke, nationally known figure in the Presbyterian church and former United States minister to the Netherlands, who several weeks ago proclaimed himself a "liberalist on religion," today gave up his pew in the church.

In a letter to Howard E. Eldridge, treasurer of the church, Dr. Van Dyke declared that he could no longer waste his time "in listening to the dismal, bilious travesty of the Gospel."

Dr. Machen His Target.

His action caused a deep stir in the church of which he is a member. The letter is accepted as being directed against the Rev. John G. Machen, professor in the Theological seminary at Princeton, who is temporarily occupying the First church pulpit while the church committee is seeking a permanent pastor.

Dr. Machen's sermon last Sunday was described today as "perfectly in accord with sound Presbyterian doctrine."

Dr. Van Dyke's letter to Mr. Eldridge follows:

"Having had another Sunday spoiled by the bitter schismatic and unscriptural preaching of the stated supply of the First Presbyterian church of Princeton (directly contrary to the spirit of his beautiful text), I desire to give up my pew in the church.

"Bilious Travesty of Gospel."

"The few Sundays that I have free from evangelical work to spend with my family are too precious to be wasted in listening to such a dismal, bilious travesty of the gospel. We want to hear about Christ, the son of God and the son of man, not about the fundamentalists and modernists, the only subject on which your stated supply seems to have anything to say and on which most of what he says is untrue and malicious. Until he is done, count me out, and give up my pew in the church. We want to worship Christ, our Savior."

Dr. Van Dyke formerly was pastor of the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian church, New York, and moderator of the general assemblies of the Presbyterian church in 1902.

Modernist Demands Trial.

Fort Worth, Tex., Jan. 3.—Suspension by Bishop H. T. Moore of the Dallas Episcopal diocese of heretic charges against the Rev. Dr. Lee W. Heaton, militant modernist of Fort Worth, has not satisfied the young rector of Trinity Episcopal church, according to a statement he issued tonight.

"I earnestly appeal for a frank and complete vindication," Mr. Heaton said.

The declination of Bishop Moore to permit the charges against Mr. Heaton to come to trial was made Thursday, following a meeting of the standing committee of the church.

Mr. Heaton takes the attitude that he has been left under a cloud and purposes to "continue preaching the gospel of Jesus Christ, and his claim upon the intelligent allegiance of real men, as honestly and as fearlessly as God gives me grace to do."

"Confession of Defeat."

New York, Jan. 3.—New York representatives of the Modern Churchmen's union tonight issued a statement demanding that Bishop Moore of Dallas either present for trial the charges of heresy against the Rev. Lee W. Heaton of Ft. Worth or withdraw the charges.

"It could be wished that the bishop had followed the American tradition of fair play," the statement said. "Regardless of the theological points of view, there is a universal desire for justice. The American people presume that the accused is innocent until a court of his peers has found him guilty.

"What, in reality, does Bishop Moore propose to do? In the language of the street, he endeavors to 'pass the buck.' He has taken an oath to preserve the purity of doctrine in his own diocese. There is, therefore, but one course open to an honorable man. As we have already said, he affirms the charges are 'well founded.' Therefore, he must present Mr. Heaton for trial. Failure to follow this course will unquestionably render Bishop Moore himself liable for trial as an unfaithful steward."

Other Denominations Active.

The modernist-fundamentalist controversy became active in two other denominations today—the Baptist and Methodist churches. The Baptist Fundamentalist league of Greater New York formally declared that northern Baptists demanded a complete examination of the entire foreign mission field by men known to be orthodox, and Bishop Luther B. Wilson, head of the Methodist church in New York, came out for the fundamentalists. He said:

"I think it necessary not to deny the deity of Christ, although it is difficult to understand everything about it."

PULL STRAWS FOR MADONNA PART; LADY DIANA WINS

New York, Jan. 3.—Luck was with Lady Diana Manners today and not with Princess Machiabelli.

Lady Diana and the princess both—to the surprise of each—had been engaged to play the rôle of the Madonna in the American presentation of "The Miracle," which opens at the Century theater Jan. 10.

The mixup was not discovered until both had arrived in this country and each insisted she would have the part.

Mr. Gest suggested alternating the rôle, but declined to choose the actress for the premiere. He left that up to two straws, which he produced today, and bringing the rivals face to face for the first time, told them to pull for luck. Lady Diana selected the longer one.

The princess will appear in the second performance.

THAW'S MOTHER FIGHTS HIS PLAN TO GAIN LIBERTY

Philadelphia, Pa., Jan. 3.—Efforts of Bartholomew R. Coyne, a New York lawyer, to obtain the release of Harry K. Thaw, slayer of Stanford White, from the Pennsylvania Hospital for Mental and Nervous Diseases received a setback today when Mr. Coyne was refused admission to the institution, where he had planned to confer with his client.

Announcement that any attempt to obtain Thaw's freedom would be strenuously opposed, also was made by former Judge James G. Gordon, counsel for Mrs. Mary Copley Thaw, mother of the patient, and by Mrs. Thaw herself.

Guard Stops Attorney.

Mr. Coyne, who announced that he would institute legal proceedings to have Thaw adjudged sane, went to the hospital today, where he was met by a guard who informed him that no one could see Thaw without proper credentials.

The New York attorney declined to discuss the subject, beyond reiterating his statement that a petition to bring proceedings before a jury probably would be filed with Judge J. Willis Martin, about the middle of this month.

Mr. Coyne's statement that physicians at the hospital had pronounced Thaw sane were contradicted today by Dr. H. D. Fuller, medical director of the men's department. He declined to express an opinion as to Thaw's mental condition.

Calls Thaw Sane.

Dr. Ellwood R. Kirby, Thaw's personal physician, joined Mr. Coyne in asserting that Thaw was perfectly sane and normal. He also declared that he would not suffer a recurrence of his mental malady if he led the proper sort of life.

"He was in splendid shape, well balanced, logical and fully aware of the plans being made by his attorney," said the doctor.

KILL TWO WOMEN; BRINGS AUTO TOLL TO SIX IN 3 DAYS

Two Men Injured Also Expected to Die.

Two women were killed and two men received injuries which are likely to prove fatal in automobile accidents yesterday. The Cook county death total for the three days of 1924 advanced to 6.

Mrs. Madeline Hirschenfeld, 35 years old, of 315 South Humphrey avenue, Oak Park, was killed instantly when a motor truck driven by Joseph E. Macaluso, 620 North Kedzie avenue, struck her when at Harper avenue and 53d street. Two colored women were injured at the same time. Macaluso told police he had veered his truck to avoid hitting another woman.

Killed by Vampire Car.

An automobile which sped away in the darkness struck down Mrs. Vera Harvey, 29 years old, of 4433 Prairie avenue. She was picked up from the pavement at 42d street and Prairie avenue and rushed to Provident hospital. There she died several hours later.

John Gilda, 4349 West Madison street, received internal injuries last night when a taxicab hit him at Crawford avenue and Washington boulevard. Lawrence Durkin of 1361 Washington boulevard, the driver, took Gilda to Robert Burns hospital.

An Illinois Central freight train crashed into the car driven by 20 year old Donald Mason, 4719 Washington boulevard, at Crawford avenue and 33d street. The automobile was demolished and Mason was taken to St. Anthony's hospital to receive treatment for a fractured skull.

Oppose $100,000 Bureau.

Disapproval of the proposed $100,000 appropriation for the mayor's safety commission, as outlined by Ald. Frank J. Tomczak, was voiced yesterday by Coroner Oscar Wolff and Chief Justice Harry Olson of the Municipal court.

The former declared that $25,000 would be ample to maintain an adequate safety bureau, and the latter said the proposed expenditure was exorbitant. Ald Tomczak's plan calls for a commissioner at $5,000 a year, an executive secretary, a chief of staff, efficiency expert traffic engineer, statistician, chief investigator, and nine clerks and assistants. Educational campaigns during the year would cost $62,300, the alderman said.

SMALL LAWYERS DELAY HEARING, STATE CHARGES

Charges that the defense is doing everything in its power to delay proceedings were made by Assistant Attorney General Charles W. Hadley at yesterday's hearing of the $2,000,000 state treasury interest suit against Gov. Len Small.

Defense counsel accused the attorney general's staff of "playing politics" by trying to press the suit to an early conclusion. Both sides, it was evident, had the April primaries in mind.

The clash, one of many that occur daily at the hearing, came when Attorney Thomas Masters, one of the governor's lawyers, asked Master in Chancery Harry A. Riley to halt the taking of depositions on Jan. 14 so Masters could attend to other matters in the Sangamon county Circuit court. Mr. Riley took the motion under advisement.

A large part of the session was taken up by the defense in cross-examining bank employés on their "personal knowledge" of specific drafts and checks—instruments alleged to have been used by the late Senator E. C. Curtis and his brother, Vernon S. Curtis, in purchasing packers' notes.

Head of Chicago Syndicate Dies of Cold in Canada

Winnipeg, Man., Jan. 3.—[Special.]—Mounted police of the Edmonton division received word today that Norman Butterfield, principal owner of iron ore claims at Lake Athabasca, died at Fort McKay on Jan. 1 of pneumonia brought on by exposure. Mr. Butterfield, who was head of a Chicago syndicate, left Edmonton three weeks ago to revisit his claims in the far north and to carry additional provisions to a small party of men there. On the overland trip by dog team he encountered the coldest weather of the winter.

Nab Committee of Fifteen Sleuth in Extortion Plot

William Payne, 3517 Flournoy street, crack investigator for the Committee of Fifteen, of which Samuel P. Thrasher is head, was arrested yesterday following an alleged attempt to extort $500 from Joseph Gorman, manager of the Entertainers café, East 35th street and Indiana avenue.

Grossman, "Free Prisoner," Gets His Pardon at Last

Philip Grossman, former keeper of a west side grog shop, was handed his presidential pardon yesterday by United States Marshal Robert R. Levy. This followed Grossman's appearance before Judge James H. Wilkerson when his attorney petitioned that his bond of $3,000 be returned. A further motion on the bond will be heard on Monday.

GERMANY JOINS FRANCE PLAN FOR DEFAULT TO U. S.

BY HENRY WALES.

[Copyright: 1924: By The Chicago Tribune.]

PARIS, Jan. 3.—The new Reichburg plan for payment of the German reparations by ceding to France a 30 per cent interest in German industry is based on the United States and Great Britain cancelling the war debts due them.

The text of the projected accord, which Herr Reichburg, who was former Crown Prince Frederick William's aide de camp during the war, submitted to Premier Poincare today, provides for the paying to France of 25,000,000,000 gold marks ($6,250,000,000) indemnity—1,000,000,000 gold marks less than France's 52 per cent of the 50,000,000,000 gold marks A and B reparations bonds.

Favored by Paris?

Francois Coty, senator from Corsica and an intimate of M. Poincare, today defends Herr Reichburg's proposals in a newspaper which he publishes, causing a belief in informed circles that the French cabinet views the plan favorably.

Violent protests are expected from England over the Reichburg plan, which amounts to an economic entente between France and Germany, with the wedding of Alsatian iron ore and Westphalian coal. Experts of all nations are agreed that as long as these basic raw materials are divorced through the new frontier set up by the Versailles treaty Europe cannot recover economically.

Such an agreement, however, upsets the English aims for preferential treatment for French ore worked with Welsh coal.

Provisions of Plan.

The Reichburg plan in detail provides:

1. An accord based on figures of business done by various companies in Germany in December, 1923.

2. This article provides for the issuance of 30 per cent of the stock of all the companies in which the French wish an interest, all private concerns being reorganized as stock companies for the operation.

3. Provides that the German government take possession of 30 per cent of the inflation in the capital of all the companies and deliver this to France after agreeing with the German companies as to the amount of the indemnity to be paid.

4. Provides that the French government sell to French mining, navigation, and industrial enterprises these shares or else lease them.

Form of New Companies.

5. Provides that any increase in the capitalization of the various German companies in which France obtains an interest must be accompanied by the payment of an additional 33 per cent of new capital to France. It also provides that the French government guarantee a law providing for the sales of German shares outside of France.

6. Provides that the portion of German capital surrendered to France shall be entitled to a vote or a voice in the direction of the companies involved only for the fixing of dividends and not for general policy or other details concerning the exploitation of the concerns.

7. Contains a joker fixing definitely France's portion of the reparations of 25,000,000,000 gold marks in a provision regarding "The United States and England's renunciation of their claims on France." The article also states that the present schedule of payments shall be abandoned and that Germany shall be freed from making deliveries in kind.

Food from America.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

BERLIN, Jan. 3.—The first food sent by Maj. Gen. Henry T. Allen's relief committee in America for the relief of German children arrived today and was welcomed with the greatest good will by all. It is hoped that the organization will be able to feed 1,000,000 children who are in the greatest need. H. T. Brown of the Quaker organization has arrived in Berlin to prepare for the control and distribution of the food, which will be carried on by former representatives of the Quakers who are accustomed to the American system.

French Troops Get Out.

DUESSELDORF, Jan. 3.—[By the Associated Press.]—It is officially announced here that the general staff of the army of occupation will leave Duesseldorf during the first fortnight in January for Mayence. Gen. Degoutte, however, will maintain his headquarters in Duesseldorf. The various civil services now in Duesseldorf will be grouped together and remain there. The regrouping of French troops in the Ruhr and the Rhineland, which began Dec. 28, is continuing. Thus far seven infantry regiments have been withdrawn from the occupied regions.

N. Y. C. SUBMITS WAGE OFFER TO 15,000 WORKERS

New York, Jan. 3.—A definite proposal of wages and working conditions affecting 15,000 engineers and firemen of the New York Central railroad was submitted by company officials to representatives of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and Firemen at a conference tonight.

Both sides declined to make public details of the proposal. J. G. Walber, vice president of the road and chief of personnel, asserted the union officials could do so if they desired, but Warren S. Stone, chief of the brotherhood, also declined.

"We are not ready to give out anything now," Mr. Stone said. "We will confer again with the Central officials tomorrow afternoon."

Wage increases ranging from 12½ to 20 per cent are sought.

Mr. Stone again denied that the men involved would take a strike vote unless their demands were met.

Pictures Cause Inquiry on Chiropractic School

The Peerless College of Chiropractic at 1647 West Jackson boulevard is within the scope of the inquiry being conducted by the state department of registration and education, it was announced yesterday by A. M. Shelton, director of the department. Pictures of the Ashland Boulevard auditorium and the Cook county hospital in the institution's catalogue, with ambiguous captions, were the reason, Dr. Shelton said.

Mr. Williams denied he was familiar with details of the Straus affair, but admitted the banker had turned over his check. No jewelry was seized in Chicago, it was said. Mr. Straus was in this city a few days before Christmas, but his visit had no connection with the "jewelry case."

Letter Leads to Find.

According to information received from New York, the discovery of Mr. Straus' oversight was made possible through customs agents stationed in Europe and through an anonymous letter which advised that the banker's baggage be "watched closely."

Howard Esterbrook, special agent for the treasury, in comparing the lists forwarded from Europe, found certain articles had not been listed, nor had duty been paid on them.

"It was carelessness on my part," Mr. Straus explained at the time, it is said. "Of course, I knew I had the gems in my possession, but I was suffering much mental anguish, caused by domestic troubles. I simply forgot to declare the articles."

REBELS LOSE 500 IN MEXICO CLASH; PLANES ACTIVE

Figueroa No Longer Menaces Capital.

Mexico City (via Galveston), Jan. 3.—[By the Associated Press.]—The war department has received advices of the defeat inflicted upon Romula Figueroa, rebel, by Gen. Marcelo Caraveo in Zaculpan, a village in the state of Mexico, fifty-five miles southwest of the capital. The official report of the battle is as yet unreceived. It is reported, however, that the rebels incurred 500 casualties in killed, wounded and prisoners.

Figueroa, in leaving the state of Guerrero, invaded the state of Mexico with 1,200 men commanded by four of his chief lieutenants. Selecting Zaculpan for a stand, Figueroa awaited an attack from Caraveo, who had started in pursuit of the rebels. An aviation squadron bombed Figueroa's positions, forcing the rebels to come out into the open and give battle to Caraveo's men. After a brief but bloody battle the federals were victorious, disorganizing the rebels, who fled toward Guerrero.

Rivals to De la Huerta.

Press dispatches report that Manuel Garcia Vigil, governor of Oaxaca, has proclaimed himself substitute president, as did Rafael Zubaran Capmany, former minister of commerce and senator in Vera Cruz, both intending to contest De la Huerta as the presidential candidate, if the revolution is successful.

Peril in U. S. Arms Aid.

El Paso, Tex., Jan. 3.—[United News.]—If the United States tries to send arms and ammunition into Mexico the rebels "will block" the shipments, De la Huerta headquarters here said today. No one would say just how this would be done, however.

American army officers here feel certain that the action of the government in supporting President Obregon will lead to trouble along the border.

"It is a small step between sending guns and cartridges and sending men along with them," one officer said.

"Irate Huertistas are apt to make reprisals by shooting up American mines and ranches. American oil men in the Huastecas region may suffer. They will put it up to us to abandon our Monroe doctrine or to settle the trouble for injured foreigners. If our own people are slaughtered, as was the case at Columbus, N. M., we may be forced to intervene."

HUERTA ENVOY IN CHICAGO.

Señor Del Castillo, secretary of foreign affairs of the De la Huerta revolutionary faction in Mexico, arrived here late last night on his way to Washington to lay the revolutionaries' side before the department of state.

He came by steamer from revolutionary headquarters at Vera Cruz via New Orleans. He plans leaving for New York today, where he will confer with Enrique Salder, commercial agent of the revolutionaries, and from there proceed to Washington.

LEAGUE MAKES AUSTRIA BRIGHT SPOT IN EUROPE

[Copyright: 1924: By The Chicago Tribune.]

VIENNA, Jan. 3.—The beginning of the year finds Austria's situation the only bright spot in Europe. Albert H. Washburn, the United States minister to Vienna, in an interview today asserted that the experiment of the league of nations with Austria must be repeated in all other of the suffering European nations.

America's interest in the development of Austria is seen in the large number of questions received by the United States legation here from American merchants who desire to reestablish commercial relations with central Europe.

Chancellor Seipel asserts that the results of the first year's reforms following the Geneva protocol are encouraging. While the government saved 800,000,000,000 Austrian crowns of the loan through economy in 1923, they will be expended in 1924. The Geneva project foresaw a deficit in the 1924 budget of only 147,000,000,000 crowns, but today it is estimated that the deficit will be 236,000,000,000 crowns.

JAIL OR WATER CART FOR WETS, UPSHAW'S PLAN

Dixie Solon Wants Army, Navy to Fight Rum.

est Newspaper'—said of Upshaw of Georgia, Mr. Hill is a 'type' and THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE is a 'type'—they both represent politicians and editors all over the north who have foolishly made this charge against southern honor for half a hundred years.

"I declare, I believe with the approval of the great majority of my fair minded Republican colleagues, that the time has come for this un-American, cowardly, and groundless charge to stop.

"Passing over all the petty, pitiful personal flings made at me in THE TRIBUNE editorial, I go straight to the heart of the general charge against my colleagues as well as myself. THE TRIBUNE says:

"'If congress obeyed the fourteenth amendment, Mr. Upshaw might not be in congress, because the representation of his state would be reduced and he might be one of the lost congressmen. If his state obeyed the two amendments, he probably would not be there because he is a Democrat, and the blacks, who are not allowed to vote, are Republicans.'

Says South Obeys "Fourteenth."

"I make bold to answer and I dare any man on this floor or any editor in the union to give evidence to the contrary, that not a single state in the south is disobeying the fourteenth, either by statute or by racial intimidation.

"Gentlemen of the house, I speak the truth, I lie not, as Paul would say. I find no pleasure in the death of him that dieth, but Mr. Hill and THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE began this un-American business and I am forced to remember the declaration of that old Bible that I believe from cover to cover, 'Jonah, whale, and guord vine.' 'They who live by the sword shall perish by the sword.'"

Commenting on an editorial appearing in THE TRIBUNE on Jan. 10, 1923, Mr. Upshaw said:

"If this 'Red' editorial utterance had appeared on the editorial page of an organ of the I. W. W., or some other agitator against our American institutions, especially during the stress of war, the writer, and perhaps the owner of the paper, would have been put behind bars."

Follow Upshaw or Get Out.

"If there is anybody in Chicago or Baltimore or New York or in Boston or anywhere else beneath the American flag, who does not like the way we make our laws in America, I respectfully submit that the boats are still running to Russia. And I suggest that the first reservation on the next boat that leaves should be made for the editor of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE who wrote that defiant, treasonable editorial I have just read to you and who would doubtless make a welcome addition to the staff of the Moscow Mutilator or the Petrograd Pulverizer."

The Upshaw Program.

Mr. Upshaw's "booseproof" program follows:

"First: Let congress clean around its own door by passing a resolution declaring persona non grata to the floor of the house any member found under the influence of liquor in the capitol or house office building, or known to have liquor illegally acquired in his office.

"Second: Immediate deportation, without grace or privilege of returning to America, for all aliens found guilty of violating the prohibition law.

"Third: Make buyer of liquor equally guilty with seller, and imprisonment plus fine imperative in all cases.

"Fourth: Confiscation of all liquor in bond with fair payment by government; a special commission being appointed by the President to appraise value of said liquor.

"Fifth: Require pledge of total abstinence from all federal appointees, including consular and diplomatic representatives abroad, cabinet officers, and naval officers, and the executive guillotine for all such appointees who are known to drink the liquor outlawed by our constitution.

"Sixth: Employ the army and tre navy, if necessary, to prevent liquor smuggling and otherwise aid in prohibition enforcement.

"Seventh: Withdrawal of charter from all national banks and prosecution of all other banking institutions that extend financial aid to bootleggers or receive deposits from those known to be engaged in the illicit liquor traffic.

"Eighth: Let the state department respectfully request that all foreign governments discontinue sending to this country diplomatic and consular representatives who exert a demoralizing influence upon our official and social life by dispensing from their residences and offices intoxicating liquors prohibited by our laws to American citizens."

If He Were President.

In conclusion Mr. Upshaw said:

"If I were President in such a moral crisis, I think I would say: "Gentlemen, standing beside a new made grave in Marion, and looking into the faces of millions of trusting mothers and fathers and plastic boys and girls in our country, who are the tomorrow of this republic, I would declare without delay or equivocation that the White House shall be dry, the President shall be dry, all his appointees shall be dry, and I here and now call for the resignation of every executive appointee, including army, naval, and cabinet officers, who drink the liquor that has been outlawed by the Constitution of our country.

"That would have brought America to its feet—that would have electrified the moral forces of the watching world—that would put millions of praying parents to singing a glorious blending of the Doxology and the 103d Psalm, because the Day star had appeared on our official sky."

CONEJOS CREW SAVED, REPORT FROM BLACK SEA

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

CONSTANTINOPLE, Jan. 3.—[Tribune Radio.]—The captain of the American steamer Winona, just arrived here, reports that the crew of the American steamer Conejos, 10,000 tons, which struck a floating mine 120 miles off Poti, Russia, last Friday and sank, was rescued by two Russian life saving boats before the Winona arrived. The crew numbered eighty-five.

U. S. TURNS OVER CAMP GRANT TO ILLINOIS GUARD

For the first time in its history the Illinois National Guard, now federalized under the title of the 33d division, will have a permanent and adequate camp.

Maj. Gen. Milton J. Foreman, commanding, announced yesterday that the United States government had given the state of Illinois the use of Camp Grant at Rockford, to be the established training center for the division.

To all intents, the grant is perpetual. The site reverts to the government only in time of national emergency.

At the last general assembly of the state legislature $225,000 was appropriated for refitting the camp and for maintaining the division during its training period. The bill was passed on condition of a satisfactory agreement with the war department. Transfer of the camp has been consummated, the work of reconstruction to begin immediately, Gen. Foreman announced.

Camp Grant was created immediately after the declaration of war in 1917. It was used by units of the 33d division, and later was the training ground of the 86th or Blackhawk division.

WESTERN UNION INSTALLS DIRECT WIRE TO LONDON

London, England, will be connected with Chicago by wire for the first time on Jan. 7, when one of the Western Union Telegraph company's seven trans-Atlantic cables is cut through at New York and direct instantaneous service between the world's largest city and the second city in America is inaugurated.

Mayor William E. Dever will be asked to file the first message, directing it to the lord mayor of London, and it is to be followed by others from the Chicago Association of Commerce, the Chicago Board of Trade, the Illinois Chamber of Commerce, and the Illinois Manufacturers' association to like organizations abroad.

ARREST 57 IN POOLROOM.

Fifty-seven men were taken into custody last night by Des Plaines street police when they were found in a poolroom at 610 West Madison street, after a fight had been reported in progress there. Police say the poolroom is a haven for "jack rollers" and other petty thieves.

To Advertising Men:

An old established, fully recognized advertising agency, of ample financial strength, with a Chicago office, finds it necessary to expand its present organization here. This provides an unusual opportunity for some one who can immediately increase our present business and may interest a smaller agency that will consider consolidating with a larger and stronger organization.

An especially advantageous arrangement will be offered anyone in position to meet our requirements.

Correspondence, which will be held confidential, is invited. Address E E 462, Chicago Tribune.

With Value and Saving hand in hand, overcoats and ulsters go to beat the band. Were $60, $65, $70 and $75. Now $45.

BRITISH LEADER THREATENS KING WITH REBELLION

Hodges Warns George Against Trickery.

BY JOHN STEELE.
[Copyright: 1924: By The Chicago Tribune.]

LONDON, Jan. 3.—[Tribune Radio.]—"The Labor party has no quarrel with the crown. We have profound faith in the impartiality of the king, which no political intrigue should be permitted to destroy," Frank Hodges, member of parliament and one of the labor leaders and general secretary of the Miners' Federation of Great Britain, said at Tamworth tonight regarding Mr. H. H. Asquith's hint that the king could refuse to grant Ramsay MacDonald authority to dissolve parliament after having sent for him to form a government.

"The labor movement," Mr. Hodges said, "believes that the crown will not provide any obstacle to its democratic aspirations, but if, because of backstairs influence this belief is shattered, then good-by to political evolution. The country will drift into the rapids of a revolution."

MacDonald to London.

Ramsay MacDonald, Labor leader, left Lossiemouth today and is expected in London on Saturday or Sunday, when he will have the big task of reconciling the conflicting elements of the party. The trade unionists insist on the biggest share of offices, while the chief of this section, Arthur Henderson, is trying to decline office. He has been persuaded, however, that it is necessary for him to take a cabinet post. Mr. Henderson, who is the secretary and chief organizer of the party, preferred to remain at the headquarters looking after the party machine and preparing for the next election. He is an able organizer and wire puller, and will be invaluable in keeping in check the wilder spirits of the party.

Another difficulty is in finding enough men of ministerial capacity. There are about sixty offices for the new government to fill, all which must be held by members of parliament, and the party has only 192 members in the house. This means that one out of every three in the party will be an office holder.

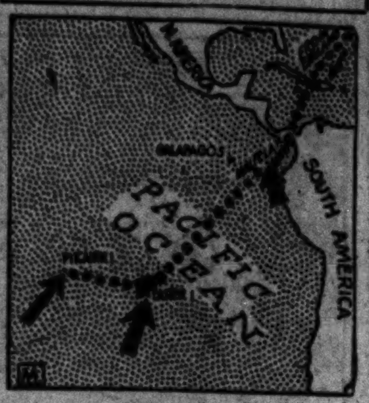
Tories Are Divided.

The cabinet met two hours to discuss the king's speech to the opening of parliament and the future policy of the conservative party.

It is reported that a majority of the members favor dropping protection definitely as a Conservative policy, in view of the unmistakable decision of the country in favor of free trade at the last election. There is considerable difference of opinion on the policy of trying to secure a combination with the Liberals to keep Labor out. Prime Minister Baldwin and some others are opposed to this chiefly on the ground that they are sure that the Liberals would refuse, but some die hard Tories favor making the attempt.

No final decisions were reached and several more meetings will be held before the formal opening of parliament on Jan. 15.

EXPLORERS



LONDON.—[United News.]—The good ship St. George, lying at Dartmouth, is ready to sail on its voyage of exploration in the southern Pacific. Eight British scientists solved the problem of financing their voyage by inviting seven passengers paying $3,500 each to make the trip with them. Seven hundred cases of supplies have been loaded on the craft for the 300 day voyage, and departure is expected within a few days. The ship carries parcels to be delivered to the Pitcairn island folk, that strange out of the way colony of Seventh Day Adventists. At Easter island the scientists will make paper molds of many of the great grotesque images there, relics of a prehistoric race.

If a landing can be made, the explorers will visit the island of Malpelo, which is little more than a great rock, measuring a mile long and a half a mile wide. So far as is known no attempt has been made to explore this islet in seventy years. But a navigator who tried to land there in 1849 found that a set of steps had been hewn in the rock face that rises almost sheer out of the sea. The little known island will be extensively photographed and filmed.

DEVELOP NEW X-RAY CANCER CURE TUBE; USED INTERNALLY

New York, Jan. 3.—[By the Associated Press.]—Development of a new X-ray tube for cancer treatment, with such high emissive power that the time required for exposure of patients can be reduced from two or three hours to twenty minutes, was announced tonight by Dr. Francis C. Wood, director of the Crocker Institute for Cancer Research at Columbia university.

Dr. C. T. Ulrey, research engineer of the Westinghouse Lamp company, is the inventor.

Dr. H. C. Rentscheler, director of the Westinghouse research department, announced that another process was being perfected which would extend the use of X-rays to internal cancers, for which no electrical treatment yet had been devised.

The new X-ray machine, which has been used successfully at St. Luke's hospital for three months, enables specialists to treat a much larger number of persons and to treat them more effectively than at present, said Dr. Wood.

FRENCH WARN U. S. AGAINST AIR VOYAGE TO POLE

Experts Cite Disastrous Fates of Dirigibles.

BY HENRY WALES.
[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
[Copyright: 1924: By The Chicago Tribune.]

PARIS, Jan. 3.—French aviation experts agree that it would be suicide for the American dirigible Shenandoah to attempt a flight to the north pole next summer.

"Lighter than air craft are still in their infancy, and too much cannot be expected of them now," a former dirigible officer said today. "Germany's ill luck with its Zeppelins during the war, when the Zeppelins made short cruises across the North sea to bomb London, prove this. The north pole flight would raise many of the same problems which may have been responsible for the Dixmude's loss.

"The colossal metal covering of rigid airships contracts and expands with heat and cold, warping and weakening the entire structure. Also sudden differences in temperature affect the gas and the fabric balloons inside the shell.

"In case the Shenandoah encountered a snowstorm it would be driven down through the enormous weight of the snow envelope and it is probable that, if there was no snow, that ice from mist vapors would form a thick coating over the aluminum shell, adding tons of weight."

FATE OF DIXMUDE

BY DON SKENE.
[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
[Copyright: 1924: By The Chicago Tribune.]

TOULON, France, Jan. 3. — The French dirigible Dixmude crashed, burning and exploding, into the Mediterranean off Cape San Marco, near Sciacca, Sicily, during a storm on the night of Dec. 21. Every one of the fifty men on board undoubtedly perished—torn to bits by the explosion, burned by the flames or drowned like trapped rats under the sinking airship's bulk.

This official theory was told to THE TRIBUNE representative here this afternoon by Admiral Clement, director of the French naval search for Dixmude survivors, upon the receipt of a grim message from the torpedo boat Spahi, a member of the fleet combing the Sicilian coast for clews to the great air mystery.

The Spahi reported the discovery today of an empty aluminum gasoline tank, several pieces of partly burned wreckage and bits of burned tissue off Cape San Marco, near the place where fishermen found the body of Commandant Du Plessis de Grenadan.

Capt. Quatrefage, the admiral's aid, and other officers at the naval headquarters, expressed a belief that today's discovery tells its own story of the Dixmude's fate.

"We now for the first time are forced to believe the Dixmude and its entire crew were lost on the night of Dec. 21-22," Capt. Quatrefage told THE TRIBUNE. "We will continue a most careful search along the Sicilian coast, but we have no hopes of finding any more bodies."

Linens—Paris announces Linens for the Riviera. They come in clear colors and white with the artful simplicity of delicate embroidery, eyelets, or lovely hand-blocked designs.

"Boutonne" designs combine their irregular knotted weave with the filmiest of voiles and French eponge. Prints too, more dainty in size and quaint than last year's; and embroideries as delicate as the vein-tracery of a young leaf, are seen in many fabrics.

The Colors favor the picturesque tones with which the Russian and French artists are delighting both Europe and America in their brilliant ballets and the Chauve Souris.

Occasional Furniture Complements Favorite Living-room Corners

THE smaller pieces in the living-room are delightfully important contributions to its general setting. In the possibilities of their arrangement and placing, chiefly in corners seemingly made for them, they effect the studied carelessness which counts so much in the pleasant informality of the living-room. It may be a Chair, decoratively upholstered, and very comfortable; a small Table, so attractive in successful grouping, or a Mirror just suited for a particular wall space. A few typical pieces are suggested.

End and Octagonal Tables

The End Table is oblong, finished in dark mahogany. It is priced $6.75. The Octagonal Table is mahogany finished, special value at $9.75.

Large Velour Armchair

Built to perform its restful duties properly, with a low seat and a sloping back, upholstered in cut velour of fine quality, it is priced $49.

Polychrome Mirror, $5.75

Wall Mirrors enjoy a great vogue which can be as readily expressed in such very moderately priced designs as these. In polychrome frames.

SHALL THE PANAMA CANAL STRANGLE THE MID-WEST?

The appeal of officials of three western trunk line railroads to the interstate commerce commission for a reduction of freight rates on many westbound commodities, in order to meet the competition of the Panama canal, brings important economic and political questions to the fore. These officials contend that the cheaper rates of coastwise carriers from Atlantic ports through the canal to Pacific ports is imposing a hardship upon the railroads which imperils their usefulness. As the situation now exists, the railroads cannot compete with the ocean borne freight in the east to west trade. As a result they are forced to haul three empty freight cars to the Pacific coast for each loaded car, so that they may handle eastbound Pacific coast freight.

The hardship is obvious. Either the railroads must be allowed to cut the westbound rates as they wish, in order to load the cars now running empty, or they must raise the eastbound rates on products which must come by rail, to make up the difference. If neither change is allowed, the earning power of the railroads will be so crippled as to cripple service, with great loss consequent to the vast areas they now serve. That would be folly of the worst sort.

It is a situation which the Atlantic coast especially, and to a lesser degree the Pacific coast, looks upon with perfect equanimity. Neither area seems to realize that they are cemented together as a nation, and are supplied with most of the necessaries of life by this great middle western territory which they so willingly penalize.

Eastern politicians are of an entirely different type from the La Follettes, the Brookharts, the Magnus Johnsons, the Shipsteads, and their kind, who make such an uproar and accomplish so little. The east has a different point of view. It is not idealistic, demagogic, visionary, and futile. It is practical, selfish, and effective. While many of our western politicians are fulminating on theories of government our neighbors in the east are seeing to it that the Panama canal is being operated for their benefit, that their harbors are improved, that their electric power for manufacturing, etc., is doubled in effectiveness by establishment of a super power system, and that business is improved for them in various tangible ways.

It is to be feared, in the face of such difference in the effectiveness of the influence of the coastal and interior regions and the blindness of California interior cities, which oppose the rate changes asked, that the interstate commerce commission may not grant the permission asked. It is possible that the commission, like the inland cities, may not see that refusal will cripple the railroads and thereby impose greater hardships on potential shippers.

If that is the case, and even if it is not the case, a proper move would be toward raising the toll rates on the Panama canal. That simple action would accomplish various beneficent results. It would make the canal not only capable of paying for itself, but would make it a profitable investment which might help to reduce taxes. It would tend to balance competition between railroads and coastwise steamship lines, which is now all in favor of the steamships, through what amounts to government subsidy. It would give the interior of this continent something like an even deal with the coasts, which it has never had.

SLEEPING ON OUR RIGHTS.

Mr. John Steele, chief of THE TRIBUNE'S Foreign News Service in Great Britain, says that the British government is showing some anxiety over French loans to the Little Entente and Poland. We have not been able to ascertain what the total amount of these loans are, but reiterated report places them at a considerable figure. British concern is twofold. The loans are largely military supplies to be bought in France. They therefore not only imply military policies which hardly seem conducive to European peace but they also, by increasing the debts of the recipients to France, affect seriously the standing of their debts to Great Britain.

Though we waive the political and military implications of these loans, we must share the British view of their effect upon the financial condition of these countries who are also our own debtors. We also wonder how France, which has taken the position that it cannot consider payment of our loan until she receives reparations from Germany, is nevertheless able to make large loans to other countries.

The situation seems to us to require more attention than it is getting from our government. Is the debt funding commission under orders to do nothing, or is it paralyzed by some policy of its own, or has it the sleeping sickness? We shall never get what is owed us by a voluntary act of our debtors. Polite hints are worthless. Our historic experience proves beyond question that we are not paid until we make it safer to pay than not to pay. We have no disposition to persecute or oppress. But we have a right to payment or to a clear understanding of why payment cannot be made. If our debtors can lend and borrow large sums among one another they can pay at least something on their debts to us and it is time our government take vigorous action to that effect.

THE BOYS IN ELIJAH'S TAVERN.

Ninety per cent of Chicago's government and politics still sits in Elijah Wentworth's tavern, where lodging for the night is 12½ cents and breakfast two bits, with a half pint of rum for a quarter. There is duck shooting in the branches, canoes are hauled up on the river bank, and cordwood is being cut up about Chicago avenue and over at Halsted street.

From a place behind Elijah's stove Ald. Wiley W. Mills, a first rate spokesman for our far-seeing village management, discusses the probable needs of the place, which seems likely to have a half dozen families added to it next year.

Mr. Mills says that subways would be a mistake, although he would not uncompromisingly oppose them if property owners wanted to build them by special assessment. He is unalterably opposed to using the subway fund to build subways. Elevated roads are recognized in metropolitan transit as second best. Mr. Mills will have none of the best but more of the second best. He wants no subways but many elevated extensions. He wants the building limit reaffirmed at 260 feet. That, he thinks, will break down the loop.

Wherever the Mills idea, which prevails in official Chicago, finds a natural law of progress the immediate object is to stop it artificially. In this city it is assumed that the experience of metropolitan development in all other great cities is wrong and that what they did to become great must not be done here.

The Chicago loop, that obsession of little Chicagoans, is already broken down. Rapid transportation would erase it completely. It is the creature of the inadequate service which the city hall wants to municipalize and wholly rely upon.

The great buildings which are being erected even under restrictions which limit them are being put up outside the loop for the most part. They are out on Michigan boulevard, north and south. Even without transportation the city is moving north. Nearly all the great building projects are outside of the loop, either north, west, or south. They are retarded by our looping transportation.

Subways would spread building in every direction. They would develop every region they touched, no matter where it is. That is metropolitan experience elsewhere. It means nothing in Elijah Wentworth's tavern.

The limitation of building is more hamstringing of natural procedure. A building should serve its purpose. If it is served better with forty stories than with four, it should have forty. Where does Chicago get the idea that if a dead hand is placed on enterprise there will be development? Where does it get the idea that if it slows street cars down and limits the size of buildings it will spread out and grow big?

The Mills school of municipal thought would have opposed the Northwestern plank road a hundred years ago on the theory that it would enable too many people to get to Wentworth's tavern, Robinson's trading house, and La Framboise's store.

We are proceeding now on ideas that were backward a hundred years ago.

The boys will now leave Wentworth's stove. Some will paddle out to the sand bar to shoot ducks and some will go to Beaubien's field to dig potatoes.

They have settled these radical ideas of making tomfool changes in a village which is good enough as it is.

WHEN CONGRESS REPEALS NATURAL LAW.

Congressman John L. Cable of Ohio is restudying the citizenship law he had passed. It allowed an American woman to retain her citizenship if she married an alien and it did not confer citizenship if an alien woman married an American. It does not always disturb an American law if it is found to be against nature and common sense, but Mr. Cable seems about to confess that a mistake has been made.

The idea that families need not have common nationality was one of the eccentricities of feminism. The old rule that the wife took her husband's nationality and was granted it without further formality upon marriage was regarded as another inconsiderate act of man, humiliating to womanhood.

This rule was the natural rule of family unity. The new law is against nature. Some Americans marrying European women have not been able to bring them into this country because the quota limitations of the immigration law barred them out. We might just as sensibly have provided that the children should draw straws to discover whether they were American or British, French, German, Italian, or what not.

It is not sound nationalism to have American families part American and part something else in allegiance, or to have American women voters under alien marital influence. There are enough American voters interested in things which do not promote American interest.

Editorial of the Day

ANARCHY OR HYPOCRISY.

[Cedar Rapids (Ia.) Gazette.]

A Davenport minister preached a sermon on the subject, "The Way THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE Sows Anarchy in the Land." After reading editorials on the subject of prohibition from THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE the minister said that if the defense act, operative during the war, were still in force THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE would be barred from the mails.

The minister's criticism illustrates the difficulty of being loyal to the law and the constitution and at the same time working toward the repeal of an amendment. It is not long since the minister was criticizing the law and the constitution as being inadequate and he worked for an amendment. But he did not consider his own criticisms of the constitution anarchical.

It seems that it is perfectly proper to criticize the constitution if you intend to amend it, but that it is anarchy to criticize it if you hope to repeal an amendment. This is interesting.

THE WE BOYS mocked at us yesterday because we said in a series of stories from Hollywood that it was a very nice, cultured city with a lovely home life. We do not retract a syllable. We merely call attention to the fact that the young people involved in a recent stirring incident are not members of the oldest and most socially select families of Hollywood. The Misses Normand and Purviance reside in New York, Mr. Dines in Denver, and Mr. Kelly, alias Mr. Greer, the artillerist, in quite a number of places remote from Hollywood—one of them being the state penitentiary at Oakland. Each one had as much to do with "the home life of Hollywood" as the Milky Way has to do with the milk strike in Chicago. However——

RICKETS.

THERE is a good deal of new matter to tell about rickets. In addition to the bowlegged and knockkneed, the pigeon breasted, funnel chested, and others with twisted bones, there are many people who arrived at maturity after a childhood somewhat influenced by rickets. There are mild cases that are never recognized as rickets. These are important even though they do not cause death nor register as permanent twists of bones. In no other disease is the power of nature to cure better shown.

Rickets is a disease of darkness. It flourishes in the winter time, because, between the shortness of the day, the cloudiness of the air, and the increase of smoke and fog, the sun does not get a proper chance.

It is a disease of cities because in cities people live in caves, rooms are dark, and the sunshine cannot get down between the buildings.

It is a disease of Negroes and Italians, because the large amount of pigment in the skin in the people of these races prevents sunlight from reaching the deeper tissues.

In rickets lime is not laid down in the bones as it should be. In the first place, the diet eaten may be deficient in lime. In the second, the lime eaten may not be absorbed from the intestinal tract. However, these are of secondary importance. As a rule, it is found that enough lime is eaten and enough is absorbed. The trouble is that the lime absorbed is thrown off by the excretory organs and is not fixed in the tissues. There is some disturbance of the relation between lime and phosphorus in the body and it is because of this that the lime is not fixed in the tissues.

The most powerful influence in maintaining a proper relation between lime and phosphorus, and, therefore, fixing lime in the tissues, is light, and especially sunlight.

But cities cannot tear down their tall buildings, widen their streets, multiply their playgrounds, nor order a sun parlor and sleeping porch into every dwelling. They cannot send their dusky hued children to southern California for the winter.

Cod liver oil is a moderately good substitute. In it there is a fat soluble growth principle that is almost as specific as sunlight.

Drs. Burnham and Smith tell us that in Cleveland clinics all Negro babies more than two months old are given a daily dose of cod liver oil. In New York they did the same thing a number of years ago. I was told yesterday of a fair haired Norseman who was so impressed by this idea that he has moved his babies into a new home in an open region and feeds them cod liver oil daily.

Research is showing the presence of this same fat soluble vitamin in other regions and in other animals. It seems probable that the strain of all alone protecting a dark skinned world living in smoke darkened caverns may be transferred from the shoulder of the self-sacrificing cod.

There are inheritance factors in rickets. It is well for a woman who would protect her baby from rickets to begin some months before the baby is born. The milk of women whose babies are rickety is somewhat deficient in lime. There is some paternal responsibility as well. It is well for a man who contemplates becoming a father next winter to spend his winter playing golf in Florida.

WAITED TOO LONG.

D. F. J. writes: About a year ago, while playing ball, I was struck on one of my fingers with a pitched ball. It immediately became swollen and since that time the knuckle has been sore and somewhat larger than the rest. Local doctor told me at that time it would adjust itself and get O. K. but it has failed to do so. I can bend it about half way down when I close my hand. It gives me a great deal of trouble. Could you advise me what I can do to enable me to bend it with the rest of my fingers?

REPLY:

Baking, cooking and massage will help some.

You are probably in for a permanent deformity. Attention when the trouble was fresh might have cured. But you are late.

If there was much that could be done, the prima donnas of baseball would have pretty hands.

HUSBAND PREFERS BLONDES.

M. R. writes: May I ask in your question column if there is anything injurious to the health by using camomile tea on the hair as a bleach. My husband prefers light hair and in order to lighten it, I rinse it with this tea.

REPLY.

Nothing.

Pleasing one's husband is not always so harmless.

BITING FINGER NAILS.

M. R. writes:

1. Does nervousness cause the biting of nails?

2. Would some chemical put on the nails prevent biting them without endangering the mouth?

REPLY.

1. It does. The basic trouble in nail biting is instability of the nervous system. To effect a complete cure, training is essential.

2. Yes. Quinine is used for that purpose.

A JOB HALF DONE.

Chicago, Dec. 31.—[To the Legal Friend of the People.]—I employed a dentist to do some work on my teeth. He made a contract to do all the work necessary for a certain sum of money. He did not do all the work he promised to do, but sent me his bill. I paid him all but $10, and I do not feel I ought to pay that. Can the law force me to pay that? J. P.

ASHES SPREAD.

Chicago, Dec. 31.—[Friend of the People.]—Why aren't the ashes hauled away from our alley? This is the 6600 block of South Mozart avenue. There are enough ashes of my own to make a full load. W. E. M.

The superintendent of the Eighteenth ward made a personal investigation of this complaint and found that ashes complained of were an accumulation from last winter recently placed in alley. Ashes were spread in the alley as it is about two feet below grade and ward superintendent is filling it in at the present time.

SPRINGFIELD BUREAU CHICAGO TRIBUNE,
Springfield, Ill., Jan. 3.

Lawrence Y. Sherman, who as a member of the Fortieth General Assembly voted for the infamous Allen bill, was today nominated by the Republicans in the House as their candidate for Speaker. The nomination was made by acclamation, no other candidate being named.

Certain men who have said all along they did not want an Allen law man for Speaker of the House sat there like so many dummies and made no objection of any character. They did not so much as suggest the name of any other candidate. They fell down and worshiped the golden serpent.

Madrid, Jan. 3.—General Rios cables from Manila confirming the report that all the Spaniards at Balabac, an island of the Philippine group, situated thirty miles south of Palawan, have been assassinated with the exception of the women, whose release is being asked for.

Savannah, Ga., Jan. 3.—[Special.]—The Fourth and Ninth Illinois Regiments sailed for Havana this morning on the big transport Mobile. Several thousand people were gathered on the wharf before the vessel pulled out into the river.

Calcutta, Jan. 3.—The new Viceroy of India, Lord Curzon of Kedleston, and Lady Curzon arrived here at 5 o'clock this afternoon, and were received by the government officials and the military and civil authorities at the Howrah station of the East Indian railroad. The volunteers and native infantry furnished a guard of honor and gave the royal salute.

New York, Jan. 3.—[Special.]—The Advisory committee of Plymouth Church, Brooklyn, at its meeting tonight unanimously resolved to recommend the Rev. N. D. Hillis, D. D., of Chicago to the congregation as the successor to Dr. Lyman Abbott. This action was taken after the report of the subcommittee which had visited Chicago to hear the preaching of Dr. Hillis had reported.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Houghton, Mich., Jan. 3.—[Special.]—The United States government mediator has failed in his efforts to settle the conflict between the striking miners of the Calumet district and the mine managers. John B. Densmore, solicitor of the department of labor, announced at 10 o'clock tonight that he was unable to bring about a truce.

The mine managers refused absolutely to meet the terms of the Western Federation of Miners.

Richmond, Va., Jan. 3.—Personal letters received here today from Madrid by friends of Ambassador Willard report the engagement of the ambassador's daughter, Miss Belle Willard, to Kermit Roosevelt, son of Theodore Roosevelt.

The wedding, it is said, will take place in the spring, probably here in Richmond, the home of the Willards.

Boston, Mass., Jan. 3.—[Special.]—A new interpretation of the Divine Being was advanced today by President Emeritus Charles W. Eliot of Harvard in a continuation of his predictions on the religion of the future.

Dr. Eliot would bar the word "God" and substitute "Our Father." Nothing so radical as his ideas on the appellation of the Divine Being has been advanced for many years. This statement has been published by the American Unitarian association.

Addison Stillwell yesterday afternoon married Miss May Henderson Peabody and set a fashion in bridal flowers which may be difficult for the average bridegroom to follow. His bride's bouquet was a great armful of real orange blossoms and gardenias, with lilies of the valley as a shower. The eight attendants of his bride carried almost as large bouquets of lavender orchids with shower arrangement, making such a floral procession as seldom has passed down even the St. James Episcopal church aisle, where most of the elaborate ceremonies of the last few years have taken place.

LET'S TRY COMMUNISM, SINCE CAPITALISM HAS FAILED.

Chicago, Dec. 30.—Your editorial, "The Human Ostrich," is a very clever apology and attempt to bolster up the fallacies, injustice and unsoundness of the unscientific capitalist system which is really responsible for the present woes of mankind.

You quote Lord Birkenhead as an authority for military preparedness as nothing more or less than following the evolutionary law of progress. Why, then, all this abuse of the late kaiser and the militarists of Germany, since they did so much for the progress of mankind?

The capitalist system is unscientific because it is absolutely wasteful. It thrives on war and racial animosities. In the words of Lord Birkenhead, "the world continues to offer glittering prizes to those who have stout hearts and sharp swords." In other words, "might makes right" and "take what you can and the devil take the hindmost." Koretz was a most consistent believer in capitalism; he simply followed its teaching to its logical conclusion, since capitalism is a skin game all the way through.

Surely capitalism has been tried and is proven to be an utter failure. Why not advocate a more just and scientific economic system? M. J. FLEMING.

HOW SAFE ARE CHICAGO SCHOOL BUILDINGS?

Chicago, Dec. 29.—I see by this morning's paper, "Chicago's schools are perfectly safe," declared Mr. Doherty.

The one my daughter attends is not safe, the Perkins Bass, located at 6554 May street, which was built about thirty years ago, and has around 1,300 children in attendance daily.

I call it the biggest fire trap in the city, without a fire escape on it, and old wooden stairs. This is a three story building. Who would be responsible in case of a fire? I suppose there would be another investigation to fix the blame when it is too late.

One other thing, the sewer on the northeast side of 66th and Racine avenue is in terrible shape; every time it rains the children cannot cross the street without getting their feet wet. It takes days for it to drain away; this condition has existed for years. These conditions have been reported before, but there has been no action. A DAILY READER.

HOPE FOR HUMANITY.

Chicago, Dec. 31.—I want to congratulate you upon the article by "Scrutator" in SUNDAY'S TRIBUNE entitled, "Breeding Better Folks Held Way to Lower Taxes."

This article is on the right track and will do a lot of good in telling the taxpayers of a means whereby later we can bring about the reduction we need in this field.

This article is well and skillfully presented. It carries the punch.

Let me call your attention to a book just published of great significance by A. E. Wiggam, entitled, "The New Decalogue of Science." This is, perhaps, the boldest book on this subject yet printed.

FOR MORE ICE SKATING FACILITIES.

Chicago, Dec. 31.—With the coming of the season for winter sports, the time now seems ripe to voice a plea in favor of more and better facilities for skating. Skating, the ideal cold weather sport, furnishes healthful exercise and amusement for people of all ages, and it may be made as strenuous or as moderate as desired. Without a doubt it constitutes a great boon to good health and well being during the winter months.

Let us have more skating, speed skating, straight skating, and, particularly, more figure skating. Perhaps the most fascinating of all the sports on ice, figure skating, has not had enough enthusiasts in late years. It should have a particular appeal to grownups, for with it there is not the danger of over exertion.

In order that skating may be better enjoyed by its devotees all over the city we should have more ponds, and better ice on our ponds. The park authorities have done much for skating, and I am now putting forward a suggestion which I hope may be followed. Instead of the primitive scrapers now used in the parks, which merely clean the surface, a device should be employed, drawn perhaps by a small tractor, which will shave the ice to a smooth surface, and then be followed by a sprinkling cart, thus filling in the cracks and giving the ice a glassy smooth surface.

Last of all, may I express the hope that at some time not far away Chicago may have an indoor skating rink, which a city of our size deserves.

HOLLYWOOD IS AN INSPIRATION TO A REAL REPORTER.

Chicago, Jan. 2.—Edward Doherty's report of the latest shooting in Los Angeles is, to my mind, an almost perfect piece of reporting. Without waste of words and without explanation, he paints the whole picture. You are to be felicitated on having a man like him on the ground for a job like that.

In saying the above I recant. Months ago this same Doherty had an interview with the mother of Mary Pickford which was a fine piece of work, and I wrote to THE TRIBUNE saying it was good work, but that a man who could do such work should be put on better work—Washington or something like that. You replied that it was such good work that you had wired Mr. Doherty an increase in salary, which I hope was so (though I have no desire to dictate the pay roll of THE TRIBUNE), and not a rhetorical retort to make me cry "Touche!" I can see that you know your business, and that such a vivid reporter as Mr. Doherty would never do on members of congress.

Maybe Doherty can in a measure correct the notions most people have concerning their movie heroines. "Had become almost cold sober" is a cameo of description. W. F. YOU

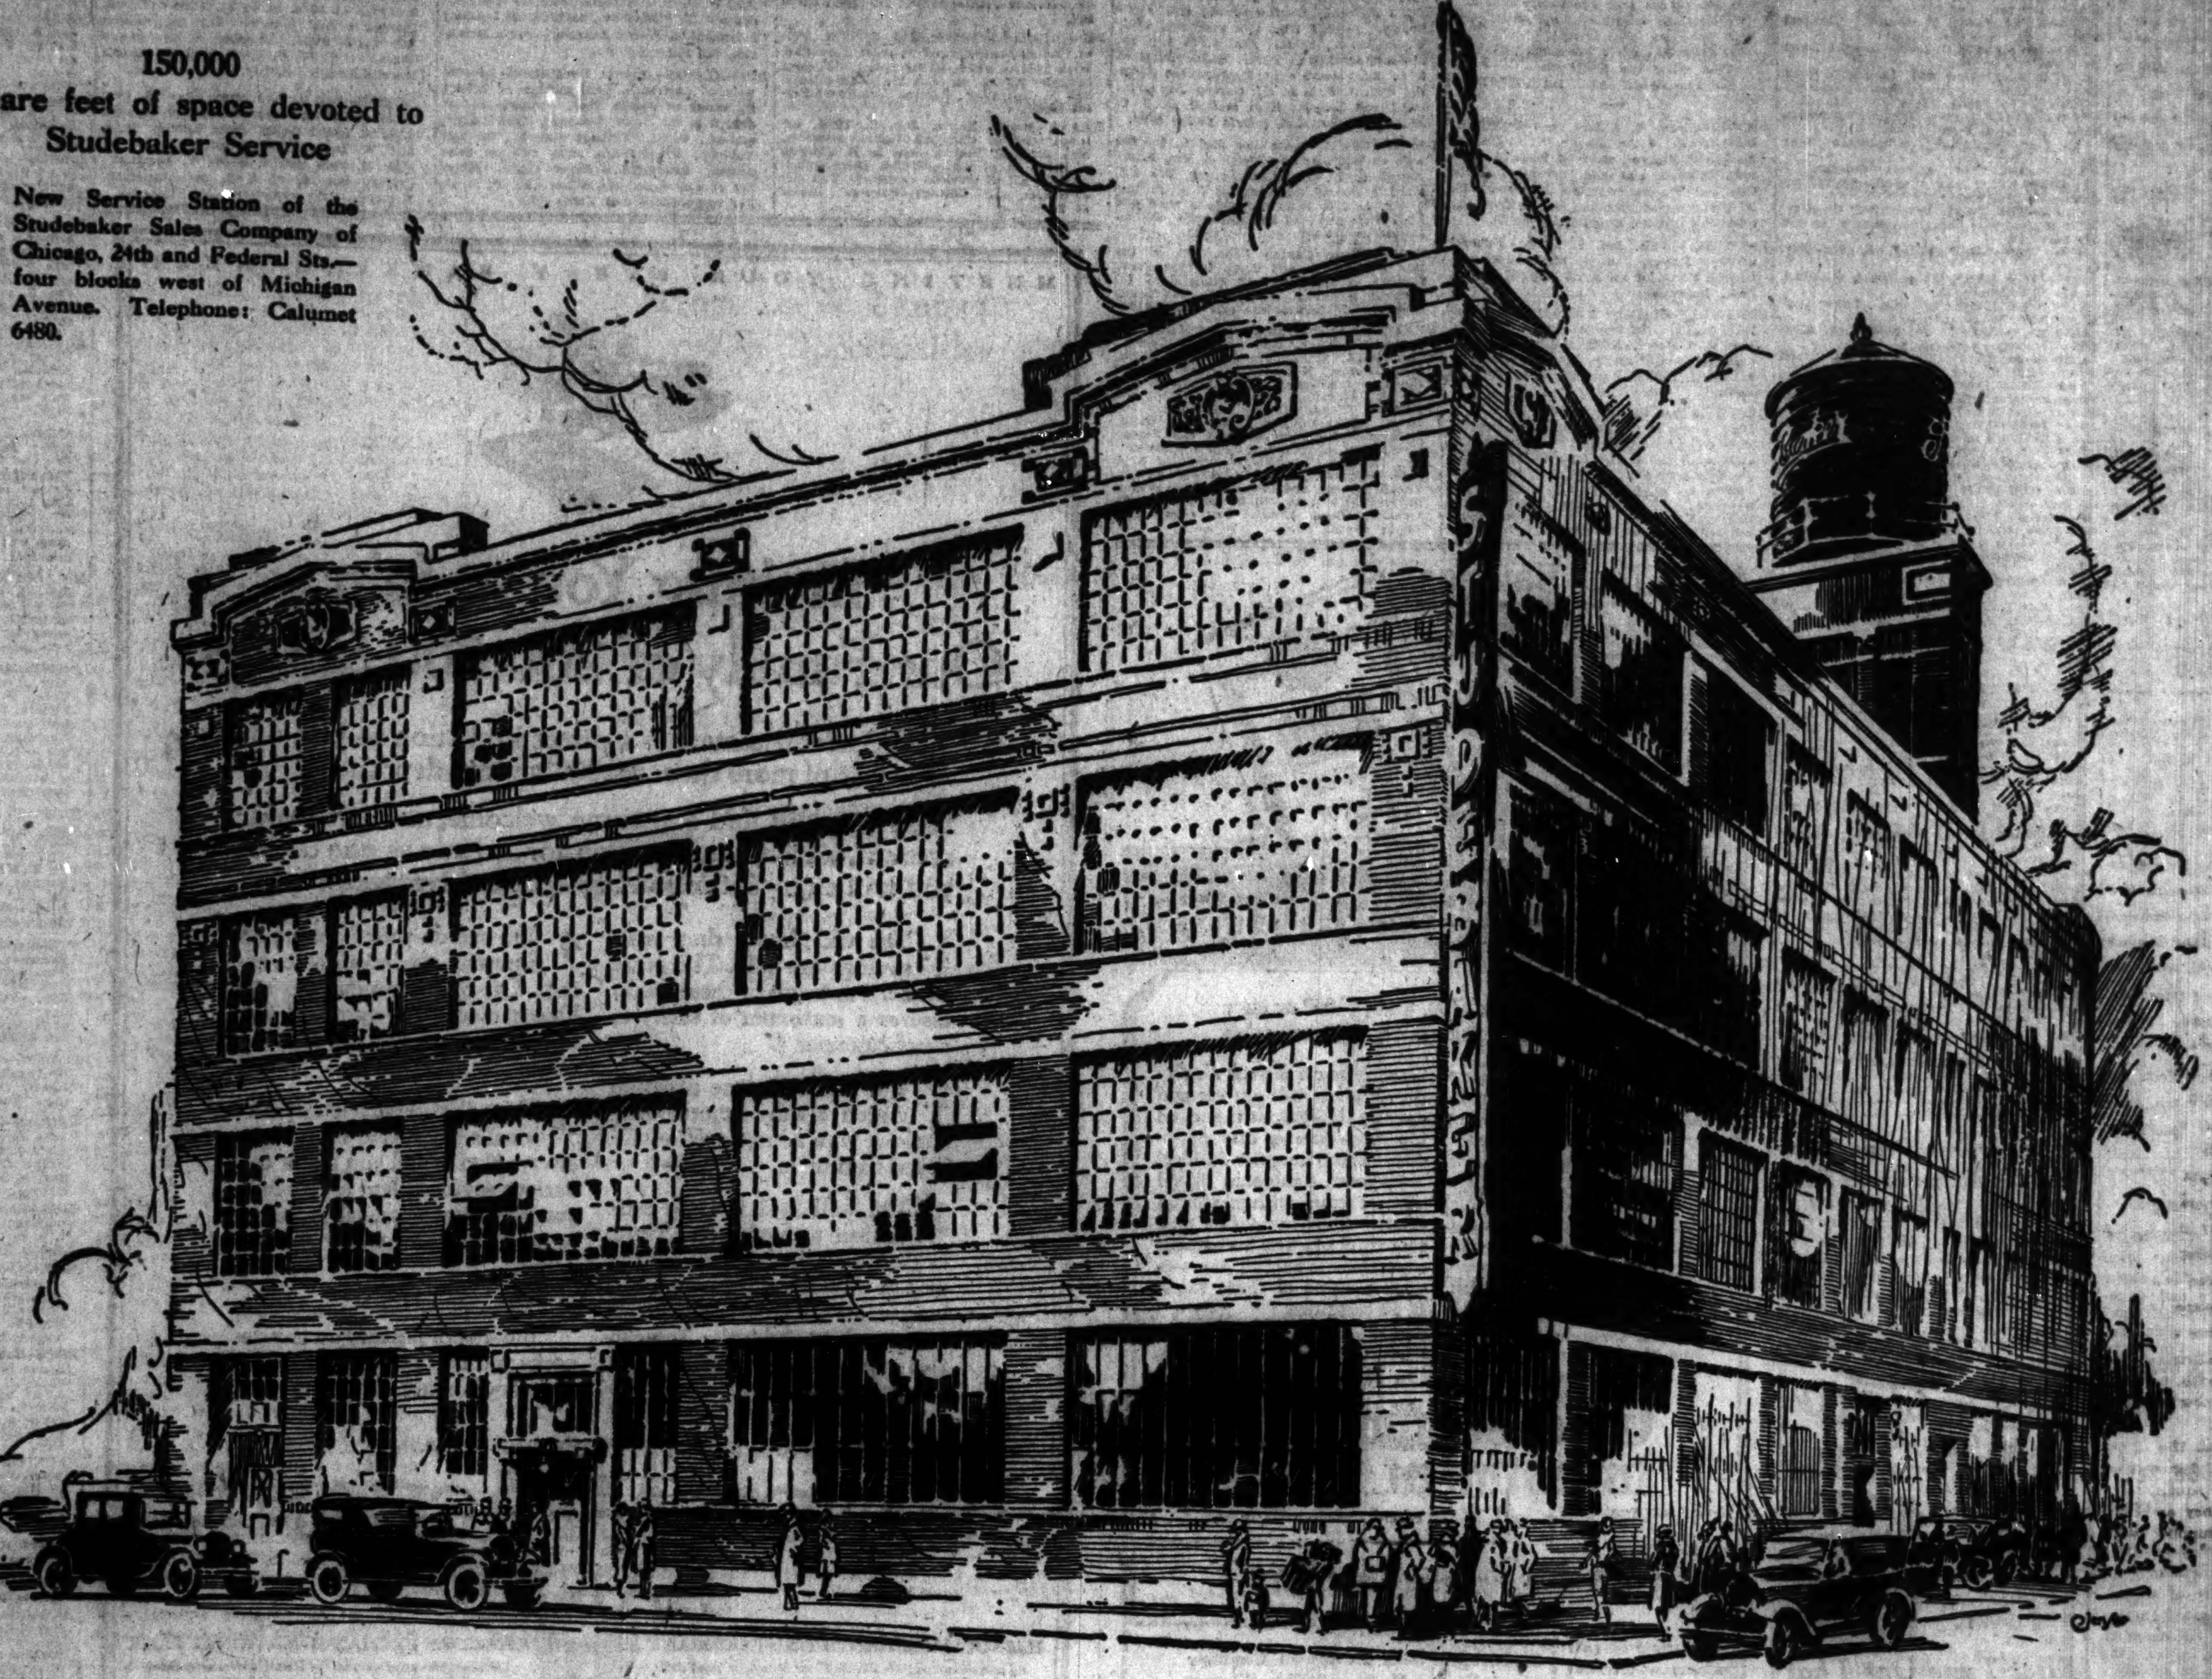
Studebaker Service

New Service Station of the Studebaker Sales Company of Chicago, 24th and Federal Sts.—four blocks west of Michigan Avenue. Telephone: Calumet 6480.



To serve you better

RIGHT in the heart of Chicago's automobile district, at 24th and Federal Streets, just four blocks west of Michigan Avenue, we have established a large and complete Service Station where Studebaker owners will at all times receive prompt attention and courteous, efficient service.

Our new Service Station occupies an entire city block; is fire-proof and modern in every respect, and has four floors with a total of 150,000 square feet of floor space.

All departments are equipped with the most modern shop appliances for service on Studebaker cars and with time-saving tools which do better work at less expense to us and naturally to the car owner.

Only skilled mechanics—men who know Studebaker cars—are employed here. This means that you will receive efficient, painstaking service at moderate cost.

A noteworthy feature of our Service is that we operate on the flat rate system. This means that you authorize the work as well as the price, before any work is performed. You pay only the charge agreed upon, regardless of the ultimate cost to us.

A special department is maintained for Painting, Upholstery, Seat Covers, Body Work; in fact, we offer you every facility needed for your car at any time.

A well appointed waiting room, where you and members of your family can be comfortable while your car is receiving minor adjustments, together with locker rooms where tools, robes and other loose articles can be safely kept, are other features that will win your appreciation.

The entire facilities of our new Service Station are available to the thousands of Studebaker owners in Chicago, their families and their chauffeurs. Service calls will be answered promptly during working hours and, if a service car be needed, just phone Calumet 6480—any hour of the day or night.

Throughout this splendidly appointed building there is reflected our desire to make your ownership of a Studebaker car cause for permanent satisfaction. We invite your inspection of our large fire-proof building, and of its high-class and efficient service equipment. A visit, we are sure, will prove a revelation to you.

DRAIN BOARD TO USE COURT MOP ON BUBBLY CREEK

Will Ask U. S. Writs to Halt Sewage.

Immediate court action designed to prohibit packing plants and other industries from using Bubbly creek as a conveyor of sewage was ordered yesterday by the sanitary district trustees. It is expected Attorney Clyde L. Day, counsel for the board, will file petitions for federal injunctions early next week.

The board issued its orders after Chief Engineer Edward J. Kelly had declared that the Bubbly creek problem must be settled without further delay in view of the fight now in progress to obtain authority for withdrawal of additional water from Lake Michigan.

Pass $38,000,000 Budget.

A 1924 budget totaling $38,021,929 was approved by the trustees. More than $30,000,000 of the amount is to be expended in construction of huge sewage disposal plants and other improvements, including completion of the McCormick highway.

A budget item of $350,000 is intended to cover additional pumping facilities at 39th street. Health Commissioner Bundesen recently expressed a belief that inadequate sewage disposal facilities in this district might account in part for a large number of typhoid cases throughout Woodlawn last fall.

Other projects included in the budget are $500,000 for dredging the Little Calumet river in order to complete the Calumet Sag channel, and $2,400,000 for the construction of three bridges over the main channel—one at California avenue, which is partly completed, a second at Crawford avenue, and another at Cicero avenue.

For Lake Works $2,500,000.

For the erection of controlling works at the outlets of Lake Erie and Lake Ontario, $2,500,000 is provided, in order that the district may be prepared to proceed should the lake level controversy be favorably settled during 1924.

Members of the Association of Sanitary District Trustees of Illinois, of which W. C. Field of Decatur is president, will meet with the board at 9 o'clock this morning and inspect Chicago treatment plants.

Union Fines Mader $5,000; Suspends Him for 5 Years

Fred (Frenchy) Mader, erstwhile business agent of the now disrupted fixture hangers local 381, was fined $5,000 and suspended for five years in a verdict returned by a union trial board last night. Mader, in charges preferred several months ago, was alleged to have appropriated union funds. Local 381 some time ago affiliated with local 134, electrical workers.

U. S. PUBLISHES SOVIET BOAST OF N. Y. FOOTHOLD

Washington, D. C., Jan. 3.—Secretary Hughes resumed the aggressive today in defense of the administration policy of refusing to deal with soviet Russia while that government continued to direct revolutionary propaganda in the United States.

The state department made public a translation of a long communication "to American communists" signed by G. Zinoviev, which appeared in the issue of Dec. 14, 1923, of the Moscow Pravda, the translation including the following note carried by the Moscow paper in explanation of the article:

"Written at the request of the American comrades for the first number of the daily communist newspaper [in English], Daily Worker, which will appear from Jan. 1, 1924, in New York."

Zinoviev is "president of the Petrograd soviet, president of the communist international, member of the all-Russian central executive committee, and member of the federation central executive committee."

The article translated hails the advent of a daily communist daily newspaper in America as a "great event not only for the American labor movement, but also for the whole communist international."

DETROIT WINS AS CAR LINE OWNER, CITY CLUB TOLD

Detroit's municipally owned and operated street railway system "has been successful in every sense of the word," members of the City club were told yesterday by Henry Steffens Jr., former Detroit controller and financial adviser to that city's department of street railways.

"Operating on a 6 cent fare, with an additional cent for the transfer privilege," he said, "the system has paid all expenses, including taxes, and provided a pro rata amount monthly for sinking fund and interest charges.

"It has increased car mile and car hour efficiency and spent large sums rehabilitating the property and purchasing new cars."

Which Came First
The Apple or Its Skin?

Who ever heard of fruit growing without a protecting skin? Nature protects its food in the making with an airproof, dustproof skin. Puncture that skin and the air carries in a thousand destroyers of vitamins.

Hydrox drives the air out of the freezers in which Hydrox Ice Cream is made. Replaces ordinary air with Nature's food atmosphere of clean carbon dioxide.

That's what we mean when we say Hydrox is—

I. C. TO PREPARE TO CARRY 300,000 COMMUTERS DAY

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

THE TRIBUNE editorial of yesterday, "A Traction Dream," was presented to President Markham of the Illinois Central yesterday for comment. He came right back with "another dream" on which he hopes to realize within a few years and wants that result before he considers the editorial suggestion.

As a beginning in relating the Markham "dream" let it be recited that the Association of Commerce one day last June counted all the passengers entering and leaving all of the steam railway terminals in Chicago. That showed 263,957 passengers coming in and going out of the stations. Of these 214,332 were users of suburban trains and the remaining 49,625 were travelers by through trains.

Plans for Big Increase.

The Chicago railway terminal commission made a partial check last month and estimated the suburban traffic of the steam roads at 236,000 passengers.

President Markham is planning a carrying capacity on the approaching electrified service of the Illinois Central which will be larger than the aggregate traffic of all the roads as estimated by the railway terminal commission. It will be larger than all the traffic, both through and suburban, on all the roads as reported by the Association of Commerce for last June.

The size of that "dream" may be further indicated when it is disclosed that the average "haul" of the Illinois Central suburban trains in 1918 was a trifle more than 35,000 passengers a day. Mr. Markham is anxious to provide facilities for nearly nine times that number.

75% Above 1918 Traffic.

The average daily haul is now 75 per cent above the year the world war ended. The average daily number of passengers for each of the six years follows:

1919	41,891	1922	60,247
1920	52,947	*1923	61,493

*For eleven months only.

Taking the two tracks on the elevated loop and the count of passengers during rush hours by city investigators for rapid transit reports, it will be easy for the I. C. to get facilities for more than 300,000 passengers a day on four tracks.

GEN. WOOD'S SON READY TO AID IN OIL STOCK QUIZ

Washington, D. C., Jan. 3.—Counsel for Leonard Wood Jr. announced today that their client was ready to render any assistance possible to those members of congress who have sought an inquiry into his oil stock transactions.

Recently Senator Caraway [Dem., Ark.] and others have asked that Mr. Wood's financial ventures be inquired into along with those of his brother, Lieut. Osborne Wood. They have urged Representative Frear [Rep., Wis.] to broaden his pending Philippine resolution so as to include an investigation of the finances of both of the sons of Gov. Gen. Leonard Wood, but so far Mr. Frear has declined to do so.

Leonard Wood Jr. is head of the Acme Production corporation, one of the many oil companies which have come under investigation by the postoffice department in its general inquiry into the oil stock situation. The inquiry has been in progress for several months, but so far no action has been considered feasible.

brick, steel, and concrete. For hours after the explosion the shrieks of these dying men were carried to rescuers who could not reach them.

The heat was the first barrier to the rescue of any who might still be living. All day and far into the night streams of water were played into the ruins. The torrents of water quickly froze, coating the débris with ice, making approach dangerous.

The weight of the débris also made it virtually impossible for rescuers to reach the buried bodies, and huge mechanical cranes were used to pull the freight cars from under the mass, so that other cars could be brought in to take away the covering of the bodies. The work was slow, wreckers fearing the blasted walls would totter and crash.

Acts of Heroism.

The other buildings still partly standing housed most of those now in the hospitals and were the scene of many acts of heroism that mingled with the suffering and the horror. It was long after the explosion that some escaped alive from these buildings. Frank Litchweiss, son of a deputy sheriff, was on the third floor and when escape by stairway was cut off he sang to keep his fellow employés calm. When the flames almost had reached him he jumped from a third story window. He may live.

Chief of Police Guy McGuire told of the sufferings of others who came out of the flames alive, and also of the valor of physicians, nurses, firemen, and policemen. He responded with an ambulance to the first alarm, then commandeered trucks and called for more ambulances. Bringing victims to the city and taking back medical supplies kept Chief McGuire busy all morning. He had every drug store in Pekin open by 3:30 a. m.

The burns of the men were terrible, he said. Many were naked, their clothing either burned off or torn off by the force of the blast and the flying glass. First aid was given at the emergency hospital on the grounds; then the victims were taken into town.

The Pekin public hospital received eighteen; then private homes were thrown open and used by the doctors and nurses who were fast arriving. Ten were taken to St. Francis hospital in Peoria.

The plant, which covers twenty acres, employed 750 men in three shifts. Marshal Gamber estimated the property loss at $750,000.

HIGH PLACE ON DEMOCRAT SLATE ASSURED WOMAN

Any Candidacy Except Governor Opened:

BY PARKE BROWN.

Upon motion of George E. Brennan, the Democratic county managing committee yesterday voted in favor of including a woman candidate on the state ticket.

As the Cook county delegation will constitute nearly half of the advisory state convention at Springfield, on Jan. 15, which will make up the regular slate, and as that slate is expected to carry in the primary, the committee's action became the basis for general predictions that the Democrats will nominate a woman for an important state office this year for the first time in the history of Illinois.

Important Place for Woman.

Offices of that description that are to be filled this time are those of governor, lieutenant governor, secretary of state, attorney general, state auditor, and state treasurer. Brennan's motion, although not specific, covered these six offices. There is also a possibility that the offices of the two congressmen at large might be considered as "state offices." He already has gone on record in favor of Norman L. Jones for governor, but all the other five are open to a woman candidate.

The committee meeting was held to discuss plans for the advisory meeting. Chairman Martin J. O'Brien called upon Mrs. Catharine Waugh McCulloch to speak for her sex.

Adopt Brennan's Motion.

But as she arose Brennan asked her to waive for him and, after briefly telling of the gratitude felt toward women for their services to the party and the state, offered his motion that it be "the sense of the meeting" that a woman should be included on the ticket this year.

Mrs. McCulloch deprecatingly referred to nominations for state university trustees as within this category, but Brennan explained that he excluded that office from consideration, as that has been in the women's field for years. Then Mrs. McCulloch suggested that a well qualified candidate for state superintendent of public instruction might be found among the women, but Brennan again replied, saying that office is not to be filled this year. The action on his motion then was unanimous.

The committee also unanimously indorsed for renomination the two Democratic local officials whose terms expire this year—Dennis J. Egan, chief bailiff of the Municipal court, and P. A. Nash, member of the board of review. Brennan and County Treasurer P. J. Carr spoke warmly of their records in office.

Browne Off on Own Hook.

Representative Lee O'Neil Browne, independent Democratic candidate for governor, repudiated the leadership of George E. Brennan as state Democratic chieftain last night in a campaign speech at 64th street and Western avenue.

He said the voters were tired of voting for hand picked candidates and for that reason he had picked himself. He announced he will make a state-wide campaign on a wet platform.

Hiram Johnson, who spoke last night in Cleveland, O., will arrive in Chicago tonight.

SMALL, PLEASING HEARST, STIRS UP LUNDIN REVOLT

Orders Malone Made Tax Chief; Clash.

BY FRANK BUTZOW.

Gov. Small patched up a threatened mutiny in one camp of followers yesterday, only to stir up rebellion and desertion in other quarters.

Yielding to pressure applied by Roy D. Keehn, representative of the Hearst newspapers, the governor cracked his whip and told the state tax commission to name William H. Malone of Park Ridge as its chairman. In making this order he went directly against the wishes of Fred Lundin, Percy B. Coffin, and other lieutenants of the state administration, including Malone's four colleagues on the tax commission.

Clifford Older May Resign.

On the heels of the Malone order came rumors of the planned resignation of Clifford Older, supervising engineer of the division of highways, nationally known expert in highway construction and "brains" of the governor's pet department—the highways.

Older's resignation has no connection with the tax commission shakeup. The highway expert, who has worked for the state ever since Charles S. Deneen was governor, resigned rather than see the great Illinois highway program prostituted to politics, it is declared.

Keehn's demands for the Malone appointments are understood to have been made in a letter threatening withdrawal of Hearst newspaper support from the governor if the demand was not met. This letter, it is said, was delivered to Small in Kankakee on Dec. 9 by Malone himself.

Malone Powerless, Claim.

While the pressure from Keehn was at its strongest it was hinted that Commissioners Oscar Carlstrom, Fred E. Erickson, Charles Francis, and J. D. Telford would resign rather than take the whip over their shoulders and name Malone. Telford was made chairman temporarily after Coffin's resignation and the appointment of Francis to fill the vacancy. Carlstrom and Erickson, who are said to control Telford, hold the whip hand on everything the commission can do, and they have a willing ally in Francis, whose appointment was dictated by Coffin and Lundin.

For this reason it is now declared none of them will resign, because, although Small has yielded to Keehn's demand, Malone will be powerless to handle the commission.

Malone first broke into the tax spotlight when he attacked Frank O. Lowden, then governor, during the legislative session when the tax commission was created. Lowden compelled Malone to retract his charges.

Older's resignation, according to word from Springfield, will be tendered to his superior, C. R. Miller, director of public works, as soon as Mr. Miller returns to the capital from a political mission on behalf of the governor.

Blast Kills Landlord, Drives Families Out

Walter Salzman, 70 years old, was killed and several families were driven from their homes yesterday when a leaking gas main caused an explosion at 1941 Wabansia avenue. Salzman, owner of the building, was found buried beneath the debris. Windows in houses for several blocks were shattered by the explosion.

HEARING SHOWS PARENT SCHOOL CONDITIONS LAX

Many Recent Escapes, Judge McKinley Finds.

Taking into his own hands yesterday a hearing into the dismissal of Allen M. Klein from the staff of the Chicago Parental school, Superior Judge Michael L. McKinley developed that:

1. Fifty-one boys have run away from the school—some of them several times—in the four months since O. J. Milliken, superintendent there, took charge on Sept. 1.

2. Military training was summarily abandoned when Supt. Milliken went into office; and Supt. Milliken instituted in its place a system which even he could not explain.

Started After Klein Early.

3. Early in November, long before Klein was discharged, Milliken wrote to Superintendent of Schools Mortenson enumerating certain alleged breaches of conduct on Klein's part, saying: "I don't want to start anything I can't finish. If you don't think this is enough, I'll lay low and wait for some greater breach."

Judge McKinley drew this information from the testimony of Supt. Milliken himself. The court continued the hearing until today after Supt. Mortenson testified that he discharged Klein simply on Mr. Milliken's recommendation.

School Board Involved.

The hearing itself grew out of a petition by Attorney Eugene L. McGarry, who alleged that Klein was discharged as a result of testimony he gave last fall before the grand jury in the inquiry which culminated in discharge of three instructors and their wives and former Supt. Fred E. Smith. Attorney McGarry in his petition demanded that the whole school board show cause why they should not be held in contempt of court for ordering Klein's dismissal.

"Why did you stop military training in the school?" Judge McKinley asked. And Milliken replied: "Because it creates bullyism, tattling among the pupils and teachers, blind obedience, and creates a false impression for boys of 7 to carry guns. Because it creates the mob spirit."

"That mob spirit, as you call it, was a pretty good thing for this country during the late war, wasn't it?"

"Not Right for Boys.

"O, yes," the superintendent hastily replied, "it may be all right for grownups, but not for boys."

Testifying as to the fifty-one runaway boys, Mr. Milliken said none of these had run away from the cottage in charge of the discharged Klein. He admitted ten of the boys had escaped from the cottage of another family officer not censured or discharged.

"But that runaway business, that escaping," he testified, "I don't consider that as serious."

"O, you don't?" inquired Judge McKinley. "And what if they all ran away?"

Mr. Milliken smiled: "It might be a good thing," he said.

"I dare say you are right," retorted the court dryly.

BLOW COSTS HIM $100.

Peter Kallas, 28 years old, 4858 Magnolia avenue, was fined $100 and costs yesterday by Judge Peter Shwaba in the Englewood court on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon. Emil Collins told the judge that Kallis struck him on the head with an iron bar when he criticised the Thanksgiving day turkey.

Winter Vacations
POPULAR WITH BUSINESS MEN

Canadian Pacific Cruises To West Indies Favored

"Give me a month away from business in the middle of winter, and I'll live longer than if I retired at 40," said a well known banker, discussing vacations. There are two West Indies Cruises one sailing from New York on Jan. 22, the other on Feb. 23.

Start After Inventories

Men planning on a winter holiday appreciate this schedule, as they can clean up the board meetings and inventories of the New Year, and yet leave so as to escape the worst weather of winter. In Chicago, at least, February and March are the most wearing months, while at this time the West Indies and South American Cruises are most attractive.

Sail From New York

As these Canadian Pacific Cruises leave from New York, it gives an opportunity to take care of business there before sailing. They also end in New York. The magnificent Empress of Britain accommodates both cruises, and at the conclusion, sails for Liverpool, from New York on March 27.

Only a Month

The fact that these West Indies Cruises take only a month from business, makes them especially interesting to busy men. It is a good time of the year to get away, the children are safe in school, and everything on these Cruises is Canadian Pacific Standard—the ultimate in travel comfort. Fares are $250 up.

Three Other Cruises

—all under Canadian Pacific management: Round the World on Empress of Canada, from New York, Jan. 30, fares $1600 up. Round America, Empress of Canada, Vancouver to New York, Jan. 4, fares $400 up. Mediterranean Cruise, Empress of Scotland, from New York, Jan. 14, fares $800 up.

ADMIRAL PALMER TO BOSS ALL U. S. MERCHANT FLEET

Emergency Corporation Is Revived by Plan.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 3.—[Special.]—Appointment of Leigh C. Palmer, retired rear admiral of the United States navy, as president of the Emergency Fleet corporation was agreed to tonight at a conference at the White house between President Coolidge and the shipping board and members of the merchant marine committees of congress.

Selection of Admiral Palmer as head of the organization directly in charge of the operation of the government's merchant marine was suggested by President Coolidge as the result of a series of conferences with the admiral and others.

A chairman of the shipping board will be selected by the President in the next few days, and in view of the appointment of Admiral Palmer as head of the Emergency Fleet corporation, it is believed that one of the present members of the board will be named as chairman.

Senators Attend Meeting.

This outcome of the conference tonight at the White house was announced by Senator Jones, chairman of the senate commerce committee. The conference was also attended by Senator Fletcher [Dem., Fla.], Chairman Green of house merchant marine committee, and Representative Edmonds [Rep., Penn.], prominent member of the house committee.

The Emergency Fleet corporation will be operated separately from the shipping board along lines advocated by Senator Jones.

Adopt Lasker's Plan.

The plan of reorganization was put through by the board under Chairman Lasker and provided for five vice presidents of the Emergency Fleet corporation.

The appointment of Admiral Palmer as head of the fleet corporation will make more effective than ever the plan of reorganization adopted under the chairmanship of Lasker and the idea of Senator Jones that the government fleet should be operated directly by the Emergency Fleet corporation.

The appointment means nothing more nor less than that Admiral Palmer will be the "director of shipping." His selection at the request of the President will make him virtually in supreme command of the operation of the fleet.

DISCUSS PANAMA CANAL'S EFFECT ON RAILROADS

Railroad witnesses again were on the stand yesterday at interstate commerce commission hearings in the Great Northern hotel on the petition of the transcontinental freight bureau to authorize a rate reduction on certain westbound commodities to meet Panama canal competition.

S. H. Johnson, traffic vice president of the Rock Island lines, told that road's need for more revenue.

L. E. Wettling, statistician for the western railways, submitted technical testimony indicating that, because of the prevailing preponderance of eastbound rail traffic, carriers could afford to take on much additional freight destined for the Pacific coast.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 3.—[Special.]—Developments in the tax situation today included action by the house ways and means committee on a number of administrative provisions of the treasury bill, introduction in the house of a bill to reach the tax exempt securities and in the senate of a resolution seeking information from the treasury on profits of corporations.

The bill affecting tax exempt securities was introduced by Representative Frear [Rep., Wis.], radical Republican member of the ways and means committee, who proposed that income received from state and municipal securities shall be considered taxable. In a letter to Secretary Mellon Mr. Frear expressed the opinion that a constitutional amendment is unnecessary.

His bill provides that the act shall not be held unconstitutional by the Supreme court without concurrence of all but one judge and shall remain in effect notwithstanding any decision by a lower court pending final determination by the Supreme court.

Opposed to Split Decision.

"By one vote the Supreme court emasculated the income tax amendment and exempted over $2,000,000,000 of stock dividends from personal income tax during 1922, largely destroying the value of the income tax provisions of the constitution," said Mr. Frear in his letter. "Now trained constitutional lawyers contend that the Supreme court would hold net income from municipal bonds, state bonds, and similar securities tax free.

"My plan is to require nearly unanimous decision of the court on a controverted legal proposition wherein hundreds of millions of dollars annually are to be gained or lost to the government."

Among administrative provisions of the treasury bill approved by the ways and means committee was that which limits deductions for losses in the sale of capital assets to 12½ per cent to correspond with the provision in the law limiting the tax on capital gains to 12½ cent.

Wilson Calls Conference.

The committee, on motion of Representative Green, restored a provision of the present law which requires that corporations in extending net losses for one year over two subsequent years shall offset these losses by whatever dividends may be received from other corporations.

Word that Democratic leaders of the senate and house had been called into conference with Woodrow Wilson, with whom they discussed tax revision legislation and other matters, aroused interest in party circles at the capitol, but developed no tendency toward a change in the Democratic attitude.

Mr. Wilson is understood to have made no effort to lay down a policy for the party spokesmen in congress.

GAMING KEEPER FINED $100.

John Paulis, 1317 West Madison street, was fined $100 and costs yesterday in Des Plaines street court by Judge Newcomer on the charge of being an owner of a gambling house.

Disabled Vets to Act as Permanent Coroner's Jurors

Disabled war veterans today will supplant the old "hangers on" who in the past have served as permanent coroner's jurors at the county morgue. Ten men, recommended to Coroner Wolff by the American Legion, yesterday were questioned and accepted for jury service by the coroner. The fee of $1 per case will earn the ex-service men an average of $125 a month, the coroner said.

Present Final Accounting on E. A. Cumimngs Estate

Administrators of the $4,000,000 estate of Edmund A. Cummings, real estate broker, yesterday presented their final account in the Probate court and were discharged. With the exception of $54,000 in specific bequests, the entire estate remains in trust, the income being paid to Cummings' widow, Mrs. Ellen M. Cummings of Oak Park, and to a daughter-in-law and three grandchildren.

A Want Ad Made Christmas Merry

A Tribune Want Ad made at least one Merry Christmas this year. Mrs. A. P. Born, 111 East Chicago avenue, lost a beaded bag in Marshall Field's December 21. Thinking the bag had been stolen, she hesitated before buying a Want Ad to find it. However, on Christmas Day she inserted the Ad shown below:

BAG—LOST—BEADED, IN FIELD'S men's store, Friday; rew. Superior 4403.

"I did not expect to see the bag again," she said, "so it was a pleasant surprise when it was returned on Christmas day as a result of a single Tribune Want Ad."

Tribune Want Ads know no holidays. They serve efficiently every day in the year.

NEW PETITION AGAIN HOLDS UP "L" BOND SALE

Diversion by Samuel Insull of $6,000,000 from surplus profits of the Chicago Elevated trust to cover losses sustained by him as receiver of the Chicago and Oak Park Elevated company, was charged in a petition filed yesterday before Circuit Judge Hugo M. Friend.

The petition filed by Edward S. Grossman, holder of 5,501 participation shares in the trust was part of a suit brought several months ago to enjoin sale of $14,000,000 in stock of the elevated companies and to dissolve the trust, which has controlled the companies.

Sale Again Postponed.

Filing of the petition caused a third postponement of the sale in New York of the securities which were posted to secure $14,000,000 in gold notes issued by the trust in 1914 and since defaulted. The proposed sale is the prime step in a reorganization plan which will consolidate all of Chicago's elevated roads under a company controlled by Mr Insull and the Commonwealth Edison company, of which he is head.

The sale was to take place today, most of the interested persons having already gone to New York. Henry K. Robbins, chief counsel for the Insull and traction interests, agreed to postpone the sale for twenty-four hours. Judge Friend will hear arguments on the petition today.

Previous Injunction Reversed.

The petition asserts that had not the $6,000,000 been advanced to the Oak Park company, ample funds would have been in the trust's possession to pay the interest and part of the principal on the $14,000,000 note issue

An injunction granted by Judge Friend restrained the sale, but his ruling was reversed by the Appellate court, which held the charges in the original bill were vague assumptions, suspicions, and conclusions. The high court held also that shareholders in the trust, as parties to it, could not attack it as unlawful.

PEOPLES GAS CLUB NEWS

A NOTE OF EXPLANATION:

This advertisement is, frankly, an afterthought—thus: The Peoples Gas Club (in which the employes and officials of the company are self-organized for social and recreational purposes) publishes a little semi-monthly newspaper for the gas company "family" called the Peoples Gas Club News. The editor of the News, seeking a "feature" for his New Year's number, issued an invitation for answers to this question: "What was the most important event in the history of the company for 1923?" The answers showed such spontaneous unanimity throughout the company organization, in thinking of service to the public first, that we felt they would be interesting to our customers. Hence, this reproduction of them as they were published, grouped around President Insull's New Year's greeting to the company "family," in the Peoples Gas Club News of January 2.

President Insull's New Year's Greeting to Everyone employed by The Peoples Gas Light & Coke Company

We have all had a good year. We are all going to have a better one, I believe, in the twelve months onward from January 1, 1924.

Our business grows steadily and healthily. Financially and in the physical condition of its properties, our company is in better condition than ever. Our customers, representing practically the entire population that has access to our service, are coming to know us, and, I believe, to like us better and better; and this bettered state of relations with customers bespeaks improved morale and higher efficiency in the working organization and especially amongst those of us who have direct contact with the public.

These reflections and conclusions are, for all of us, especially appropriate to the season. There is no thought more heartening than honest consciousness that we are going forward, and intend to keep on going forward, year by year, both as a great business organization and as individual units in that organization.

I use the words "we" and "our" and "us" because this that I am saying concerns all of us alike; the least as well as the highest amongst us; the newest recruit in our organization as well as the veterans.

As the success of the company is advanced by the co-ordinated efforts put into it by each one of us, so each one of us shares in that success in direct proportion to what we contribute to it. There is no room for doubt as to that. Company history carries on every page the proof that office boys of today are the executives of tomorrow; and the individual successes, in turn, are won as company success is won, namely: by doing each day's work a little better than that of the day before.

Again I think we are all to be congratulated that we are in the public utility business. There is a comfortable steadiness and certainty in it, with abundant opportunity for individual advancement, plus the gratifying knowledge that we are engaged in furnishing a service which is essential to the well being of the community.

I most sincerely extend to you the compliments of the season.

Samuel Insull

Three-quarters of all the gas we sell is sold through 3, 5, and 10 light meters. For several years the consumption per meter of the 3, 5, and 10 light meters has been decreasing. During the year 1923 this loss has been checked and a small increase is now apparent.

The Life Insurance policies given to every employee, and the opportunity given them to obtain additional insurance for a like amount, at the low rate made possible by the company's group insurance plan. This is of incalculable value for a married man with a growing family, or to the man who could not obtain insurance in the ordinary way.

K. A. Booth
Correspondence Department

To me the most important event is the action of our men at the shops and stations to join our Employees' Representation. This will cement a closer relationship between the men themselves and the management. This relationship can not help but promote a feeling of trust which will benefit all concerned, and no one more than our men themselves.

A. H. Thorn
Industrial Relations

The most important even in 1923 is the fact that its business has been such as to enable the directors to increase the rate of dividend.

What has made the greatest impression upon me is that the various divisions of the Company, not originally included in the Employees Representation Plan, have since elected to be included.

U. S. LOSES SUIT IN "TRADING WITH THE ENEMY" ACT

Wilmington, Del., Jan. 3.—The government's suit against the Chemical Foundation, Inc., for the annulment of the sale to the foundation by the alien property custodian of 5,700 seized enemy dye and chemical patents was dismissed today by Judge Morris in federal district court here.

In an opinion of approximately 20,000 words the court swept aside all of the major contentions of the government as to the illegality of the sale. The government now has recourse to the higher courts in pressing its suit, which was brought by the direct orders of President Harding.

Summing up his opinion, Judge Morris declared congress had made the trading with the enemy act and the orders of the President thereunder "the supreme law with respect to enemy property." He declared the President, "in the public interest," could make such disposition of this property "as he deemed proper and the nature of the property permitted."

Power of Congress.

Asserting that it was "no longer debatable that there were restrictions upon the war power of congress to confiscate enemy-owned property," Judge Morris said the extent to which that right shall be exercised during any particular war is a matter of policy to be determined solely by congress.

"Courts may inquire," he said, "whether an act passed by congress is within the scope of its constitutional power; beyond that they may not go."

The judge found that the government's charges that the sale of the patents was accomplished through "a combination, scheme, and conspiracy of certain representatives of the chemical and dye industry" have "failed utterly." And this, he said, "notwithstanding the generality of the allegations and the unlimited opportunity afforded the plaintiff to support them by evidence."

Not Supported by Law.

With respect to the charge that the purpose of the sale was not to obtain a fair value for the property, but the granting of a subsidy to private industry, the court said, "the challenge of the motives of the officers making the sale is supported, I think, neither by the facts nor the law."

"The transaction was not one granting a subsidy to a private industry," he asserted. "It was a devotion in the public interest of the property to a public use. The property is available for any American citizen, copartnership or corporation that desires to use it for the advancement in the United States of the only science or industry to which, by reason of its nature, the property is applicable. The sale was in effect a sale to America and its citizens, not to persons then engaged in chemical and allied industries."

Public Interest Considered.

With regard to the contention of the government that the sale price of $271,000 was inadequate, Judge Morris called attention that in all sales of enemy property the president was required to consider the public interest and declared that "public interest is not a synonym for money." He then quoted from the portion of President Coolidge's annual address to congress last month dealing with the sale of Muscle Shoals. The chief executive declared that "the amount of money received for the property is not a primary or major consideration," if the main object might be attained of low priced nitrates "for the direct benefit of the farmers and the indirect benefit of the public in time of peace and of the government in time of war."

ORDERED TO PAY VICTIM'S BILL.

Hugo J. Maltan, 16 West Ontario street, was ordered by Judge Samuel Trude to pay the hospital bill of Solomon Platt, 1046 Spaulding avenue, a chauffeur, whom he is said to have assaulted New Year's day while under influence of liquor.

PARELLI AGAIN MEYERS' VICTIM; ITALIAN IS HURT

BY FRANK SMITH.

Ability to clamp on most any old hold from most any old position gave Johnny Meyers his second victory over Joe Parelli in two of three falls in their championship encounter at the Ashland Boulevard auditorium last night.

The titleholder won both times by the painful hammerlock, while he lost the first fall in jig time when Parelli clamped on a flying mare and switched instantly Meyers hit the mat to a reverse body hold. Parelli won in 9:45, while it took Meyers 1:01:30 to tumble his youthful foe the first time. Parelli was hardly able to continue after the second rest period and succumbed after 11 minutes.

Put On a Joke Match.

The Meyers-Parelli match proved the feature of an otherwise disappointing bill. John Kilonis and Hugh Nichols staged a farce, in which the Greek battled not only Nichols but exchanged blows with Referee Marty Cutler who had warned him repeatedly of his foul tactics, but who failed to eject him from the ring when he paid no heed to the shaking finger of Cutler. They went 45 minutes, supposedly to a decision, but Cutler is the only one who knows who won.

Pete Kobloski, who substituted for Starr against Karl Pojello, fell an easy victim to the Lithuanian in 4:54 with a standing crotch hold. Olaf Lamarkov easily defeated Benny Newberger with a head scissors and wristlock in 4:35.

Quick Fall for Parelli.

Parelli started his match with Meyers evidently with the purpose of ending it quickly. Meyers was first to go to the mat under a hard headlock. This was repeated two or three times, then the Italian after one attempt successfully threw Johnny with a flying mare. Meyers went to the mat with a thud and was unable to squirm out of the reverse body hold applied by Parelli.

The fight for the second fall was a thriller all the way and had the fans standing on chairs and yelling their heads off. Each wrestler had the other in tough grips repeatedly. Parelli broke wristlock after wristlock, laughed at the stopper and toe holds. Meyers suffered from headlocks and toe holds, bided his time with many a grimace and finally swung a hammerlock on Parelli, who was forced to rap the canvas, a token of defeat.

Italian Is Injured.

The Italian was hardly able to rise to his feet and his left arm hung limp as he eased his way through the friendly crowd. He appeaed in poor shape when he came on for the final fall, and during the few minutes he stood up before Meyers he never used the injured wing. Meyers made it his target and the Italian gave up with a will once the old hammerlock was applied again.

Promoter Krone announced to the 3,000 fans who braved the cold weather to witness the bouts that his next show would be held on Jan. 15. It will be a middleweight bill.

ZBYSZKO, SIKI TAKE ON MAT RIVALS TONIGHT

A double wrestling card is the offering at the Star and Garter tonight. In the main event, Stanislaus Zbyszko is on the list with Mike Romano, who is regarded among the best of the Italian heavyweight battlers in the country. Reggy Siki will appear in a one fall match against Ted Paulson, wrestling coach of Purdue university. It is generally believed by the students of the game, that the Abyssinian panther is in for another drubbing.

Dexter Park pavilion will be the scene of the next mat show of the Midwest A. C. on Jan. 15, according to announcement of the officials yesterday. The Coliseum, where the organization has been holding forth in the past, will not be available for the next several months.

LAVINE FORMING GRID LEAGUE FOR GAMES INDOORS

A new innovation is to be offered the sport loving fans this winter in the shape of "steam heated" football, if the plans of Charles Lavine, president of the Midwest Grid league, materialize.

It is the intention of Lavine to organize a league composed of six or eight teams. Already four clubs have signified their intention of entering the proposed organization. Any others wishing to join are requested to get in touch with Charles Lavine at 115 South Dearborn street, or phone Dearborn 4378.

Tillie Herman Gets Only Expenses for Poor Fight

Davenport, Ia., Jan. 3.—[Special.]—Due to his failure to give his best in his ten round go here New Year's day with Warnie Smith, Tillie Kid Herman, Los Angeles welterweight, received only his expenses. Smith, who apparently tried harder, was awarded expense money and half of his original share of the purse.

MIKE DUNDEE BATTLES M'BRIDE TONIGHT

TRIBUNE DECISIONS

Decisions of The Tribune boxing representatives yesterday were:

At Fayetteville, N. C.—Young Stribling knocked out Kid Numbers [4].
At Fort Thomas, Ky.—Nick Carter knocked out James Krause [3]; Al Nelson and Young Willis, draw [4]; Johnny Sower beat Georgie Allen [4]; Fighting Ferrarris beat Harry Russell [4]; Spider Lewis beat Johnny Haley [4].

Mike Dundee, Rock Island featherweight, and Stanley McBride of the south side, who meet in the main ten rounder at the Island A. A., Blue Island, tonight, have announced that they are going into the ring with the intention of scoring a knockout.

Although Dundee is the favorite to turn the trick, McBride's followers have confidence in his kayo ability. McBride avers he will carry the fight to his foe from the first round until the final session. Both are in condition for a thumping evening.

Two other ten round bouts are carded, with a pair of six round preliminaries completing the bill. The ten round affairs bring together Freddy Wilder, the Blue Island lightweight, and Jack McCarthy of the west side at 138 pounds, while Jack Eile tackles Eddie Shea at 122 pounds. The six rounders are between Johnny Murphy and Frank Effenberger, welters, and Jimmy Young and Tony Sanders, lightweights.

Sammy Mandell, Rockford junior lightweight, is here and is training at the Arcade for his twelve round decision affair with Jack Bernstein, former junior lightweight champion, in Madison Square Garden one week from tonight. Mandell will leave for the battle ground on Sunday. Bud Taylor, Mandell's stable mate, and Frankie Jerome of New York have been matched to box the twelve round semi-windup on the Mandell-Bernstein card.

The complete card for Jim Mullen's Peoria boxing show on Jan. 11, in which Alex Trambitas and Jock Malone head the card in a ten round bout, has been completed. Mike Brody, Peoria meets Young Harry Forbes of Columbus in a ten round bout at 114 pounds. Shuffle Callahan of Gary takes on Roy Herr of Peoria, ten rounds, 135 pounds, and Jack McDonald of South Chicago will face Joe Baker, St. Louis heavyweight, in the six round opener.

Vern Morris, a lightweight boxer of Hurley, Wis., has placed himself under the management of Art Winch, trainer of Charlie White, and is ready to box any one at his weight. Morris is training daily at Ferretti's gym, where he is boxing daily with White.

SPALLA TRAINING IN FRANCE FOR GO WITH FIRPO

MILAN, Italy, Jan. 3.—Erminio Spalla, European heavyweight champion, is training in Marseilles, France, while awaiting a definite date for his match with Luis Angel Firpo in Bueos Aires, which, according to unofficial dispatches from Buenos Aires will be held on the football field of that city on Feb. 24.

It is expected that Spalla will sail for Buenos Aires about Jan. 10.

BOXING UNION PLANS TOURNEY TO FIND SUCCESSOR FOR SIKI

PARIS, Jan. 3. — [Associated Press.] — The International Boxing union has requested all European boxing federations affiliated with it to designate before Feb. 15 a light heavyweight pugilist to enter an elimination tournament designed to choose a successor to Battling Siki, former champion in that class.

The European title holder thus selected—the finals must be held previous to April 30—will then challenge the American fighter named by the National Boxing association as champion of the United States, according to the agreement reached at the last congress of the union in Paris in November, 1923.

FITZSIMMONS FINED FOR TAX VIOLATION

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 3.—Floyd Fitzsimmons, prize fight promoter of Benton Harbor, Mich., pleaded guilty in federal court here today to a technical violation of the internal revenue law in connection with payment of taxes on gate receipts on the proposed Jack Dempsey-Bill Brennan fight at the Michigan City [Ind.] arena, which was prevented by order of Gov. Warren T. McCray. Judge A. B. Anderson fined Fitzsimmons $250 and costs.

The promoter said he "went broke" in his attempt to stage the Dempsey-Brennan fight. He asserted the governor had given him assurance the fight could be staged in Indiana, and later stopped it.

DEMPSEY GETS ROYAL WELCOME IN CHARLESTON

Charleston, S. C., Jan. 3.—After landing from a Clyde Line steamer, on his way from New York to Florida with his secretary, Teddy Hayes, Jack Dempsey today led a throng of admirers here through Broad street and halted business. He called on Mayor Stoney.

One of his first acts after landing was to wire condolence to Mrs. Billy Miske. He paid a high tribute to the deceased fighter. He sailed later for Jacksonville.

SEEK TO STAGE SIKI AND LOHMAN BOUT IN CANADA

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 3.—With Battling Siki, Senegalese boxer, taking a fling at the varieties by doing a few bag punching exercises at a local theater, Robert Levy, his manager, today was negotiating with Windsor, Ont., promoters with a view toward holding in the Canadian city the Siki-Joe Lohman fight that was originally arranged for Grand Rapids.

TEX RICKARD DEFENDS BOXING IN NEW YORK

New York, Jan. 3.—[United News.]—Alarmed by the agitation against the existing boxing law in the halls of the legislature at Albany, Tex Rickard, the promoter, summed up his defense of the business in a long statement today.

Rickard denied the complaint that he holds a monopoly in New York, pointing out that although there were six championship fights last summer, he was the promoter of only one.

He argued against the necessity for the proposed law limiting championship fight prices to $7, on the ground that the boxing commission already has power to regulate prices and has set a maximum of $25 for championships.

There have been no fake fights under the present law, Rickard said, and most of the decisions have been correct.

Charities have received $600,000 from fight shows in three years and the state and federal treasuries have received $4,200,000 in admittance taxes from Rickard alone in that time.

SOLONS PUSH BILL

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 3.—"Legislation which will immediately clear up the situation now existing in the boxing game" was demanded today by Senator Michael E. Reiburn of New York in a statement explaining the bill which he has introduced in the senate.

FARMER LODGE TO BE LUIS FIRPO'S NEXT VICTIM

New York, Jan. 3.—[Special.]—Farmer Lodge, Minnesota heavyweight, is to sail Saturday for Buenos Aires, where he has been signed to meet Luis Angel Firpo, South American champion, on Feb. 10. This was announced today by Billy McCarney, Firpo's American representative. Lodge is to get $3,000 and expenses, McCarney said. Opinion among those versed in fistic affairs here views the Lodge bout as the easiest kind of a special cinch for Firpo.

YOUNG STRIBLING K. O.'S SOLDIER IN FOURTH ROUND

Fort Bragg, N. C., Jan. 3.—Young Stribling, schoolboy light heavyweight of Macon, Ga., ended a scheduled fifteen round bout with Kid Numbers here tonight in the fourth round when he floored the soldier boxer for the count with a right uppercut. Numbers was outfought from the first blow.

Babe Ruth Taken for Speeding in Massachusetts

Newton, Mass., Jan. 3.—"Babe" Ruth's automobile has got him into trouble again. A complaint was sworn out in district court here today by a motorcycle officer charging the home run king with speeding and other violations.

Woods and Waters by BOB BECKER

WOODS ETIQUETTE.

SOME days ago a farmer-hunter living near Chicago was telling us of all the raw stunts that hunters had pulled on his property, and he wound up his indictment with the assertion that the trouble with a good many people who camp, hike for pleasure, hunt, or fish was that they had never learned outdoors manners. Thinking over some of the things we have seen while vacationing during the summer or in the fall while hunting, we have to admit that our farmer-hunter friend is right.

As a matter of fact, nothing less than bad manners on the part of hunters are largely responsible for the millions of "no trespassing" signs which greet the outdoor lovers everywhere in the United States.

Last summer we met a fellow who was trying to fish without knowing how to be decent and polite in his fun. And he ought to have known what to do, too, as he was no green hand at the fishing game. You know this little unwritten law governing the practice of some one horning in on your fishing hole uninvited and fishing off the prow of your boat. Well, this chap in his greedy eagerness to catch a boat load of fish pulled this very stunt. We had located just below the rapids, where the small mouth were on the job. No sooner were we settled and doing business with these scrappy bass than this fisherman pulled alongside, asked if we were gettin' 'em, and, seeing our success, he dropped anchor right squarely in front of us. We ought to have bored a hole through his canoe.

Campers who leave fires and dirty, littered camp sites are also helping along the game of making outdoor lovers unpopular when they are in the field. We encountered a farmer in Wisconsin last summer who had been stung by a bunch of campers, and as a result was ready to murder any guy who came up to the house asking for permission to camp on his place. One party that left their fire burning, decorated the camp site with papers, tin cans, and other rubbish and almost burned up his woods has turned that farmer against all campers. And you can hardly blame him. This chap owns, by the way, one of the prettiest spots on a small lake that we have ever seen.

BASKETBALL ON ROLLERS.

According to Joseph Berman, White City Roller rink is ready to foster a four team league to play basketball on skates, a new sport to Chicago. Berman can be reached for information at 1001 Cypress street.

HERTZ HORSES AMONG $500,000 IMPORTATION

New York, Jan. 3.—Ninety-four English and French thoroughbreds, valued at half a million dollars, and comprising the most valuable shipment of horses to cross the Atlantic since before the war, are due to reach New York Saturday or Sunday, on the steamship Mississippi.

All were purchased by American horse fanciers at the December sales at Newmarket, England. Most of them are going to the blue grass region of Kentucky.

Among the owners of one or more of the thoroughbreds in the shipment are Col. Phil Chinn, Lexington, Ky., with twenty horses; Dr. Robert W. McCully, veterinarian of the Jockey club, New York, with eighteen; John Hertz, owner of Leona Stock farm, Chicago; J. E. Keene, Lexington, Ky., and ex-Senator Camden of Lexington, Ky.

HOLD FUNERAL OF BILLY MISKE AT ST. PAUL TODAY

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 3.—Funeral services will be held here tomorrow for Billy Miske, St. Paul heavyweight pugilist, who died New Year's day from Bright's disease.

Active and honorary pallbearers will include many of his friends of the ring and others who knew him best in private life, among them Tommy Gibbons of St. Paul, several times a ring opponent, but one of his closest friends.

Services will be at St. Adelbert's Catholic church, with participants including the Rev. Thomas A. Printon, a lifelong friend.

Bowman Dairy Pinmen Hit 2,881 in Industrial Meet

Bowman Dairy pinmen led the rolling in the Central Manufacturing tournament at Petersen's last night with 2,881, which was not sufficient to knock out the leading Western Electric company Specialty team. American Railway express No. 1 hit 2,856, and Armour & Co. scored 2,852.

Chuck Collier of the Mineralites went into first place in the all-events with 1,928. Rambo and Henderson were high in the doubles with 1,185, while Collier topped the singles with 691.

CUEIST DENTON MEETS MAUPOME HERE TODAY

Tiff Denton of Kansas City, present National Three Cushion league champion, will be here today for two games against Pierre Maupome at Mussey's Madison street room.

JACKSON WINS AT CUE.

Milwaukee, Wis., Jan. 3.—[Special.]—Clarence Jackson, local entry in the National Three Cushion league tourney, took two games from Tiff Denton of Kansas City here today, the afternoon, 50 to 37, in 63 innings, and the evening, 50 to 41, in 60. Jackson had two high runs of 4 while the loser had 3 and 5.

ELLIS COPS PAIR.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Jan. 3.—[Special.]—Charles Ellis, local cueist, took a pair of National Three Cushion games from George Moore of New York here today. He won the afternoon tilt, 50 to 33, in 60 innings, and the evening engagement, 50 to 48, in 69 frames. Ellis had high runs of 6 and 4; Moore hit 5 and 6.

Hoppe to Play Schaefer Here if He Beats Cochran

New York, Jan. 3.—[Special.]—Hereafter Willie Hoppe, world's billiard champion, will have complete control of the Hoppe-Peterson billiard club under the name of the Hoppe billiard academy. Announcement to this effect was made today. The champion plans to leave for Boston on Sunday to finish practice for his challenge match against Welker Cochran there on Jan. 10, 11 and 12. If he wins he will meet young Jake Schaefer in Chicago Jan. 21, 22 and 23.

NOTES OF THE CUE ROOMS.

Harold Ledwell [scratch] tightened his hold on first place in the Commonwealth Edison Three Cushion league last night when he beat L. Pitts [25], 35 to 15, in 61 innings. A. W. Spink [28], who had been in second place, dropped to third when he lost to C. Meidl [28], 28 to 25, and R. Hoberg [25] moved up into second place by trimming John O'Neil [35], 25 to 9. In all, eleven games were played at Bensinger's Monroe street rooms.

LANDIS SEEKING MORE "EVIDENCE" IN SHOCKER CASE

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

Having mulled over reams of pro and con data in the case of Pitcher Urban Shocker vs. the St. Louis Browns, Commissioner K. M. Landis yesterday announced that the next step would be to determine whether or not the club actually had in its book of rules a stipulation that wives of players be prohibited from traveling with the team.

It was on this point that the star hurler and the club split last Septemben, when the Browns made their last eastern jaunt of the season. Shocker desired to have Mrs. Shocker accompany him and the club informed him that to do so would violate the rules. The upshot was that Shocker deserted the team when it started east. He was promptly fined and suspended, after which he appealed to the commissioner for an unconditional release.

Attorney Backs Club Rule.

Attorney Swarts, for the club, argued that the rule was one of long standing. The pitcher's spokesman insists the rule never was heard of until the present dispute.

With the idea of satisfying himself on the point of contention Landis has informed both attorneys, as well as Shocker, that another hearing will be held on whatever date the interested parties may select. If possible the hearing will be held here, but in the event of Swarts, who is ill, being unable to travel, Landis will beat it to St. Louis.

The commissioner has disposed of the dispute over the services of Pitcher Carl Mays by putting an O. K. to the transfer of the veteran underhand star from the Yankees to Cincinnati. This deal was closed during the baseball meeting here last month, but was held up when President Baker of the Phillies let out a whoop that he had refused to waive on Mays.

Yanks Show Clear Case.

Upon investigation Landis found that the Yanks had exercised their right to withdraw their request for waivers from National league clubs and then had sold the player outright. The Cincinnati club is supposed to have paid $10,000 for the aged athlete.

A report yesterday that the Yankees were about to close a deal for Pitcher Dean and Outfielder Combs of the Louisville team was denied last night by Capt. William Neal of the Colonels. Neal admitted, however, that three major league clubs are dickering for the men, who are looked upon as the best bets in the minors today. The White Sox are said to be interested. During the meeting here last month Neal offered the two players for $150,000, but found no takers.

WEISSMULLER IN RECORD SWIM IN I. A. C. CARNIVAL

BY WALLACE ABBEY.

Although Johnny Weissmuller started his 1924 swimming year with a new world's record in the 300 yard sprint, the quests of two other Illinois Athletic club swimmers for honors along the same line met with grief last night in the open events at the Tri-Color pool. John Faricy and Sybil Bauer were the ones who failed.

Faricy not only missed his own world mark for the 100 yard breast stroke by 3 2-5 seconds, but had it not been for a desperate effort in the last few feet would have been defeated by G. Senderhoff of Milwaukee A. C. In the 220 yard race of the same variety, Faricy won in 2:57 4-5, Bob Skelton holding the record at 2:55 2-5.

Weissmuller Clips Mark.

Miss Sybil Bauer was intent on lowering her own record of 1:15 for the 100 yard back stroke, but was unable to do better than 1:15 1-5. A couple of bad turns probably kept her from [illegible] her ambition.

Weissmuller negotiated the 300 yards in 3:12 2-5, clipping 4 1-5 seconds off the record formerly held by Norman Ross of the I. A. C. at 3:16 3-5.

Harold Krueger of the I. A. C. gathered two firsts, winning the special 100 yard sprint in :56 and the 50 yard event in :24 3-5. Trolle of the Tri-Color squad nosed out Lewis Rutledge of Cincinnati Y. M. C. A. for second place in the century in a thrilling finish.

Miss Coleman Is Victor.

Miss Eleanor Coleman of the Milwaukee squad defeated her teammate, Peggy Williamson, in the women's 100 yard breast stroke by only a touch, winning in 1:28 2-5, which is almost three seconds slower than the world's record held by Ruth Smith of Ohio State university.

Art Thomson of Milwaukee pulled an upset of the dope by downing Conrad S. Mila of the I. A. C. in the 100 yard back stroke winning in 1:08 4-5. Robert Porter won the fancy diving from his teammate, Cecil McDermott of Coach Bill Bachrach's crew. Summaries:

MEN'S EVENTS.

Penn Mentor Bars Coaches Who Play Pro Football

Philadelphia, Pa., Jan. 3.—[Special.]—"We will not have on our coaching staff next season any man who plays professional football during or after our season." This was the dictum of Lou Young, coach of the University of Pennsylvania football team, who said, "All our coaching contracts will contain a clause preventing the coach from engaging in the game for money."

During the last season Poss Miller, coach of the scrub team at Penn, and Lud Wray engaged in professional contests.

FARM & GARDEN By FRANK RIDGWAY

TOOTHLESS HENS CAN'T EAT ICE; WARM DRINKING WATER.

Egg production has fallen to a low level in many flocks during this cold snap. It frequently happens that watering, one of the most important factors in egg production, is neglected and hens quit laying even when they are fed an abundance and kept in comfortable quarters. A liberal supply of water may be put in the fountains or vessels each morning, but the birds consume little of it because it either freezes or is so cold they cannot drink it.

A flock will cease laying sooner if kept without water than if kept without food, according to Dr. L. E. Card of the state college of agriculture. He says that the standard weight of a dozen eggs is one and one-half pounds, and of this about a pound is water. This shows the importance of plenty of water. The thermos bottle principle has been successfully used in making fountains that keep the water from getting cold for several hours, and poultrymen find them convenient.

BIG TEAMS OF SMALL CLUBS IN TRIB DERBY

SILVER SKATES DERBY

Please enter me in The Chicago Tribune Silver Skates Derby, to be held in Garfield park, Sunday, Jan. 20.

Name ....

Address ....

Club.................... Age........

☐ Men's senior
☐ Girls' senior
☐ Boys' intermediate ☐ Girls' junior
☐ Boys' junior

Place cross in square in front of race you care to enter.

Entries close on Jan. 13 with Walter Eckersall, Tribune Sporting Department.

Interest in the eighth annual Silver Skates derbies of THE TRIBUNE is running high among the smaller athletic clubs of the city. The little fellows are entering strong teams in the derbies bent on making a name for their organizations, and boosting the skating sport in the city.

In former years it was the larger clubs which took the lion's share of honors in the ice tournaments held in Chicago and it seemed that every skater was aiming to become a member of one of the teams sponsored by a large athletic organization.

During the last three years, however, the little clubs have taken up and boosted the ice sport to such a degree that many new skating stars have blossomed out from neighborhood athletic clubs of comparatively small memberships.

Two Clubs Enter.

Two of these clubs have entered teams of seven skaters in the annual derbies of THE TRIBUNE, which will be held at Garfield park on Jan. 20. The clubs are the Blackhawks and Cardinal Athletic club. In sending in their entries, officials of these organizations declare that their boys are out to win a pair of the coveted silver blades.

The Cardinal A. C. will have six of its seven skaters in the senior class. M. Rane, H. Erlich, B. Weber, F. Lassers, F. Butler, and S. Hollister will carry the Cardinal's colors in the race for the senior silver blades, while C. Kinney, who is 17 years old, has been entered for the intermediate derby.

Entries Close Jan. 13.

The Blackhawks include a younger set of boys. Five of them are eligible to compete in the junior class, while two will skate in the intermediate section. The junior skaters are Mike Trimarco, John Gilbert, Bob Crowe, Joseph Driscoll, and Eugene Fitzpatrick. The two racers for the intermediate division are Thomas Quigley and Sid Ghadwick.

Entries for the big meet will close at midnight on Jan. 13 and no entries will be accepted after that date. All entries should be mailed to Walter Eckersall, sporting department, CHICAGO TRIBUNE, and the races are open to all without entry fee.

NORTHWEST DERBY JAN. 13

BY FRANK SCHREIBER.

The thirty-third annual ice skating Derby of the Northwest Skating club, one of the oldest skating organizations in the country, will be held at Humboldt park on Jan. 13, C. I. Johnson, president of the organization, announced yesterday. The club will hold eleven events and the entry lists will close on Jan. 7.

C. I. Johnson was reëlected president of the organization at the annual meeting of members held last week. Rudolph Notz was named vice president and Christ M. Ihle secretary and treasurer. Ihle also was elected athletic director of the club.

Among the boys who will carry the Northwest colors are Roy McWhirter, former national and international title holder; Fred Buendgen, Oscar Hansen, Harry Winterhoff, Howard Storch, one of the heroes of Chicago's schoolboy skating teams of 1921 and 1922; Graham McQueeney, Arthur Frish, Harry Littlefield, Carl Olsen, Herbert Knudten, and Carl B. Ohrwall.

Rose Johnson and Lois Littlejohn will skate for the Northwest club in the womens' events. Miss Johnson is a former national and international champion and also a former winner of the women's senior silver skates.

The events on the tournament program for Jan. 13 are:

Class A, one mile; class A, 440 yards; class AA, one mile; class B, class C, and novice class, half mile; boys under 14, quarter mile; boys under 16, ½ mile; girls under 16, quarter mile; women, half mile; and a special miss and out race.

Entries will close on Jan. 7 and no post-entries will be permitted. The blanks can be obtained at the Northwest Skating club at 1952 North Crawford avenue.

IN the WAKE of the NEWS

TAKING CHANCES.

"TAKING chances" causes more motor accidents than speeding per se. High speed, of course, always is dangerous, but statistics prove that the largest percentage of accidents occur at street and road intersections and from one car trying to pass another.

Nearly 1,000,000 state licenses were issued in Illinois last year. There will be many more in 1924. That means that motorists, to escape restrictive laws and ordinances imposing hardships on really careful drivers, must coöperate to reduce accidents and fatalities.

One local cab company has a slogan for new men: "Don't take a chance. Don't figure on what the other fellow OUGHT to do, but on what he MIGHT do." That rule might well be followed by all drivers.

Weaving in and out of traffic, trying to gain advantage in traffic jams, passing other cars at close quarters, cutting off other drivers, and failure to observe care at street intersections are evils as common and as dangerous as speeding. Don't take a chance!

Do You Remember Way Back When:

On election night, if a Republican was elected, a red light flashed from the roof of Frank Bros.' saloon at Madison and Halsted, and if a Democrat a green light?—L. J. C.

In Motordom By J. L. JENKINS

OFFICIALS of the Dixie Highway association are seriously considering the rerouting of the famous road from Nashville, Tenn., to Bowling Green, Ky., according to reports of the executive committee, meeting this week in Chattanooga. This stretch of the popular direct route to Florida has long been a drawback because of bad road conditions. The annual meeting of the association, when questions of road improvement and policy are to be threshed out, will be held in Savannah, Ga., in May.

Twenty years ago the steel industry in the United States was in a position somewhat similar to that of the automobile business today, in the opinion of Charles M. He will discuss the degree of competition which exists in the steel game today at the annual dinner of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce in New York Jan. 8. Industrial leaders are deeply interested in his views concerning the possible consolidation of interests in the automobile field.

Big John Richards May Be Grid Coach at Oregon U.

Madison, Wis., Jan. 3.—John R. (Big John) Richards, for four years head football coach at University of Wisconsin, is one of several coaches being considered for football coach at the University of Oregon, according to information received here today. Richards resigned as Badger mentor at the close of the 1922 season. He at present is located in Los Angeles.

PRO THREAT AIMED AT NET CHAMP-WRITERS

New York, Jan. 3.—[Associated Press.]—Tennis players who profit substantially by writing for newspapers or magazines will be declared ineligible for amateur competition, if a proposal by the amateur rule committee of the United States Lawn Tennis association, announced tonight, is adopted.

This stringent interpretation of amateur status already has been approved by the executive committee of the U. S. L. T. A. and will be laid before the annual meeting of the association here Feb. 2 for final action.

Although George T. Adee, chairman of the amateur rule committee, declared the move was not aimed at any particular individual, it is generally understood it was designed to curb the journalistic activities of several star players, notably William T. Tilden, Vincent Richards, and Frank T. Anderson of Brooklyn.

It needs only a bare majority to become part of the tennis law.

Would Take Effect in 1925.

Because of recognition that some players already may have signed contracts to write tennis articles this year, the resolution provides that the new interpretation would not become effective until Jan. 1, 1925.

"Furthermore," says the report, "it was proved last summer that the newspapers want the advertising value of a great player's name rather than the literary value of his articles. Twenty-five papers were offered syndicated articles by A. Wallis Myers of England, perhaps the greatest authority on tennis in the world and a writer of distinct literary merit.

"They refused the offer, but asked for articles by Miss Helen Wills, then a schoolgirl, who had just won the national women's championship, and about whose literary ability they knew nothing. Miss Wills refused."

Rule on Players' Expense.

Another resolution disapproves of a player receiving or negotiating for money in payment of any expenses incurred in attending a tournament, exhibition, or team match, except through the proper officials of his home club or association or the national association.

Under a resolution adopted a year ago, players are required to file expense accounts, but to date 19 of 82 prominent men and women players have failed to do so.

COLUMBUS PARK GOLFERS ELECT BARMORE PREXY

Following the granting of a charter by the state the Columbus Park Golf club last night reorganized and elected officers for the coming season. The ticket was headed by P. V. Barmore as president and included John T. Samuel, vice president; Ray G. Bieghler, secretary, and Marshall W. Moreau, treasurer. W. J. Meyer, W. A. Ryan, George H. Meilinger, and W. A. Dersey are the other directors elected. Andrew F. Humphreys was appointed chairman of the publicity committee, and W. J. Meyer was placed at the head of the sports and pastimes committee.

The Merion Cricket club, at which the next amateur golf championship will be played, is the daddy of all the Philadelphia clubs, having been organized in 1865.

At its Christmas dinner for its caddies the Detroit Golf club distributed four suits of clothes to its four best boys and $600 worth of sweaters. The club will spend $20,000 on a clubhouse for the boys. It will contain a reading room, lunchroom, and gymnasium.

The year end found a third member in the family of Mr. and Mrs. James Barnes at Pelham, N. Y., the new arrival being Caroline Mary Barnes.

NORGE SKI CLUB TO HOLD INTERNATIONAL TOURNEY ON JAN. 20

THE annual international tournament of the Norge Ski club will be held at the Cary, Ill., slide on Jan. 20, Secretary John Ohs announced yesterday. The international tourney has attracted an entry of fifty skiers to date. More entries are expected.

Four members of the Norge club will compete in the Olympic tryouts at Minneapolis next Sunday. Harry Lein, Alf Jansen, Einar Jensen, and Sig Stedt will represent the club. Karl Nilsen, captain of the club team for several seasons, already has been tentatively named a member of the Yankee team.

On Sunday several members of the club will journey to Cary to put the big slide in shape with what snow already is available, and some practice jumps will be made. No spectators will be allowed on the grounds Sunday.

OLYMPIC SKI TEAM NOT SELECTED YET

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 3.—Reports from New York to the effect that the United States Olympic Ski team already has been selected "are entirely misleading," said B. G. Leighton, in charge of the ski tryouts, today.

"As a matter of form and to officially complete the ski team's registration for the Olympic games at Chamonix, France, F. W. Rubien, secretary of the American Olympic committee, asked the National Ski association's secretary, L. J. Sverdrup, to submit four names of skiers for this purpose," said Mr. Leighton.

"At the same time Mr. Sverdrup was notified that the final changes in names must be made not later than Jan. 14. Four jumpers will be chosen."

A fifth skier already has been selected to be a member of the American ski team. He is John Carleton of Dartmouth college and Oxford university, who for two weeks has been training in Chamonix.

TILDEN BUMPS U. HIGH.

Tilden invaded University High and took a double header, the heavies nosing out a victory by the margin of one point, 18 to 17, and the lights running away with their opponents, 36 to 13. Carney led the Tilden heavies with three ringers. Fletcher caged nine for the ponis. Linups:

Crane started the city high school basketball season yesterday by taking the heavyweight game from Austin, 29 to 19, and winning the lightweight contest by a 13 to 9 score on the J. P. I. floor. Cooper, Crane's crack guard of last year, who becomes ineligible for further competition at the beginning of the second semester in February, was held out of the game until the second half. Going in then he peppered the basket from all parts of the floor, tallied ten points, and won the game decisively for the home quintet.

Capt. Ben Wolper, playing a great game for Crane, made his exit from the game on personals.

MAROONS' FIVE WALLOPS AT YALE PROWESS, 24-21

With an airtight defense which held Yale's offensive machine in complete subjection last night, University of Chicago cagers took a 24 to 21 victory over Old Eli at Bartlett gymnasium. The battle showed Maroon speed and resourcefulness which speaks well for Chicago prospects in the Big Ten race, which starts tomorrow night.

Chicago took an early lead and held it at the half, 11 to 8, though twice in the first half Yale tied the score. In the second half the Maroons remained on the aggressive, handling the ball with a deftness which fooled Yale's five man defensive outfit. Yale was a popular opponent for Chicago, many easterners filling the stands to cheer the performances of Capt. Haas, Sam Pite, and Suisman.

Yale Stages Rally.

Near the end of the game, with Chicago leading, 24 to 10, Norgren sent in three substitutes, Howell, Abbott, and Barta. Yale immediately staged a rally, led by Suisman, bringing the score to 24 to 19. At this juncture Coach Nels Norgren reënlisted his regulars and they checked the Yale assault.

Harrison Barnes, Maroon forward who was shifted to play a running guard, played a bangup game, together with Joe Duggan, who took Barnes' place at forward. Capt. Campbell Dickson took his place in the Maroon lineup for a while, thrice making brilliant field baskets.

Maroons Meet Purdue.

The Maroons will go tonight to Lafayette, Ind., to meet Purdue tomorrow night. Lineup:

TRAFFIC TALKS No. 14
Prepared by
CHICAGO MOTOR CLUB

ORDINARY CARE

A motorist may be guilty of negligence and at the same time not be guilty of violating a traffic law. The law of the land places upon every driver the duty of exercising ordinary care.

Ordinary care requires you to remember that others, pedestrians, children and horse drawn vehicles, use the highway. Their rights are equal to yours.

Ordinary care means that at all times you must have your car under control, and at the first appearance of danger you must take steps to avert it.

In the exercise of ordinary care the motorist should consider the possible acts of other drivers; remembering that every month sees thousands of new motorists on the streets—an army of inexperienced drivers.

The State law says that anything over a certain rate of speed is prima facie evidence of reckless driving. On a rainy night, when your view of the road is obstructed, when children are playing on sidewalks, when street lighting is dim; these are all special occasions when the motorist may, in the exercise of ordinary care, be forced to drive at a rate of speed even lower than that prescribed by law.

The Appellate Court has said: That no driver is necessarily relieved of liability in case of collision merely by showing that at the time of the accident he was not running at a rate of speed in excess of that prescribed by law. He must still keep a proper lookout and have his car under control.

A motorist who does not use ordinary care is a careless motorist even though he obeys the letter of the law.

THE WORLD'S GREATEST NEWSPAPER

The Fourth Norwood

By ROBERT E. PINKERTON.

Blue Ribbon Fiction

SYNOPSIS.

Young Rod Norwood, while setting a mink trap on the banks of the Drowning river, near his home at Lake Deception in the Hudson bay territory, sees Aaron Cron, a rival trader of his father's, coming into the district. Cron is known to the district as The Spider, not only because of the terror which he has inspired in most of the inhabitants, but also because of his legless condition. Rod is frightened at the meeting, and after The Spider has disappeared, hurries eagerly toward home.

Rod breaks the news of The Spider's advent to his little sister, Beth. Their father, Tom Norwood, tries to dispel the children's fear of the cripple. He explains to Rod that Cron lost his legs years before in an expedition into the wilderness to buy fur. When his legs became frozen he heroically helped to amputate them.

For three generations fur land had known a Norwood. Tom's grandfather, Hector Norwood, accompanied Mackenzie on his remarkable expedition to the Arctic sea. His son, Roderick Norwood (Tom' father) was born and raised in fur land.

Tom and his father became successful fur traders when Canada became a free state trade ground. The Spider had come into Tom's territory once before when young Rod was 6 years old, but in the struggle between them, Tom was victorious and The Spider disappeared. Now with The Spider back again, Tom is gripped by the desire for battle.

This interesting serial started Monday. Begin reading it today.

INSTALLMENT V.

TOM MAKES A NEIGHBORLY CALL ON THE SPIDER.

The strangeness of the emotion left him ashamed and angry and yet pitifully helpless to conquer with the courage of a 13 year old boy the horrors of his imagination, to combat an awe of the indomitable will which had carried Aaron Cron through the gruesome crisis in the old squaw's wigwam, to down his revulsion before a soul as misshapen and maimed as the body.

"We ought to do the decent thing and pay a call on our new neighbor," Tom broke in on his thoughts.

Rod did not turn from the window. He felt his heart stop beating, and yet he suffered a greater fear that his father might learn his dread.

"I've got a good set for that otter up the creek," he said after a moment. "I don't want him to chew loose."

"You can run up there later. Say!"

The trader whirled the boy by his shoulders and bent to look into his eyes.

"What's the matter?" he demanded a little gruffly. "You're not letting all that stuff about Cron bother you?"

Rod stared back steadily.

"Yes," he said after a moment.

"But good God, boy! Why? You're—you're not afraid! What's happened? Did he—yesterday—when you saw him up the river—he didn't do anything?"

The tall half-breed Rod had seen the previous day entered with Scotch and glasses.

The trader's anger was terrible, so terrible Rod found it reassuring and comforting.

"No," he answered, "he didn't do anything. The team stopped. He just looked at me."

"Looked at you, eh? I know. Trick of his. But see here, lad. These stories—all he's done—you're not letting them——" He broke off and laughed "I know. It's that way you have of dreaming. Thinking about things too much. Like the time you was little and got so scared because old Kehkomas filled you up with a lot of evil spirit stories. That it?"

"I think he is a terrible man, dad!" Rod burst forth.

"May be so, but that's no reason to think a lot of things that ain't true. Come on. We'll go have a look at this fellow who's scared everybody in a big stretch of bush. We'll poke up this windigo and see if he will really bite. And watch him close, lad. Then you'll find out that, like every one else, he's just a man."

Tom laughed again, and with his hand on Rod's shoulder they went out of the trade shop and down to the ice. And Rod went willingly. All his life he had passionately admired this big, confident father. There had been little of the usual parent and son relationship between them, because Tom had that happy capacity for treating the boy as an equal, making a confident of him, and also because the isolation of the Norwood post and the lure of the fur trade drew them together.

To Rod that sense of equality had been a precious thing, and it had made the admission of his terror difficult. Now as they walked across the bay he looked up gratefully for his father's ready understanding of it. Tom caught the glance.

"It's all right, lad," he said reassuringly. "Only trouble is, you haven't really seen The Spider. We ought to get the habit of going over often. It never does any harm to be friendly. Matter of fact, it pays," and he winked and laughed boisterously.

Rod laughed, too, for he knew that this visit, veiled with jovial greetings, aimless talk, banter, and a drink or two of Scotch, was part of the ancient game of buying fur. It would permit a close scrutiny of the rival's establishment, a sensing of what was going on, perhaps a disclosure into which a skillful man might lead one of slower wits. By the time they reached the shore the boy was eager for his second meeting with The Spider.

Tom Norwood did not stop to knock. There was a chance their approach had not been seen, and a burst of cordiality would excuse an unceremonious entrance.

"Heigh-o, Aaron!" he shouted when a few feet from the door. "Are you here or at the store?"

Without pausing he lifted the latch and went into the house, Rod at his heels.

"There you are, you old sinner! Back again, eh? Well, we have a fine climate around here. Hope you'll enjoy it. Fine view, too. There isn't a prettier lake in Canada than this, 'specially in summer time. And you're looking well, Aaron. Don't seem a day older than when I saw you last. Have a good trip in? Snow's deeper than usual this year, but we never get enough to bother much anyhow."

This was kept up without a pause or even a glance away from the face of the man who sat on the bunk on the opposite side of the room.

The Spider stared back silently, looking not unlike a bust of Buddha. His body was thick, his shoulders broad and heavy, and they hung forward as if from their own weight. His huge head, surmounted by a shock of black hair, seemed to rest in a hollow. No neck was visible. His eyes, burning and steady, never left Tom's face. Rod, thankful that they had been turned on him only for a moment, wondered that his father could talk so easily or return the stare so nonchalantly.

"How are you, Norwood?" Cron said in a voice as heavy and threatening as his body.

"Fine, and glad to see you back. This is my boy, Roderick. Named after his grandfather and born to be a fur trader like his dad."

He reached back and grasped Rod by the shoulder affectionately. The Spider stared at the boy for a moment before he grunted, "How are you, young fellow?" This time Rod's eyes held steady, but he was relieved when Cron turned to Tom.

"Find a seat," he growled. "Jim! Bring a bottle."

The tall halfbreed Rod had seen the previous day entered with Scotch and glasses.

"Here's how!" Tom cried jovially as he lifted his drink. "A long life and a merry one, Aaron."

Cron grunted as he threw the brimming glass of whisky into his mouth with a quick motion. It disappeared as if dumped into a hole and Rod, watching intently, failed to see him swallow or give other evidence of the receipt of so much burning liquid.

Tom set down his glass and began to talk as when he had entered. He retailed all the gossip of three hundred miles of wilderness, commenting freely and humorously, touching on every subject possible except that closest to the hearts of both men.

All the time The Spider sat montionless, staring straight at Norwood. His expression never changed. Occasionally he grunted assent. Rod, watching in fascination, sometimes glanced at his father, amazed that he could endure that cold, hard, threatening gaze without a sign of fear or even of uneasiness.

But the boy was alive, too, to the game Tom was playing. Some of the statements and moves were too subtle for him, but in the main he understood and tried to determine the effect upon The Spider. His horror became less as he grew accustomed to being in the man's presence. He began to absorb something of his father's attitude, which, to him, was marvelously courageous, and yet he had a feeling that Tom Norwood was not accomplishing what he had hoped to. It was as if his lightninglike thrusts were always turned aside by the hard, unassailable mask of the grim, ruthless man on the bunk.

And then, after the third drink, Aaron Cron spoke. "I'm here to stay this time, Norwood," he declared suddenly as Tom tipped his head back to drain his glass.

It was a direct challenge, an announcement that all the parrying was useless, that, heedless and implacable, he was driving to the heart of the matter. He watched Norwood as he spoke and Rod, following his glance, was afraid of his father. Without a start or an ejaculation, with his smile undisturbed, Tom slowly set down his glass and beamed at The Spider.

"Glad to hear it, Aaron!" he exclaimed. "Always liked neighbors."

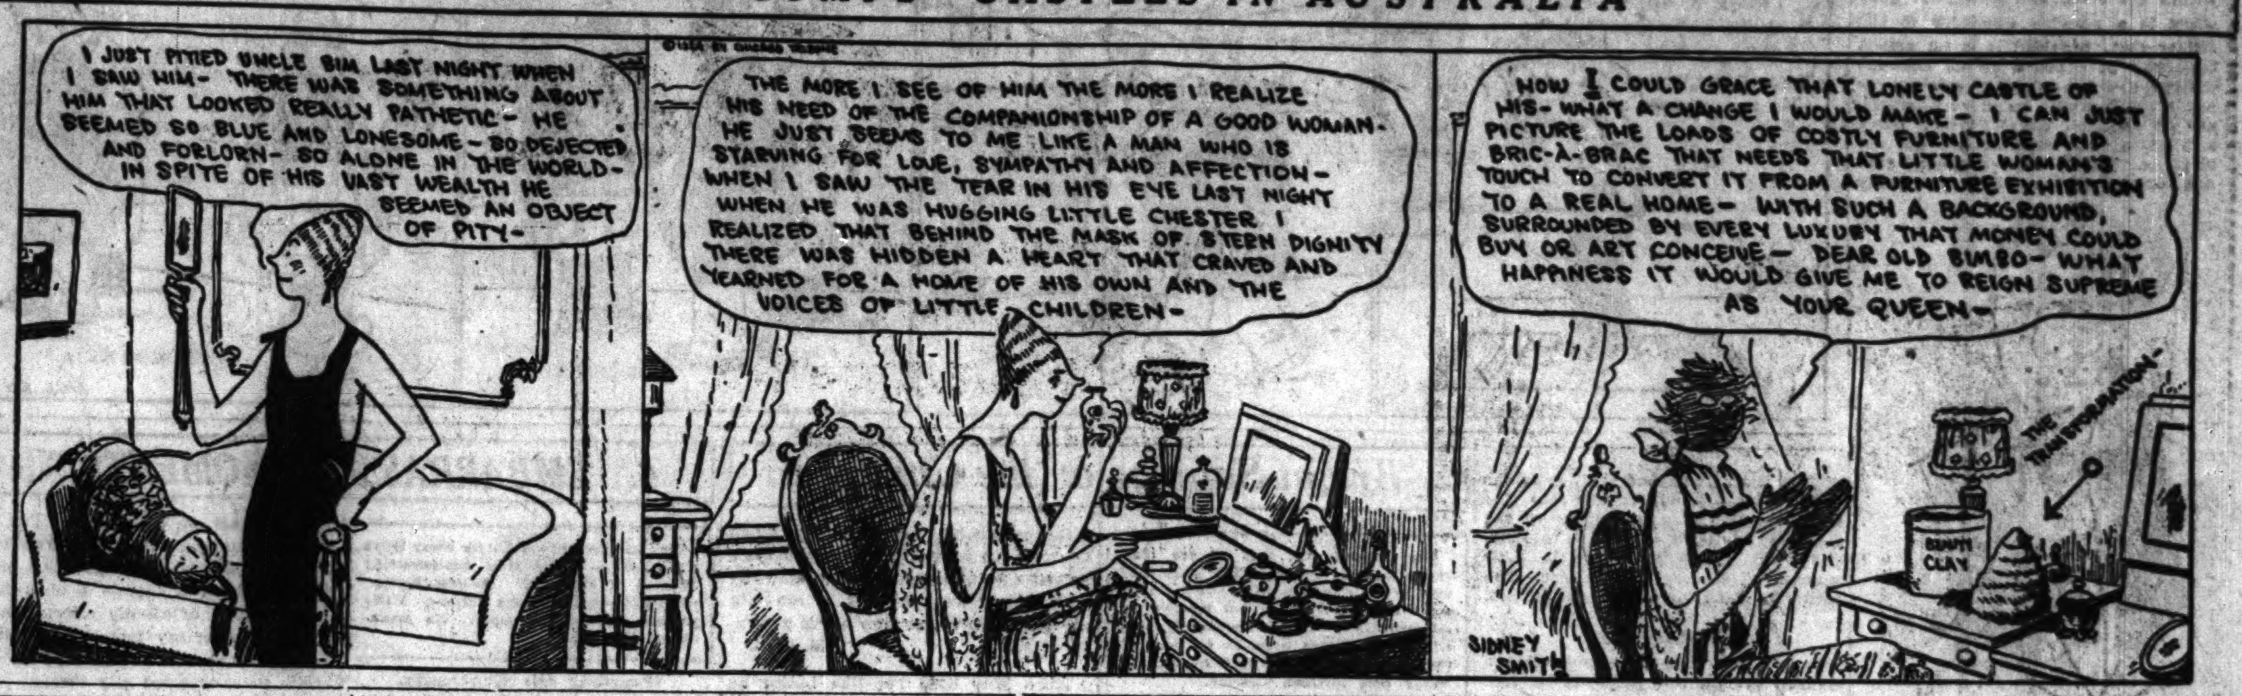
THE GUMPS—CASTLES IN AUSTRALIA



I JUST PITIED UNCLE BIM LAST NIGHT WHEN I SAW HIM- THERE WAS SOMETHING ABOUT HIM THAT LOOKED REALLY PATHETIC- HE SEEMED SO BLUE AND LONESOME- SO DEJECTED AND FORLORN- SO ALONE IN THE WORLD- IN SPITE OF HIS VAST WEALTH HE SEEMED AN OBJECT OF PITY-
THE MORE I SEE OF HIM THE MORE I REALIZE HIS NEED OF THE COMPANIONSHIP OF A GOOD WOMAN- HE JUST SEEMS TO ME LIKE A MAN WHO IS STARVING FOR LOVE, SYMPATHY AND AFFECTION- WHEN I SAW THE TEAR IN HIS EYE LAST NIGHT WHEN HE WAS HUGGING LITTLE CHESTER I REALIZED THAT BEHIND THE MASK OF STERN DIGNITY THERE WAS HIDDEN A HEART THAT CRAVED AND YEARNED FOR A HOME OF HIS OWN AND THE VOICES OF LITTLE CHILDREN-
NOW I COULD GRACE THAT LONELY CASTLE OF HIS- WHAT A CHANGE I WOULD MAKE- I CAN JUST PICTURE THE LOADS OF COSTLY FURNITURE AND BRIC-À-BRAC THAT NEEDS THAT LITTLE WOMAN'S TOUCH TO CONVERT IT FROM A FURNITURE EXHIBITION TO A REAL HOME- WITH SUCH A BACKGROUND, SURROUNDED BY EVERY LUXURY THAT MONEY COULD BUY OR ART CONCEIVE- DEAR OLD BIMBO- WHAT HAPPINESS IT WOULD GIVE ME TO REIGN SUPREME AS YOUR QUEEN-

Sees Science of Politics as World's Need

Will Dethrone Hatred and Passion, Merriam Says.

To permit mankind to dabble seriously with poison gases, radio sets, airplanes, modernism, and kindred comets of technical science without first grounding it on a scientifically constructed foundation of politics is like giving dynamite to a baby, attendants at the public lecture at the Medill School of Journalism learned last night.

Whereas there are professors who abjure all that is of the world, and politicians who scoff at academic theory, there are several personages who decry neither mode of life, but combine them. It was one of these, Prof. Charles E. Merriam, head of the department of political science at the University of Chicago, who told the Medillians that political research is the refining flux the world needs.

In his capacity as a teacher Prof. Merriam finds the dramatic in party struggles; in his guise as a practical politician he "wishes to urge the development of the science of politics to a point where truly scientific knowledge of human conduct and political behavior may come to the aid of troubled humanity."

There are three fundamental causes for an age "in which government has never been so weak and laws so numerous."

First is lack of interest in self-governmen—which manifested itself at the last presidential election, when 26,500,000 voters cast ballots for themselves and for 28,000,000 more who did not care to visit the polls.

The remedy is education in the duties of life in a self-governing community, or else "if we are too busy or too apathetic to be willing to govern ourselves, there are others who are willing to take over the job for us; and they will charge us for their services at their own valuation."

In the "sweeping tendency toward bitter intolerance of opposing views" the speaker found his second underlying cause. And he cited the Ku Klux Klan, the Lusk committee of New York, and the Bryanism which caused a state legislature to forbid Darwinism to be taught in its schools as examples of the trend in political thought "which makes useless all efforts toward the organization of public intelligence and prudence."

And lastly—the nub of the matter—have we really used our scientific knowledge in an effort to enthrone intelligence where hatred, prejudice, and passion now hold sway in the affairs of nations?

"Are we not approaching the time when it will be necessary to apply the categories of science to the vastly important forces of social and political control?" asked the speaker. "Out of the depths of ignorance and hatred may emerge at any time world war, anarchy, industrial and political revolution, recurring discontent and distress.

"What advantages will we reap if science conquers all the world except the world's government and then turns its titanic forces over to a government of ignorance and prejudice?"

Good morning!

Want some of your questions answered? Here's to it:

L. G. O.: O, if you feel that way about it I think I can go you one better, still clinging to your own inimitable style. How do you like this inscription—"She meant so good and she did so rotten?" It ought to stand out well on granite.

M. S. K.: Same to you and many of them! Lloyd Hughes was born in Bisbee, Ariz., in 1899. I don't remember having seen a picture made from the book you mention. I loved the story, too. Glad you like the column and hope you write again soon. Thanks for your thoughtfulness.

MISS BETTY: Send me a stamped and self addressed envelope please, for addresses of the stars. When you do please mention the names of the ones in whom you are most interested. Started an album, have you? That's interesting. Let me know how you come on with it.

WEARY: Your letter sure DOES sound tired! Never saw a pollywog's tonsils so can't say—but I think you're wrong. You didn't care for the gentleman? Well, that's too bad. I did—rather. Write your next letter in English, will you? Translators come high.

PINK EYES: All right, you poor, hard-working woman! Kathleen Key played with Tom Mix in "North of Hudson Bay." What on earth did you mean by your postscript?

DEE BEE: They don't always play together. Don't believe there's any such contract. I like them both—and think they make a clever team. Thank you, Dee Bee. If it interested you in 1923 I hope it will do so no less in 1924. Good luck! Write again some time.

FAN: Spencer is the middle name of Charles Chaplin. You're welcome.

Zangwill Challenges Klan to Debate Its Right to Existence

Having been threatened with assassination, as he says, by the Ku Klux Klan, Israel Zangwill, English playwright, who is also a Jew, herewith issues an ultimatum:

"The klan," says Mr. Zangwill, "the klan this time has bit off more than it can chew. I do not fear it. I challenge it!"

And he forthwith defies the klan to debate with him on the question of its right to existence. The question he would debate is: "Is the Ku Klux Klan fundamentally right or wrong and should it be perpetuated or wiped out?" Mr. Zangwill will take the negative side of the first part of the proposition, and the positive side of the latter part.

As to who is to represent the klan in the debate, Mr. Zangwill says it is of no moment to him.

"I would prefer to meet Charles G. Palmer, grand dragon of Illinois," he says; "I understand he might put up a good fallacious argument. Should Mr. Palmer not have the mettle for the debate, however, your Capt. J. K. Skipwith of Louisiana. Old Skip I believe you call him—would do.

"Or both those failing why not bring on the imperial wizard, H. W. Evans?"

A few of the propositions which Mr. Zangwill hopes "some good self-styled 100 per cent American Klansman" will give him an opportunity to prove are:

"That Christ would have been barred from the klan; he couldn't have got past Ellis Island, having been in jail and being from Asia; that the klan is attempting to revive religious warfare which ended in the seventeenth century; that it could not hope to cope with those it purports to bar from its ranks."

The death threat, Mr. Zangwill said, came to him a few days ago because he said at a banquet that "Europe needs a Lincoln." "'Keep your tongue in your mouth or we will assassinate you,' the threat read," he said.

CLOSEUPS

It is expected that Miss Pickford's "Dorothy Vernon of Haddon Hall" will reach us some time in March.

Carlyle Blackwell, who has been busily producing "The Beloved Vagabond," has disposed of his rights to the same and is about to start a new picture with India as a background.

BEG YOUR PARDON!

Mrs. John J. Quirk, 8113 Euclid avenue, says THE TRIBUNE was in error yesterday in reporting her husband was found frozen to death on the 79th street beach last Tuesday. He suffered from cold and exposure, but the result was not fatal.

The Inquiring Reporter

Every Day He Asks Five Persons, Picked at Random, a Question.

The Tribune will pay $5 for each question accepted for The Inquiring Reporter to ask. Send name and address with your question to "The Inquiring Reporter," Chicago Tribune. For today's question Miss H. Hulbert, 3752 Grand boulevard, was awarded $5.

The Question.

Do you think the great advances in science have made the world happier?

Where Asked.

City hall.

The Answers.

John McDonough, 746 Belden avenue, cartoonist—I don't see where the advances in science have made people any happier. It has caused more trouble and sorrow than anything else. You take the automobile — 721 deaths in Chicago last year. What will it be in 1924?

Mrs. A. C. Conrad, 816 W. 64th street, housewife—Considering all that science has done and is doing for us, we ought to be happier, whether we are or not. It has improved our minds and we are better off every way. It has given us wonderful things that we never dreamed of.

Bernard M. Epstein, 5813 Calumet avenue, attorney—Pleasure and luxury seeking seems to be the roads most invaded by modern science. Scientific improvement has tended to create a tension — a condition that makes nervous wrecks of those taking most advantage of it.

Mrs. Frances Dolan, 727 West 14th street, switchboard operator — With the telephone, the radio, and the auto; with the marvels in scientific research, promoting health and happiness and prolonging life; with the scientists solving the mysteries of the universe—we should be happier.

Herman Bernstein, 1314 South Turner avenue, attorney—The human tendency is to make progress. Science, in its researches, leads to a faster progress. Humanity is being benefited every day in new comforts and added conveniences for pleasure and well being.

Picture of Poverty in Germany Inspires Church Relief Drive

BY THE REV. W. B. NORTON.

"The birth of a child in a family in Germany is now a tragedy," said Dr. Adolph Keller yesterday in addressing a meeting of the commission on international friendship of the Chicago Church federation at the Hotel Morrison.

DR. ADOLPH KELLER.

Dr. Keller is secretary of the executive committee of the central bureau for relief of the evangelical churches of Europe. He also is the official representative of the European churches to the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America. After Dr. Keller's plea for help it was decided at the request of Dr. John Timothy Stone to call a meeting of pastors and laymen to raise relief funds.

Dr. Keller gave instances of suffering which, he said, came under his own observation.

"The middle class, made up of pastors, teachers, and salaried people, have suffered the most," said Dr. Keller. "One pastor couldn't bury his dead child. Many have not had a new suit of clothes since the war. Some have no shoes and cannot do pastoral work. Many pastors work eight hours in banks, mills, mines, and elsewhere to keep from starving and do their pastoral work in the evening after a wearisome day's work.

"Pastors cannot afford to buy books or even newspapers. Many who are old and poor have no light or heat in their houses. Thousands of children go to school without any breakfast and others who have had only a little bread to eat. One little girl, asked what she wanted most for Christmas, replied, "A big piece of bread." Young women have to wear gunny sacks for protection and lack underclothing.

"In one city there is an average of ten to fifteen suicides a day. Parish houses are closed, the holy communion cannot be celebrated because wine is too expensive. The German synod could not be held because the pastors could not pay the railroad fare necessary to attend."

Galli-Curci to Tour Europe Next Season

New York, Jan 3.—Mme. Galli-Curci is to become the first prima donna to make a reputation in America and then go to Europe to be acclaimed, reversing the usual process of succeeding in Europe and then coming here. Lawrence Evans, her manager, announced tonight that Mme. Galli-Curci's first foreign tour would start next fall, and that her American appearances next season would be limited to rôles at the Metropolitan Opera house, in January and early February of 1925.

Duse Returns to the Poetry of D'Annunzio

And Acts, in Her Fashion, His "La Citta Morta."

"THE DEAD CITY":
Gabriele d'Annunzio's five-act tragedy ["La Citta Morta"]: acted in Italian Jan. 3, 1924, in the Auditorium, by this cast:

Anna	Eleanora Duse
Leonardo	Memo Benassi
Bianca Maria	Ione Morino
Alessandro	Gino Fantoni
A nurse	Enif Robert

BY FREDERICK DONAGHEY.

The Signora, one learns from her literary precursor, includes "The Dead City" in her final American pilgrimage "for the sake of Italy, which nurtured her and D'Annunzio, and for the sake of the art of the theater, which both of them have served." Si, Signora—si! Also, "The Dead City" is in, perhaps, because it is brief, as tragedies in five acts go, and is not too exacting as an afternoon's chore. It is good D'Annunzio, and fourth-rate drama; and it is a foul and putrid thing of perfumed line and the stink of ancient incests.

By records easily available and memories easily accessible, yesterday's was the first performance here; and, if it was not, it doesn't matter. Duse used it in her répertoire when last in the country; and we saw her as the blind wife in other cities when her talents and powers were full for all that D'Annunzio designed. . . . The play has ever since been within reach in a beautiful translation by Arthur Symons, himself a poet of exquisite gift; and it is to be supposed that those who are interested in the théâtre of D'Annunzio know all there is to know about "The Dead City."

Anna is among the rôles Duse made memorable two decades ago in spite of the restrictions with which she invested herself in her fantastic striving for reticence. Yesterday she was in the part an old, ill, and haggard woman, save in fugitive moments when her entrancing sense of picture and of pantomime was indulged. We know, of course, that her restraint and her continence have been extolled through many columns and many pages; and we know that more nonsense has been written about Duse than about any other player in the annals of an antic art. Being natural is not the actor's business: seeming natural is.

Mr. Benassi, again, as in "Ghosts," gave out the impression of talent, although, as in "Ghosts," he was actorial; and the others were good enough. . . . Duse will play again on Monday in "The Closed Door," new here.

Mr. Balieff plans a change of program for the Chauve-Souris on the 13th. . . . He says that, when through with the American tour, he will take his delectable mummers to Paris, London, and the Spanish cities.

Henry Kitchell Webster's "Love in a Cottage" is in rehearsal by Miss Emily Stevens, and is bulletined for production on the 11th in Stamford (Conn.).

U. of Chicago Professor Wins $1,000 Science Prize

A prize of $1,000, offered by the American Association for the Advancement of Science for the most important contribution to science placed before it, was presented at Cincinnati, O., yesterday to Dr. Leonard E. Dickson, professor of mathematics at the University of Chicago.

"His contribution is a very general mathematical theory, comparable in importance to the so-called absolute calculus of Ricci and Levi Civita, which formed the mathematical basis for Einstein's general relativity theory," declared Dr. Charles N. Moore of the University of Cincinnati.

Dr. Dickson, a native of Independence, Ia., is the only American mathematician who has been honored by being made a corresponding member of the French Academy of Science.

Muffler for Dinner.

NEW YORK.—[Special Correspondence.]—Just about anything that keeps within the black and white and gray effect is a possible accessory to the dinner coat, provided it is an article that may be called a dinner coat accessory, and not a form of wearing apparel which would be more appropriate on the golf course, where black and white color schemes are not out of place. We do not recommend that one turn up at the next dinner party with a proper dinner coat, worn with black and white checkered knickers and black and white mixture golf hose.

However, we did see, in our favorite men's shop, a muffler to be worn with tuxedo, which savored a little of the golf course in that it was of foulard of just such shape and texture as the gayly colored handkerchief that the golfer uses to mop the effects of the sun from his brow. But it is in black and white, the white being the little squares which form the pattern. The border is black, as is the background.

Fashionotes.

It is a pleasure to happen upon a smartly dressed and perfectly tailored man. We have one in our notebook, seen upon the avenue the other day. He stood out more for the cut of his clothes than for anything startling in the way of color. For his coat and suit were both black. The overcoat, a Chesterfield, was form fitting and extremely broad in the shoulders, according to this season's style mandates. The collar was not velvet, but plain, with moderately large lapels. The black suit was combined with mauve shirt, with pinned attached collar matching, dark blue necktie, pearl gray hat with black band, and pearl gray spats.

Weighing His Generosity.

A client at our office presented me with a box of candy for Christmas. The other girls began teasing me about the size of the box, saying it weighed only two pounds. I made a bet that it weighed five. Just as I was putting the box on the scale in walked the man who had given it.

He said, "That weighs five pounds. I'm not a piker." M. P.

Rainy Day Gloom.

Manipulating an umbrella in the Christmas crowds is nerve wracking and requires no little skill. I'm not skilled. Imagine my embarrassment when I saw a beautiful creation being dragged from a blonde bobbed head and, in spite of all my efforts, rolled in the mud at my feet—the result of my awkward manipulation of an umbrella in a crowded city street. MIGGS: A GIRL 18, 5 FEET 3, may carry 120 pounds quite becomingly. I would not attempt to paint the lily, if I were you. You are just right as is.

UNHAPPY: WHY DON'T YOU USE the lime water mouth wash? It is good. Send s. a. e., and I will tell you in a pamphlet I have ready how to make and to use it. Inexpensive—but good. There seems to be some doubt in dental minds about the soda as a mouth wash. It does counteract acids—but lime water is considered much better. Salt water is good, too. And common salt, added to the tooth brush now and then, is recommended as a pyorrhea preventive.

TRIBUNE COOK BOOK

BY JANE EDDINGTON.

Cooking of Fish.

Ladd Plumley, in "American Cookery" for December, writes authoritatively and originally of "The Cooking of Fish." He first tells how a highly skilled and paid cook served brook trout with a slice of lemon, "a cooking sacrilege like unto flavoring a porterhouse steak with cinnamon." His description of how to prepare, cook, and serve this fish is convincing—no parsley but a sprig of cress; no removing of head, etc.

The next discussion is of boiling chunks of salmon in brine until the flesh receded from the backbone, and why. Next he says, "for frying sea fish use nothing but good clean bacon fat, or thin slices of salt pork, fried with the fish" [only a little fat]. All pan fried sea fish are dredged with white corn meal, on outside only, for where it will not brown it absorbs grease.

Of the smelt the dictum is that the head should not be removed, nor should the fish be split. With care the entrails can easily be pulled out with the gills and tongue of the fish.

Mr. Plumley says: "It is the custom to fry smelt after dredging in egg and cracker dust. But many fishermen think this is a mistake and that the delicate flavor of this little fish is best conserved by frying it in just the same manner as has been directed for brook trout—without any dredging and with butter mixed with bacon fat. But smelt may be garnished with thin slices of lemon, and tartar sauce goes excellently with these dainty fish."

All Society to Turn Out This Evening for Twelfth Night Ball

The two connecting ballrooms of the Hotel Sherman will be converted tonight into a French formal garden and royal marquee for the White ball, the annual jollification arranged by a mysterious Twelfth Night committee. Every one who lays claim to being a member of society will be there, dressed entirely in white, for that is the rule to which the committee is going to adhere strictly. The chosen period is that of Louis XIV., XV., and XVI., although costumes of other periods will be permitted. A short pageant will be given. Numerous dinners will precede the ball, some of the hosts and hostesses being Mr. and Mrs. Joseph T. Ryerson, who will entertain at their residence, 1406 Astor street, for their house guests Mr. and Mrs. Roy Howard of New York, formerly of Chicago; Mr. and Mrs. Aldis J. Browne, whose party will be at the Saddle and Cycle; Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Chatfield-Taylor, who will entertain at the Attic club; Mr. and Mrs. John C. Pitcher, who will have guests at their residence, 220 East Walton place; Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Thorne, who also will entertain at their residence, 1046 Lake Shore drive, and Mr. and Mrs. William McCormick Blair of 1416 Astor street, whose party will be at their residence.

Mrs. Patrick A. Valentine of New York has deviated from her usual winter schedule, which includes mid-winter at Oconomowoc, and is making an indefinite stay at the Drake. Among the many affairs being given for her is a luncheon and bridge today, with Mrs. D Mark Cummings of 1550 North State parkway as hostess. Mr. and Mrs. Charles G. King of 1450 Astor street will entertain for Mrs. Valentine at a dinner at their residence on Monday evening.

The first musical arranged for members of the Arts club by the music committee, of which Mrs. Ernst Freund is chairman, is to be given on Sunday evening, Jan. 13, at 9 o'clock at the Casino. Arthur Rubinstein and Paul Kochanske will give a program of modern music. The affair is for members only.

Mrs. Harry Channon of 1434 Astor street is giving a luncheon today at the Woman's Athletic club for Miss Consuelo de Gramedo of Paris, who is visiting her grandmother, Mrs. Harry Spenser-Brown, and Miss Mary Landon Baker.

Mrs. Frederic W. Upham of 942 Lake Shore drive is giving a small dinner this evening for Miss Dorothy Vicaji of London. Miss Vicaji, who is a portrait painter, is staying at the Drake for several weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard H. Mabbatt of Lake Forest have returned after passing the holidays with the latter's mother, Mrs. Arthur T. Churchill, in Burlington, Ia.

Mr. and Mrs. Cyril C. Spades of 4259 [illegible] avenue have gone to St. Augustine, Fla., to spend the remainder of the winter with the former's mother, Mrs. Michael F. Spades.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence P. Dodge of the Lake Shore Drive hotel have returned from Mansfield, Ga., where they spent the holidays.

Mr. and Mrs. Moise Dreyfus of 3033 Sheridan road will depart on Jan. 13 for several months in California.

Mr. and Mrs. William B. Wood of 3122 Sheridan road and their daughter, Miss Jane Wood, are soon to leave Chicago to take up residence in Forest Hills, L. I., as new business connections of Mr. Wood's require him to be near New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Sterling Sanford of Detroit, Mich.; Miss Ursula X. Hemingway, a student at Carleton college, Northfield, Minn.; and Ernest Miller Hemingway of Paris France, have all been with their parents, Dr. and Mrs. Clarence E. Hemingway of Oak Park, for the holiday season.

Ruby Becomes Rage with French Women

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

PARIS, Jan. 3.—The ruby competes with the emerald for chic and popular jewelry this year, and sapphires have been completely abandoned, a rue de la Paix jeweler told THE TRIBUNE tonight.

The return of the ruby to favor with fashionable women comes after a decade of disfavor. The ruby has increased sharply in price in the last few weeks in anticipation of a heavy demand.

The Australian sapphire is tumbling to low prices, but Ceylon stones hold their value. Emeralds continue high in price, even exceeding the quotation for diamonds for fine, dark, clear oblong shaped stones.

Miss Alexandra Carlisle and John E. Jenkins Wed

Miss Alexandra Carlisle and John Elliott Jenkins were married yesterday afternoon at the home of the latter's mother, Mrs. John E. Jenkins, 2625 Prairie avenue. Only relatives and close friends witnessed the ceremony which was read by the Rev. William C. Covert. Miss Louise Prussing, formerly of Chicago, was the bride's only attendant, and Albert B. Dewey Jr. was best man for Mr. Jenkins. Mrs. Jenkins was a member of the company which recently presented "The Fool" here.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

Washington, D. C., Jan. 3.—[Special.]—Mrs. Harding arrived from Marion, O., early this morning, accompanied by Mrs. Charles E. Sawyer, wife of Gen. Sawyer, the Harding family physician. President and Mrs. Coolidge and Capt. Adolphus Andrew, commander of the Mayflower and naval aid to the President, to the station to meet her and escort her to the Willard hotel in a White House automobile sent to the station for her use.

Mrs. Harding went at once to the suite of rooms which will be her home for the remainder of the winter.

The secretary of the interior and Mrs. Work had a company of thirty-six at dinner this evening at their apartment at Wardman Park hotel, in compliment to the French ambassador and Mme. Jusserand.

Offers $50,000 Prizes for the Best Essays

PARIS, Jan. 3.—[By the Associated Press.]—The establishment of a series of European peace essay competitions, similar to that of Edward W. Bok, the prizes totalling $50,000, will be officially announced soon. The donor of the money is Edward A. Filene of Boston, Mass., who offers it for a competition among French, English and Italian writers for the best practical plan for the general maintenance of peace.

Leon Bourgeois, former president of the council of the league of nations, has agreed to preside over the French committee, provided Senator de Jouvenel, editor of the Matin, serves as acting head of the committee. Tomasso Tittoni, president of the Italian senate, has accepted the chairmanship of the Italian committee.

In England George Gilbert Murray, the scholar, is doing the directive work.

Galli-Curci to Be Luncheon Guest

A luncheon for Amelita Galli-Curci, the opera star, will be given in the Florentine room at the Congress hotel at 12:30 tomorrow by the Italian chamber of commerce.

HOW TO BE HAPPY THOUGH MARRIED

BY DORIS BLAKE.

Some days my mail saddens and depresses me intensely. Problems arise which seem so hopeless of solution. There is the wife, hard working, striving to make happiness for herself and her children out of a pay envelope the major portion of which is usurped for a dissolute husband's pleasures. Reading between the lines, you are conscious the woman loves the man in spite of his misdoings.

There are the lonely young women and equally lonely young men wanting clean and honorable companionship which the large cities make so difficult of attainment.

Then there are some of these lonely girls grown desperate waiting, willing to take a plunge into anything that will relieve the monotony of their existences—girls suddenly resolving that their ideas of self-respect were all wrong as they gaze upon other girls whirling off in their mad pleasure dance and achieving popularity of a sort.

Again one meets with the bitterest kind of cynicism toward life and love and marriage which, coming on a gray and cloudy morning, is apt to find a responsive echo: "Is life all sadness? Is it better to follow the line of least resistance? Better to be selfish? Better perhaps, to forsake the good old virtues for those of free and syncopated age?

After such an hour the sun peeps its head up over the horizon and sends scuttling off to the archives of doubt and gloom the harrying clouds. And you say: "O, it's rather nice to be alive and to look at life with a clean eye and a healthy mind! There is much beauty hereabout!"

To Twenty-One I owe a debt of thanks. Her letter came like a breath of spring, carrying its message of the eternal beauty of youth unsullied.

"I am not writing to ask advice," she says. "This is addressed to certain girls whose letters I have read in your column and who say they have no boy friends unless they permit familiarities.

"I am 21, and will be married in January to the only man in the world. Girls! It's the most wonderful thought in the world and what a thrill I get out of thinking 'Soon I'll be Dave's wife.' Ever since 18 I have had many friends, boys and girls. My parents are the most understanding sort in the world. I only wish some of you girls had a mother and a dad like mine. They encourage my sister and me to have friends and to bring them to a home always open to them.

"I can be absolutely honest with myself when I say that I never permitted a familiar thing and my boy friends never expected any. My first kiss was for 'my man.' I came to him with pure lips, a clean heart, and an unsullied body. To be able to offer your lips to your man for the first kiss is worth any sacrifice. I am so proud of him and so happy that it just hurts. Girls, there are the right kind of boys—who expect no kiss as payment for an evening's enjoyment. There are boys who respect a girl enough not to suggest such a thing. I like to be kissed as well as any of you, but I believe there is something almost sacred about a kiss and it should never be defiled. I am not old fashioned. At least, I don't believe I am, but if waiting for your man and being true to him when you do have him is old fashioned, then I am glad I am. It seems that you know deep down in your heart when you see him that he's the right one. I met my dear one at our junior prom at college, and that was the beginning. Please don't think I'm preaching as a 'holier or happier than thou' person. I just want girls to know that one waited and in the end got what she waited for. Thank you.

"TWENTY-ONE."

DORIS BLAKE ANSWERS

Possible, of Course.

"Dear Miss Blake: Day after day I read the puzzling questions you answer, and now I find there is one for you to answer for me. Recently I have visited a girl friend frequently and each time her brother has taken me home. He calls me up and asks to take me out. There is a young man where I work who is forever calling me sweetheart, and the other boys all say he cares a great deal for me. When I go home at night he asks me to kiss him, but this I certainly refuse. Do you think it possible that either of these young men cares for me?

BUBBLES."

It seems to me both boys find pleasure in your company. Why? Probably because you are a nice girl and have that enviable knack of making boys wish to be with you.

Her Parents Object.

"Dear Miss Blake—I have been going with a girl for a year and a half, and during this time I have learned to love her. Her parents object to me, however, and she is always having quarrels at home. Now, I do not want to give her up and she does not want to give me up or her parents. What would you advise me to do?

"UNHAPPY."

What is the matter, Unhappy, that the parents object to you? Is is not something you may overcome? Or are you both too young to be encouraged in a serious love affair? You see, you do leave me with little to guide me in my desire to help. Suppose you tell me what the trouble is—and perhaps we may work out some solution that will make everybody happier.

A FRIEND IN NEED

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

Santa Forgot Them.

"I am asking for aid for a poor old couple, both over 70, who are ill and in need of warm clothing. They have no one to help them. It is pitiful to see them struggling to live. Help will be as ray of sunshine to gladden their hearts.

C. R."

All Need Clothes.

"I wonder if you can get some clothes for a worthy and needy family. It is mine. I'm just 17, and am the oldest. My two sisters, 13 and 11, haven't a thing to wear. My mother hasn't, either. It would help us a whole lot if you could help us get some clothes. I don't live at home, so I can't help, for I only get a few dollars a week, which has to go a long way. I hope you'll get them some clothes so that they can go to school. They will call for anything in the city. M. S."

Who can and will give assistance to M. S.?

FOOLISH QUESTIONS

I'd like to make a few suggestions
Concerning asking Foolish Questions;
For often Goops ask one to tell
What they could answer, just as well.
Just use your brains and eyes and earses,
And give your Mouth a rest, my Dearses!

NOTE—If you know any Goop faults you want corrected, drop a note to Mr. Gelett Burgess, care of this paper, and perhaps he will draw a picture and write a verse about it.

Monogram Club to Dance.

Four hundred guests are expected to be present at a dance to be given by the Monogram club at the Drake this evening.

W. S. Brewsters Have Large Party at Opera

Nearly every available nook and cranny was occupied by an interested spectator at the opera last night. One of the largest and most interesting parties was one given by Mr. and Mrs. Walter S. Brewster for their guest, Mrs. Quincy Shaw of Boston. Others in the group, which filled two boxes, were Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Schweppe, Mr. and Mrs. John Alden Carpenter, Mr. and Mrs. Richard T. Crane Jr., and Robert Allerton.

Mrs. John Borden had with her two young "sub-debs," her daugther, Ellen, and Miss Louise Brewer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. Harris Brewer, James B. Waller and Benjamin Carpenter Jr. Prince and Princess Cantacuzene were host and hostess to Mr. and Mrs. Aldis J. Browne and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Y. Freeman in the box of Mr. and Mrs. Potter Palmer.

Mrs. Samuel Insull and Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Hamill were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Augustus S. Peabody. With Miss Mabel Linn were Mr. and Mrs. George A. McKinlock, Mr. and Mrs. John T. McCutcheon, and Samuel Harper.

Mrs. Thomas R. Lyon's guests were her daughter, Mrs. John W. Gary, Mrs. William P. Conger, Miss Cornelia Conger, Mrs. John C. Pitcher, and Miss Louisa Burrows.

In the Edward H. Bennett box were Mr. and Mrs. William E. Parsons, Miss Harriet Parsons, Mr. and Mrs. William B. Hale, and Frederic F. Norcross. Miss Martha Morse was hostess in the box of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Morse Jr., to Miss Anne Schuttler, Harris Wilder, Paul Boston, and Thomas Ingersoll.

Mr. and Mrs. Gustavus F. Swift Jr., Mr. and Mrs. James E. Baum Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Johnson occupied the box of Richard Fitzgerald, the father of Mrs. Swift and Mrs. Baum.

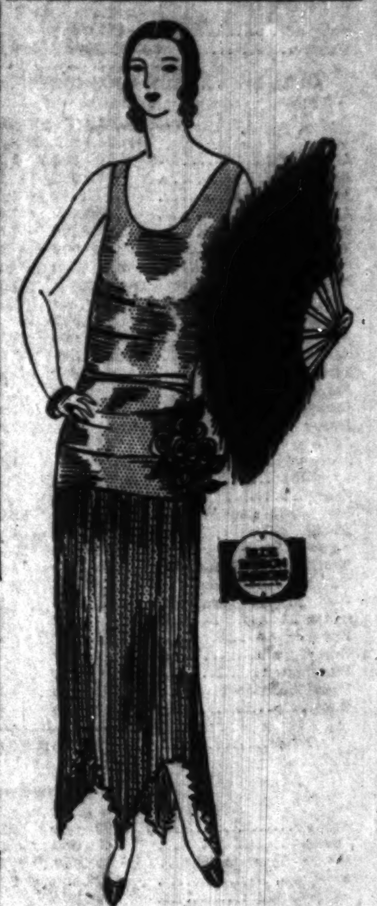
Pale Pink Tints Bloom After 8 o'Clock



by Corinne Lowe

NEW YORK.—[Special Correspondence.]—As a matter of corsage, something on the hip! What should we do without this cluster of flowers, this tuft of plumes, or this knot of drapery which is so often the sole effort at trimming on our evening frocks! Of the three forms just mentioned, flowers continue to be perhaps the most popular, and certainly the cluster of velvet roses and green leaves gives just the right climax to this new evening frock of pale pink.

Pale pink! It is the tint being stressed now by Paris in her evening models, and over here we are catching many reverberations of the fashion. At the opera and on the dancing floor one sees frequently the new roseleaf tone carried out in satin, velvet, chiffon, or tulle. Already it is vying successfully with the white, the greens, and the reds, which have been up to this point our favored color selections.

The present model combines a long corsage of pink satin with a plaited skirt of self-color chiffon. Originally designed for the Paris stage in silver cloth, the frock retains that charm of line which made it so much admired. This line is dependent largely on the corselet-like bodice, extending well down over the hips and fitting them rather closely. It is a technique of which the present day designer is fond.

Vitamines at First Hand

Authorities agree that among the foods that are richest in vitamines are the fruits of the citrus family. Among the richest of these in vitamine elements (owing largely to its abundant juice) is

ATWOOD GRAPEFRUIT

Added to this is an exquisite flavor that makes it an ideal table luxury.

Buy it by the box or half box, but always look for the Atwood wrapper.

More live stock arrived yesterday in all branches of the trade than were generally expected, resulting in a break in prices. Cattle receipts at 17,000 were 4,000 beyond the advanced estimate and the hog total overran 6,000 at 63,000, while 8,000 more sheep were recorded at 23,000. Weather conditions were accountable for the increased supplies.

Values weakened as the day advanced, with closing cattle prices 15@40c lower, hogs mostly 20@25c lower, and lambs weak to 25c off. Thirty-seven head of fancy 1,026 lb yearlings sold to Wilson at $12.25, with $11.50 next highest and top heavy steers at $10.85, averaging 1,496 lbs. Bulk of beef steers sold at $8.15@10.25. Butcher stock closed 10@25c lower, calves steady, and feeding steers weak.

At the start some hogs sold only 10c lower, while late in the session many transactions showed fully 25c decline, with mixed packing kinds weakest. Packers commenced operations slowly, most of them filling their orders after the noon hour. The finish was decidedly topheavy, due to liberal receipts in sight for the near future. Best butchers sold at $7.40, averaging 260@300 lbs. General average, $7.10, against $7.30 Wednesday, $6.90 a week ago, $8.45 a year ago, and $7.35 two years ago.

Lamb Trade Firm.

Notwithstanding the largest Thursday sheep receipts in four months and the comparatively large number expected today, the market yesterday held most of the advance recorded during the opening three days of the week, with top lambs at $13.85, being 5c below the previous day and 35c above Monday. Bulk of woolskins brought $13.25@13.75, with Nebraska fed lambs at $13.65. Aged and yearling sheep sold steady.

Activity in the feeder division featured the day's lamb trade, with country orders absorbing several large bands at unevenly higher prices. Best suitable for a short feed reached $12.90, highest on country account since Nov. 13.

Receipts at Chicago for today are estimated at 10,000 cattle, 60,000 hogs, and 17,000 sheep, against 7,178 cattle, 48,751 hogs, and 12,635 sheep the corresponding Friday a year ago.

RGENTINA NOW EEKS PLACE IN NDUSTRIAL SUN

BY SCRUTATOR.

agrarian Argentina is tiring of ble of cafeteria to industrial Eu, and aspires to become a manu ring nation, says Edward Feely, erican commercial attaché at Aires. Mr. Feely is now in cago advising midwest exporters seek expansion of sales in the thern republic.

recent increase of Argentine cus rates, although primarily a reve measure, is also inspired by the -wide urge to industrial self-suffi y, Mr. Feely declares. Without and with coal of inferior quality, republic's industrial development fall far short of a nationalist ideal, American business men have a great rtunity in supplying the equipment realization of its new program.

highway development the Argentine now where it was in regard to rail ys in 1870. Britain equipped it with ll lines and reaped profits and perma nt investments of great value. Amer ans can more than duplicate this per rmance by giving financial assistance a highway program which will open tremendous field to American ma ery, contractors, and engineers, and and the already widening outlet for erican automotive products.

ighway building has become a leading door sport with Americans. Europe had its roads so long that it is not well prepared to build them for others.

s indications of the world-wide trend foreign trade, the present state of erican business in Argentina and the pointment list of Mr. Feely, while in cago, are instructive. Machinery and micals are the big export items al dy. Much of the machinery being ported from the midwest to Argentina, de from agricultural implements and omotive products, is industrializing country. Electrical apparatus and cialties such as typewriters and office indirectly contribute to this result.

Mr. Feely says he has never before such keen interest in export trade he has encountered in the last five s in Chicago, nor has he ever known an opportunity that excels that pre ed to Americans by the impending elopment of Argentina into an indus al as well as a farming country.

Chicago sales managers and executives ve conferred with him at length and rs have come from Cincinnati, Min apolis, Indianapolis, South Bend, and er factory towns of the midwest. The of callers displays export interest the part of producers of such varied s as steam shovels, tents, cleansers, nos, lumber, hydraulic hoists, refining chinery, dies, and specialties, rubber d typewriters.

reight rates at present offer no seri handicap in favor of the eastern board, but Mr. Feely is keenly inter ed in the development of a waterway the gulf to facilitate access to the west to his field.

advantages in Argentina at include a reputation for high and growing American invest- in Argentine government securities. The packers are the only American interest that has invested heavily in private industry. Europe's contribution of capital, however, is largely a matter of the past.

The excellent marine facilities given by the United States shipping board have been supplemented by unsurpassed banking connections and branches established by some of the larger New York banks.

American business labors under the handicap of the exchange rate caused by the depreciation of the Argentine currency and the fact there are so few Americans in the country, which is one of the most cosmopolitan in the world. One of the big American boosters in the Argentine, Mr. Feely says, is John White, THE TRIBUNE correspondent, the only representative of an American paper in the country. To his efforts are due the launching of an English language weekly in Buenos Aires.

FINANCIAL NOTES

Professional speculators for the decline, taking advantage of the heavy realizing sales by traders who deferred converting their paper profits into cash until after the turn of the year, succeeded in bringing about a sharp reaction in the stock market. Oils, equipments, and steels were the hardest hit among the standard industrials, with sharp breaks also taking place in such specialties as Davison Chemical and Du Pont, off 5¾ and 3⅝ points, respectively.

Losses of 1 to nearly 2 points were recorded by Baldwin, American Locomotive, American Can, American Smelting and Refining, Corn Products, Pacific Oil, Producers and Refiners, Phillips Petroleum, Pure Oil, Jones Bros. Tea, Schulte Stores, Philip Morris, and Continental Can. Good buying developed, however, in Consolidated Gas, U. S. Cast Iron Pipe, Stewart-Warner Speedometer, Central Leather preferred, Cuyamel Fruit, and International Harvester, the gains ranging from 1 to 4 points.

The Congoleum company has declared a dividend of 75 cents a share quarterly, payable Jan. 30 to stockholders of record Jan. 15. This is the first dividend since the 300 per cent stock dividend on Dec. 22, and places the new stock on a $3 annual basis.

A letter sent to stockholders by the Lehigh Valley railway says shareholders will be given the right to subscribe to shares in the Lehigh Valley coal company at $1 each on or before April 15.

COTTONSEED OIL.

NEW YORK, Jan. 3.—COTTONSEED OIL—Declined several points early, but final bids were unchanged to 2 points net lower. Sales, 8,200 brls; prime crude, 9.50c sales; prime summer yellow spot, 11.00c; January closed 11.03c; March, 11.31c; May, 11.65c, all bid.

RAW SILK MARKET.

NEW YORK, Jan. 3.—SILK—Raw: Quiet; prices unchanged.

DRY GOODS AND GARMENT NEWS

[Copyright: 1924: Fairchild News Service.]

NEW YORK.—Trading in the local gray goods market was again quiet, with prices, if anything, slightly easier. Quotations on the popular priced print cloths were as follows: 64x60, 5.35 yards to the pound, near by, 11c; contract, 11¼c; 68x72, 4.50 yards to the pound, near by, 12½c; contract, 12¾c; 72x76, 4.25 yards to the pound, contract, 12⅝c; 80x80, 4.00 yards to the pound, near by, 15⅛c; contract, 15½c.

BELFAST.—Despite increased supplies in Irish flax markets, prices are higher and yarn prices rise as tone of linen market becomes decidedly stronger. No sign of lower linen price for entire season is seen.

NEW YORK.—Calcutta cables intimate quiet burlap market and business here is dull in consequence.

CORN ATTRACTS ATTENTION AND PRICES ADVANCE

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Spread between Chicago and Winnipeg July wheat continues to narrow and the difference dropped to 4⅜c at the close, the smallest so far, and compares with over 6c recently. Bulk of the trade in wheat consisted of spreading operations with a local professional buying May and selling July. Closing trades were ⅛c higher to ⅛c lower, the latter on July.

Corn came in for more attention and, with abnormally small receipts for this season of the year—88 cars—and limited hedging pressure, prices advanced and closed ¼@⅝c higher, with May leading. Oats were unchanged to ⅛c lower, and rye unchanged to ⅛c lower.

Stronger Tone in Corn.

With all reports indicating that a continued light movement of cash corn was to be expected from the interior unless there was an upturn in the price and no material pressure, it took but little buying to give the market a stronger undertone, and several commission houses openly took the bull side during the day. Cash corn was up ½@1c, as compared with May, while the January closed 1c higher, at 69⅜c. It was said that sales of 150,000 bu had been made to the seaboard for export. May finished at 74⅜c and July at 75⅜@75½c.

Trade in oats was largely of a local character, and the market was easier despite reports from St. Louis that the southern and southeastern demand for cash grain showed much improvement. Bids from outside markets downstate were somewhat better than those sent out from Chicago.

Provisions Lack Support.

Lack of support, rather than aggressive selling, was largely responsible for a lower range in provisions. Lard finished 7½c and bellies 7½@15c lower, while ribs were unchanged to 7½c higher. Smaller packers sold a little lard. Deliveries on January contracts were 100,000 lbs ribs. Prices follow:

CASH·GRAIN NEWS

Decline in foreign exchange checked export business at the seaboard and sales of only 100,000 bu were estimated with a small lot worked from the gulf. Corn sales were estimated at 50,000 bu, but Chicago handlers sold around 150,00 bu to exporters during the day.

Domestic shipping sales here were 35,000 bu wheat, 90,000 bu corn, 60,000 bu oats, and 55,000 bu rye. There was 14,000 bu No. 2 red winter wheat sold out of store at ½c under to 2c over May f. o. b. Deliveries on January contracts were 4,000 bu wheat and 30,000 bu corn.

There is a noticeable lack of pressure of cash wheat in the leading markets. Prices at St. Louis and Omaha were firm and unchanged, while Kansas City was unchanged to 1c higher. No. 1 hard here was 1c over to 2½c under and No. 2 hard May price to 4c under. Receipts, 11 cars. At Minneapolis premiums were unchanged to 1c higher.

Offerings of cash corn were small, with a fair demand, and the basis ½@1c better as compared with the May, No. 2 mixed bringing 1½c under, yellow 1c under, and white May price. No. 3 mixed sold at 2¾c, yellow at 2¼@2¾c, and white at 1½c under May. Receipts, 88 cars. At Minneapolis basis on yellow was unchanged and mixed ¼@½c higher. Peoria declined 2c, due to the withdrawal from the market of the Corn Products company as a buyer. Other markets were generally unchanged, although a few cars at St. Louis were quoted at 3c higher.

Demand for cash oats was fair, with No. 2 white ½c under to ¼c over May and No. 3 white ¾@1½c under. Receipts, 39 cars. At Minneapolis the basis was ¼@½c higher, with No. 3 white 1@1¼c under May.

HOTEL ROW SITE FACING JACKSON PARK IS BOUGHT

BY AL CHASE.

One of Chicago's most attractive hotel sites, the block of frontage on 56th street, extending from Everett avenue to South Shore drive, overlooking Jackson park, was sold yesterday by the Lehmann estate for a reported $460,000. Charles E. Fox and Walter R. Drennan took title for an undisclosed syndicate, and will market the property through the South Shore Investment company, of which Mr. Fox and Mr. Drennan are officials.

If offers already received indicate anything it's safe to predict that the entire block will be improved with two, possibly three, skyscraping hotels or apartment buildings involving an expenditure of several millions. The southwest corner of 56th and the shore drive is unquestionably one of the finest hotel sites in the world. It looks south over the park and east over the new park extension and lake.

Site of "Spectatorium."

The property, which is only a block east of the new Windermere, fronts 469 feet on 56th, 229 feet on Everett, and [illegible] feet on the shore drive. It was the site during the world's fair of the great Mackaye "Spectatorium," one of the spectacular failures of the exposition. It has been vacant ever since and many deals for securing it have fallen by the wayside. J. W. Dooley was broker for the Lehmann estate. John T. Fitzgerald and Willis Smith were attorneys.

Jacob Erenstein has sold the thirty apartments at 557 North Pine avenue to Samuel Davidson and Hyman Charniss for a reported $154,000, subject to $90,000, through the Albany Realty company. Edward Berkson was attorney for the seller and J. H. Rosenberg for the buyer.

Sixteen Acre Park for Berwyn.

A site, approximately sixteen and one-quarter acres, at the northwest corner of Home avenue and 31st street, has been bought by the Berwyn Park district from the Western Agency and Loan corporation for $58,000. It will be made into an attractive park with lagoon, wading pool for youngsters, tennis courts, baseball diamond, playground, etc., according to Mrs. Ada Rockwood Mellish, president of the district.

Trees and shrubbery will be planted next Arbor day, when it is planned to have the whole town of Berwyn turn out and help. The property is part of a sixty-five acre tract bought last May for subdivision purposes and on which houses are now going up.

Louis Karno has bought the fifteen flats and six stores at the southwest corner of Lake Park and 43d from Ernest Miller for an indicated $100,100, subject to $56,100, giving in part payment the apartments at the southeast corner of Lunt and Greenwood at $80,000. William M. Mills was attorney in both deals.

WORLD'S · GRAIN MARKET · NEWS

New motives for buying wheat and corn are not easily discovered, but there is a little buying coming in all the time that absorbs the offerings on the breaks. A few of the largest local operators are selling July wheat straight and others are buying July and spreading between it and May in Chicago and in the July here and in Winnipeg. It would not take much encouragement to bring in more buying.

January corn was picked up fairly and advanced 1c to 69⅝c at the close. There were deliveries of 30,000 bu yesterday on January contracts, which went to cash interests. There was nothing bearish in the cash corn market yesterday, as No. 2 white sold at 74c, or May price.

Late reports from Omaha said there was to be an increased movement of grains in the west. January is always a time for selling of grains by farmers, and should they sell more freely there is to be no delay in moving the grain from the country elevators to terminal markets.

A local operator figures that at no time during the last twenty-two years has a purchase of July wheat against the sale of September returned a loss. About half the time there has been a chance to get a profit of around 5c per bu, while the smallest profit was around 2c.

Official Russian reports show that since the beginning of the export campaign by the soviet government to Nov. 22, 1923, actual clearances of rye aggregated around 19,000,000 bu and of wheat 10,000,000 bu and barley 5,000,000 bu. Germany, Norway, Finland, France, and Holland were the largest buyers of the grain.

COFFEE MARKETS.

NEW YORK, Jan. 3.—COFFEE—Futures opened at decline of 1 to 8 points, but closed 7 to 22 points net higher. Sales estimated at about 70,000 bags. March, 9.89c; May 9.43c; July, 10.19c; September, 9c; October, 8.96c; December, 8.81c. Spot steady and nominally unchanged at 10⅝c for Rio 7s, and 15@15⅝c for Santos 4s. Cost and freight offers included part Bourbon or flat bean 3s and 5s at 14.85@15.55c and Rio 7s at 10.15@10.25c for prompt shipment. Brazilian port receipts, 54,000 bags; Jundiahy receipts, 22,000 bags. Santos cleared 12,900 bags for the United States.

· PRODUCE · MARKETS ·

Butter markets generally showed a firm undertone, with a fair trade. Cheese in better demand and firmer at all points. Sales of 5 cars of fresh standard butter made at Chicago for January delivery at 49½@50⅛c and 20 cars of storage standard for January delivery at 48⅞@49⅛c.

Offerings of fresh eggs were larger and prices declined 2c despite the continued cold weather. Sales of 10 cars storage packed firsts for April delivery were made at 24c.

Better grades of potatoes advanced 5@10c, while the ordinary kinds were unchanged. Receipts, 35 cars, with 126 cars on team track.

Live roosters advanced ½c, but otherwise poultry prices were unchanged. Receipts, 9 cars and 1,605 coops.

Apples met with a better demand and market was somewhat firmer. Receipts, 2 cars.

LARGEST ORGANIZATION OF ITS CHARACTER IN THE WORLD

Babson's Reports are used by Leading Business Men and Investors to aid them in forecasting business conditions, commodity prices, money rates and security values.

Through the Babson Statistical Organization thousands of business men enjoy the advantage of a complete statistical department. The staff of more than 200 includes economists and engineers with a thorough and special knowledge of the statistical field and with many years practical experience in the business world.

To have this organization of statisticians and economists for the exclusive use of your business would cost more than $1,000,000 annually. The pro rata cost to any one client, however, is a mere fraction of a clerk's salary.

For details and samples of the Babson Method Write for Babson Report No. 24-ND.

The New York Times.

New York, Jan. 3.—[Special.]—While today's stock market moved in some confusion, mostly ending lower after a day of conflicting but superficial influences, the foreign exchanges again attracted attention.

Their movement, especially in the case of sterling, suggested either that legitimate banking interests had come in as purchasers at the early low prices, or else that the speculators in exchange had effected some rapid "covering." All of them opened weak. Sterling went under the low price of 1923, the $4.26 rate touched on Nov. 19; today's minimum price of $4.25⅝ being lower than any quoted since January, 1922. The franc at 4⅞ cents simultaneously stood at a low record figure.

Rapid Recovery Staged.

The subsequent recovery in sterling, which was rapid and apparently caused by purchases of strong character, brought the rate back to $4.30, the franc following more slowly. It was the kind of movement which was to be recurrently expected in a market crowded with speculation which has been pushed pretty far and has not been based on either tangible events or tangible expectations.

Day of Confusion.

Different stocks in today's market moved in opposite directions. It was a day of considerable confusion, with no definite tendency and a variety of explanations, none convincing, for each separate movement. In the end net declines were largest in those speculative industrial shares which had been pushed up most aggressively last week by professional speculators. Some declines of 3@5 points occurred in shares of that sort; yet other industrial stocks were scoring advances at the same moment.

INVESTORS' GUIDE

Answers are based upon information which THE TRIBUNE believes correct, but beyond care in securing it THE TRIBUNE assumes no responsibility.

Inquiries must bear the signature and address of writer. Answers of public interest will be published; those not of general interest will be mailed if stamped, self-addressed envelope is inclosed. Address letters to Investors' Guide.

Northwestern Public Service.

H. N. T.: The Northwestern Public Service company supplies electric service in Aberdeen, S. D., and North Platte and Columbus, Neb., without competition, and supplies eight other municipalities in these two states. It also supplies North Platte with gas. Its $1,900,000 first mortgage 6½ per cent bonds, series A, are secured by a first mortgage on all the company's fixed property, which is appraised at a valuation largely in excess of its mortgage debt. The net earnings of the properties owned by the company for the two years ended Sept. 30, 1923, averaged practically twice the annual interest requirements on the present bonded debt. For the year ended on that date net earnings, before federal income taxes but after maintenance, were $273,491, or nearly 2¼ times annual interest requirements on the outstanding first mortgage bonds. These bonds offer a high grade investment for a business man's funds.

American Can.

M. W. P.: The American Can company is a consolidation of a large number of factories in the United States engaged in the manufacture of tin cans, packages, and receptacles of all kinds. As of Dec. 31, 1922, it had outstanding $41,233,300 of 7 per cent cumulative preferred stock and an equal amount of common. There was also a funded debt of $6,872,560 outstanding. The company earned 25.30 per cent on its preferred and 18.80 per cent on the common in 1922. The preferred stock is high grade. An initial quarterly dividend of 1¼ per cent was paid on the common stock Feb. 15, 1923. This amount has been paid regularly since, making the annual rate 5 per cent. Recent reports indicate that earnings for 1923 will be larger than in 1922. The common stock deserves a good rating.

BY O. A. MATHER.

Chicagoans practiced both industry and thrift last year. Steady employment at good wages enabled them to live well, and at the same time lay up a substantial "nest egg" for the future.

In fact, more than $71,000,000 was added to the savings accounts in Chicago banks despite the fact large amounts were invested in homes and property. In fact, the year brought an increase in combined commercial and savings deposits of more than $89,000,000.

These conditions are shown in reports of condition, as of Dec. 31, made by both national and state banks yesterday, in response to calls for statements issued by the controller of the currency and the Illinois state auditor.

Deposits Gain at Year-End.

Between Dec. 31, 1922, and Dec. 31, 1923, the consolidated statement for all Chicago banks shows, loans and discounts increased $79,795,000, total deposits increased $89,428,000, cash resources increased $22,536,000, and savings deposits increased $71,088,000. For the national banks, loans increased $[illegible],000; total deposits, $45,553,000; cash resources, $18,368,000, and savings deposits, $8,562,000. For the state banks, loans increased $42,867,000; total deposits, $43,876,000; cash resources, $4,168,000, and savings deposits, $62,526,000.

The latter part of the year was marked particularly by an increase in deposits. Between Sept. 14 and Dec. 31, taking all Chicago banks together, total deposits increased $99,712,000 and savings deposits increased $37,415,000.

The merger of the Stockyards Savings bank with the Live Stock Exchange National bank will be completed on Feb. 5, and the two institutions will be housed under one roof, but will maintain their separate entities.

At today's annual election of the Illinois Merchants Trust company Ernest A. Hamill, president of the Corn Exchange National bank, will be elected chairman of the board of directors and Charles L. Hutchinson, vice president of the Corn Exchange, will become a vice president of the Illinois Merchants.

Union Trust Earns 16.7 Per Cent.

Net earnings for 1923 were reported by the following banks: Union Trust, $534,000, or 41.7 per cent on capital stock and 16.7 per cent on capital employed; Peoples Trust and Savings, $190,180, or 19.01 per cent on capital stock and 11.5 on invested capital; Standard Trust and Savings, $142,251, or 14.2 per cent on capital.

With completion of the year-end settlement period, an easing in the demand for credit is shown in the weekly report of the federal reserve system. The consolidated statement of the twelve reserve banks shows loans declined $59,[illegible], bills bought increased $10,770,000, total bills decreased $48,498,000, government securities increased $22,485,000, and earning assets receded $26,013,000. Gold and total reserves expanded $12,[illegible] and $34,354,000, respectively.

Total deposits expanded $112,884,000, with member bank reserve credits increasing $[illegible],000 and government deposits rising $13,[illegible],000. Note circulation dropped $95,145,000. The ratio of reserve to liabilities was 72.8, compared with [illegible] per cent in the preceding week.

Class 1 Railroads Earn 4.68% in November

Washington, D. C., Jan. 3.—Earnings of [illegible] class 1 railroads, comprising [illegible] 90 per cent of the country's rail[illegible] mileage, during November were at the rate of 4.68 per cent on their [illegible]tive valuation, as fixed by the interstate commerce commission for rate making purposes, according to calculations announced today by the bureau of railway economics. This rate, which represents a net operating income of $[illegible],516,000, is a slight increase from the 4.62 per cent rate for the same month last year, while it shows a slight decline from last October's earnings of 4.79 per cent.

LOANS—PERSONAL PROPERTY.

Loans $10 to $300

If you own furniture, a piano, or other personal property you can borrow $10 to $300 of us quickly and confidentially on easy terms and at legal rates. We also make "character loans" to responsible men and women having steady employment. You don't need to have a finely furnished home or a big salary to get a loan of us. We make no inquiries of friends, relatives, or employer. Loans can usually be arranged in a few hours. You can save time by bringing your credentials with you such as receipts, references or other identification. No red tape. 40 years in business is our reference for reliability.

Chicago Mortgage Loan Co.,
22 W. Monroe-st. Room 906 Majestic Bldg.

See Us Before Borrowing $10 to $300

The Fidelity Loan Co. is operated under the Supervision of the State of Illinois, and provides a place where honest people without bank credit can borrow any amount from $10 to $300 without paying more than the legal interest and without having their employers, friends or tradespeople know. NO OUTSIDE INQUIRIES. NO ENDORSERS. You can get the money in a few hours and repay it in monthly payments to suit your convenience. You pay only for the time you keep the money. It is only necessary that you are keeping house.

Salesmen, Solicitors, Etc.

SALESMEN.

We will engage five dignified, able men who can present an exceptionally meritorious proposition to better class families desiring their own homes on the North Shore.

We will consider applications from experienced and successful telephone salesmen who may have had no experience in real estate or subdivision selling but who, with a little help, might develop into men as good as those now with us, many earning in excess of $10,000 annually. We will pay a fair salary through a trial period, a liberal commission, and offer a real chance to grow to the right kind of men. We keep our organization limited in size, so that each man gets the fullest co-operation possible in the matter of qualified leads and sales manager's help in closing sales. Our men stay with us, and only those who can fit in with the general spirit of our organization and our method of doing business will be accepted.

Call personally at 10 S. La Salle-st., Room 1020.

SALESMEN.

THE GREATEST YEAR OF CADILLAC'S USED CAR DEPARTMENT

Over 1,500 Good Used Cars were delivered to satisfied individual purchasers during 1923 by Cadillac's Used Car Department.

This is an increase of more than 50 per cent over 1922.

Several considerations of paramount importance induced these careful buyers to make their selection from Cadillac's Used Car Stock.

1. The price—honest and fair, based upon the value of the merchandise.

2. Acquaintance with Cadillac's service facilities and ability to condition used cars properly.

3. Confidence that they could be sure that the merchandise would prove to be exactly as represented.

AN INCREASE IN BUSINESS OF 62%.

The sale and delivery of Good Used Cars by Cadillac's Used Car Department during 1923 represented an increase over 1922 of 62.2 per cent.

Such an increase is convincing proof that the Cadillac policy of merchandising its used cars at prices based on quality and honest valuation has found favor with Chicago's used car buyers.

We invite you to visit our Used Car Salesroom and to inspect our Service Shops. We shall be glad to show you what we have whether or not you are desirous at this time of buying a Good Used Car.

PACKARD
AT MAIN STORE.

Packard Twin Six, 4 pass. Special Coupe. Special custom built Judkins body. This is really one of the smartest appearing and most beautiful coupes ever turned in to us. The paint still retains that new car luster and the motor is perfect. The interior is beautifully appointed and equipped with a finely tailored set of seat covers. This car has full equipment and excellent cord tires. Price $1,700.

Paige 6-66, 1921 7-pass. Sedan. Here is a car that gives that beautiful new car appearance and is just as flawless mechanically. The interior is beautifully upholstered in brown velour. Equipment includes 5 very good cord tires, automatic windshield cleaner, bumper, motometer, etc. It would be difficult to duplicate this car within several hundred dollars of our price. $1,200.

Cadillac Model 59, 7-pass. Tour. It is impossible to describe the perfect running condition, or the easy riding qualities and operation of this car without an inspection and a demonstration. The leather upholstery has been well protected with seat covers, and the top and 5 cord tires are in excellent condition. This is a real bargain at $1,150.

Chandler 1921 7-pass. tour. car. This car is in fine mechanical condition, ready for the street and many thousands of miles of real service. The paint is good, it has 5 cord tires and full equipment. Do not misjudge this car by the low price, but come down and inspect it. $350.

Ford Coupe, 1921. A fine running closed car for this cold weather driving. The appearance is good, and it is equipped with large wheel lock, 5 cord tires, Ford equipment, etc. Price $290.
